Anthropology And The Will To Meaning A Postcolonial Critique:

Anthropology and the Will to Meaning Vassos Argyrou, 2002-05-20 Anthropology the study of societies and cultures different to our own is based on the humanist assumption that difference does not mean otherness and inferiority In this book Vassos Argyrou puts forward a powerful critique of both modern and postmodern anthropology that reveals the self centred logic of anthropological humanism offering the controversial conclusion that the anthropological project is forever doomed to failure At the heart of the book is the idea that anthropologists are driven to produce knowledge not by a desire for power as it is often assumed but a by desire for meaning Interpretation of Othered societies and cultures allows them to construct an image of a symbolically unified ethically ordered and hence meaningful world Vassos Argyrou shows this assumption to be untenable because differentiation and distinction are in the nature of human being He further argues that paradoxically by trying to uphold Sameness anthropologists reproduce inadvertently but inevitably its contrary

Tertullian the African David E. Wilhite, 2011-06-24 Who was Tertullian and what can we know about him This work explores his social identities focusing on his North African milieu Theories from the discipline of social cultural anthropology including kinship class and ethnicity are accommodated and applied to selections of Tertullian s writings In light of postcolonial concerns this study utilizes the categories of Roman colonizers indigenous Africans and new elites The third category new elites is actually intended to destabilize the other two denying any essential Roman or African identity Thereafter samples from Tertullian s writings serve to illustrate comparisons of his own identities and the identities of his rhetorical opponents The overall study finds Tertullian s identities to be manifold complex and discursive Additionally his writings are understood to reflect antagonism toward Romans including Christian Romans which is significant for his so called Montanism and Romanized Africans While Tertullian accommodates much from Graeco Roman literature laws and customs he nevertheless retains a strongly stated non Roman ness and an African ity which is highlighted in the present monograph

The Logic of Environmentalism Vassos Argyrou, 2005 Although modernity s understanding of nature and culture has now been superseded by that of environmentalism the power to define the meaning of both and hence the meaning of the world itself remains in the same Western hands This bold argument is at the center of this provocative book that challenges the widespread assumption that environmentalism reflects a radical departure from modernity Our perception of nature may have changed the author maintains but environmentalism remains a thoroughly modernist project It reproduces the cultural logic of modernity a logic that finds meaning in unity and therefore strives to efface difference and to reconfirm the position of the West as the source of all legitimate signification The Routledge Companion to Ethics, Politics and Organizations Alison Pullen, Carl Rhodes, 2015-06-05 The Routledge Companion to Ethics Politics and Organizations synthesizes and extends existing research on ethics in organizations by explicitly focusing on ethico politics where ethics informs political action It draws connections between ethics and politics in and around organizations and the workplace examines cutting edge areas and sets the scene for future research Through a wealth of international and multidisciplinary contributions this volume considers the broad range of ways in which ethics and politics can be conceived and understood The chapters look at various ethical traditions as well as the discursive deployment of ethical terminology in organizational settings and they also examine large scale political structures and processes and how they relate to different forms of politics which affect behaviour in organizations These many possibilities are united by a focus on how ethics can be used to inform and justify the exercise of power in organizations This collection will be a valuable reference source for students and researchers across the disciplines of organizational studies ethics and politics Radcliffe-Brown Isak Niehaus, 2024-11-01 Alfred Radcliffe Brown 1881 1995 is widely renowned as a founder of modern social anthropology This biography challenges popular stereotypes of him as a misplaced positivist and colonial conservative It shows Radcliffe Brown to be a thoroughly cosmopolitan scholar a committed fieldworker and a sharp critic of colonialism Radcliffe Brown engaged strategically with colonial authorities to further the interests of his discipline and invoked scientific credentials to critique central aspects of colonial rule His struggle for intellectual autonomy and advocacy of a comparative sociological approach speaks to many contemporary concerns

