Anthropological Analysis Of Chinese Geom:

The Early Modern Human from Tianyuan Cave, China Hong Shang, 2010 For more than a century scientists have returned time and again to the issue of modern human emergence the when and where of the evolutionary process and the human behavioral and biological dynamics involved The 2003 discovery of a human partial skeleton at Tianyuandong Tianyuan Cave excited worldwide interest The first human skeleton from the region to be directly radiocarbon dated to 40 000 years before present its geological age places it close to the time period during which modern humans became permanently established across the Old World between 50 000 and 35 000 years ago Through detailed description and interpretation of the most complete early modern human skeleton from eastern Asia The Early Modern Human from Tianyuan Cave China addresses long term questions about the ancestry of modern humans in eastern Asia and the nature of the changes in human behavior with the emergence of modern human biology This book is a detailed paleontological and paleobiological presentation of this skeleton its context and its implications By providing basic information for this important human fossil offering inferences concerning the population processes involved in modern human emergence in eastern Eurasia and by raising questions concerning the adaptations of these early modern human hunter gatherers The Early Modern Human from Tianyuan Cave China will take its place as a core contribution to the study of modern human emergence

Mapping Chengde Philippe Foret, 2000-06-01 The imperial residence of Chengde was built by two powerful and ambitious Manchu emperors between 1703 and 1780 in the mountains of Jehol This volume the first scholarly publication in English on the Manchu summer capital reveals how this unlikely architectural and landscape enterprise came to help forge a dynasty's multicultural identity and concretize its claims of political legitimacy Using both visual and textual materials the author explores the hidden dimensions of landscape showing how geographical imagination shaped the aesthetics of Qing court culture while proposing a new interpretation of the mental universe that conceived one of the world's most remarkable examples of imperial architecture

Chinese Lineage and Society Maurice Freedman, 2021-01-07 This book takes the argument first set out in Lineage Organization in South Eastern China a step further It incorporates some of Professor Freedman's field data gathered in the Hong Kong New Territories in 1963 and draws on a wide variety of written sources As in his first book on the subject the author seeks to analyse certain crucial institutions of Chinese society within the framework of contemporary anthropological theory

Comparative Essays in Early Greek and Chinese Rational Thinking Jean-Paul Reding, 2017-03-02 This collection of essays by Reding in the emergent field of Sino Hellenic studies explores the neglected inchoative strains of rational thought in ancient China and compares them to similar themes in ancient Greek thought right at the beginnings of philosophy in both cultures Reding develops and defends the bold hypothesis that Greek and Chinese rational thinking are one and the same phenomenon Rather than stressing the extreme differences between these two cultures as most other writings on these subjects Reding looks for the parameters that have to be restored to see the similarities Reding maintains that philosophy is like an unknown continent discovered simultaneously in both China and Greece but from different starting points The book comprises seven essays moving thematically from conceptual analysis logic and categories to epistemology and ontology with an incursion in the field of comparative metaphorology One of the book's main concerns is a systematic examination of the problem of linguistic relativism through many detailed examples

The Dragons of Tiananmen Jeffrey F. Meyer, 1991 The Dragons of Tiananmen is a contribution to scholarship in the field of Chinese studies and the history of religions and should appeal to a large audience in related fields of interest It focuses on the symbolic meaning and religious significance of Beijing The works of Lewis Mumford and Paul Wheatley have awakened scholars to the great importance for the more spiritual and symbolic aspects of traditional city building factors which go beyond the functional technical and utilitarian But until now there has been no full study of Beijing which is the most recent and most accessible example of the kind of religious cosmic planning traditions This book will illuminate the religious dimensions of one of the world's great cities describing the city's meaning to both the upper classes and the ordinary people of Beijing through an analysis of their myths and legends