Anthropology, Art and Cultural Production Maruska Svasek, 2007-02-20 This book provides an introduction to anthropological perspectives on art Svasek defines art as a social process We study not only the artefacts themselves and the values attributed to them but also the process of production and its wider context Providing a critical overview of various anthropological theories of art Svasek offers a new perspective which centres on the analysis of commoditisation aestheticisation and object agency She explores the process of collecting and exhibiting art works and how this relates to art s production distribution and consumption in an increasingly global market The book outlines the significance of art and aesthetics in everyday life and examines the shifting boundaries between art and other categories such as kitsch souvenirs propaganda and pornography Finally Svasek argues for an anthropological perspective that links the production and consumption of artefacts to political religious and other cultural processes Ideal as a teaching text this book gives a detailed overview of themes that are central to the fields of art history art sociology and cultural studies Toward Engaged Anthropology Sam Beck, Carl A. Maida, 2013-07-01 By working with underserved communities anthropologists may play a larger role in democratizing society The growth of disparities challenges anthropology to be used for social justice This engaged stance moves the application of anthropological theory methods and practice toward action and activism However this engagement also moves anthropologists away from traditional roles of observation toward participatory roles that become increasingly involved with those communities or social groupings being studied The chapters in this book suggest the roles anthropologists are able to play to bring us closer to a public anthropology characterized as engagement

Anthropology of the Self Brian Morris, 1994-09-20 Western society is individualised we feel at ease talking about individuals and we study individual behaviour through psychology and psychoanalysis Yet anthropology teaches us that an individual approach is only one of many ways of looking at ourselves In this wide ranging text Morris explores the origins doctrines and conceptions of the self in Western Asian and African societies passing through Greek philosophy Buddhism Hinduism Confucism Tao and African philosophy and ending with contemporary feminism Scholarly and written in a lucid style free of jargon this work is written from an anthropological perspective with an interdisciplinary approach Morris emphasises the varying conceptions of the self found cross culturally and contrasts these with the conceptions found in the Western intellectual traditions New Directions in Economic Anthropology Susana Narotzky, 1997-04-20 Using an historical perspective Narotzky highlights the interdependent nature of the contemporary world economy and includes case studies of Western societies She gives special emphasis to current issues such as the anthropology of work the informal economy and the cultures of industrialisation When Greeks think about Turks Dimitrios Theodossopoulos, 2013-09-13 Drawing upon anthropological studies that document culturally specific ways of perceiving ethnic Others in Greece and Cyprus this book explores the cultural boundaries of the categories Greek and Turk and compares views on what it means to be one of these ethnic groups or both The contributors examine the opinions of diverse social groups such as ordinary middle class citizens intellectuals army officers children villagers refugees from Asia Minor and Greek and Turkish Cypriots They also investigate the local attitudes to international politics and highlight the contextual as opposed to immutable and essentialist meaning of evaluations about nations such as Greece Turkey and Cyprus and their citizens When Greeks think about Turks carefully unpacks the cultural meaning of popular metaphors stereotypes and versions of history as these are articulated in the context of discussions about the Turks in Greece It sets the template for understanding how local perceptions of resemblance and difference provide a conceptual framework for defining and negotiating ethnic identity at the local national and international level It sheds valuable light on the politics of identity making and the constitution of nationalism in Greece and Cyprus This book was previously published as a special issue of South European Society and Politics The Sociology of Translation and the Politics of Sustainability John Ødemark, Åmund Norum Resløyken, Ida Lillehagen, Eivind

Engelbrechtsen, 2024-01-24 This book uses sustainability to explore the interfaces between translation studies the cultural history of knowledge and Science and Technology studies STS The volume examines various material cultural and epistemic translation practices where sustainability serves as a boundary object between natural and cultural inquiry By turning to the intellectual traditions that influenced but were left behind by STS and actor network theory ANT we aim to challenge and expand the Sociology of Translation developed in ANT Concepts such as inscription Derrida actant narrative Greimas and world worlding Heidegger Spivak were reemployed translated in the canonical STS texts What networks of meaning were left behind in this reemployment The book showcases a combination of cultural and knowledge historical perspectives on the construction of the Sociology of Translation and practical experiments across the registers of nature and culture is novel There have been brilliant individual attempts to realign the Sociology of Translation with narratives and modes of enunciation but none has related the Sociology of Translation to the networks and traditions which enabled it but to which it erased its relations and debts This innovative work will appeal to scholars in translation studies cultural studies environmental humanities medical humanities and Science and Technology studies The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Transcultural English Studies Frank Schulze-Engler, Sissy Helff, 2009 What is most strikingly new about the transcultural is its sudden ubiquity Following in the wake of previous concepts in cultural and literary studies such as creolization hybridity and syncretism and signalling a family relationship to terms such as transnationality translocality and transmigration transcultural terminology has unobtrusively but powerfully edged its way into contemporary theoretical and critical discourse The four sections of this volume denote major areas where transcultural questions and problematics have come to the fore theories of culture and literature that have sought to account for the complexity of culture in a world increasingly characterized by globalization transnationalization and interdependence realities of individual and collective life worlds shaped by the ubiquity of phenomena and experiences relating to transnational connections and the blurring of cultural boundaries fictions in literature and other media that explore these realities negotiate the fuzzy edges of ethnic or national cultures and participate in the creation of transnational public spheres as well as transcultural imaginations and memories and finally pedagogy and didactics where earlier models of teaching other cultures are faced with the challenge of coming to terms with cultural complexity both in what is being taught and in the people it is taught to and where target cultures have become elusive The idea of locating culture and literature exclusively in the context of ethnicities or nations is rapidly losing plausibility throughout an English speaking world that has long since been multi rather than monolingual Exploring the prospects and contours of Transcultural English Studies thus reflects a set of common challenges and predicaments that in recent years have increasingly moved centre stage not only in the New Literatures in English but also in British and American studies

The Ontological Turn Martin Holbraad, Morten

Axel Pedersen,2017-03-23 This book provides the first systematic presentation of anthropology's ontological turn placing it in the landscape of contemporary social theory United in Discontent Julia Suzanne Torrie,2010 The early twentieth century advent of aerial bombing made successful evacuations essential to any war effort but ordinary people resented them deeply Based on extensive archival research in Germany and France this is the first broad comparative study of civilian evacuations in Germany and France during World War II The evidence uncovered exposes the complexities of an assumed monolithic and all powerful Nazi state by showing that citizens' objections to evacuations which were rooted in family concerns forced changes in policy Drawing attention to the interaction between the Germans and French throughout World War II this book shows how policies in each country were shaped by events in the other A truly cross national comparison in a field dominated by accounts of one country or the other this book provides a unique historical context for addressing current concerns about the impact of air raids and military occupations on civilians Page 4 of cover Ethnicity and Nationalism Thomas Hylland Eriksen,2002-07-20 New expanded edition of a classic anthropology title that examines ethnicity as a dynamic and shifting aspect of social relations The Trouble with Community Vered Amit,Nigel Rapport,2002-08-20 Community is one of social science's longest standing concepts The assumption of much social science has been that humans belong in communities as social and cultural beings The trouble with community is that this is not necessarily so the personal social networks of individuals' actual experience crosscut collective categories situations and institutions Communities can prove unviable or imprisoning the reality of community life and identity can often be very different from the ideology and the ideal In this book the authors draw on their ethnographic experiences to reappraise the concept and the reality of community in the light of globalisation religious fundamentalism identity politics and renascent localisms How might anthropology better apprehend social identities which are intrinsically plural transgressive and ironic What has anthropology to say about the way in which civil society might hope to accommodate the ongoing construction and the rightful expression of such migrant identities

Bearing Witness Fiona C. Ross,2002-12-20 People who witness acts of terror and violence are often called after the event to bear witness to what they saw In cases where this violence is inflicted by the state upon its own people the process of bearing witness is both politically complex and traumatic for the individual involved Independent trials and commissions have become important mechanisms through which the truth of past violence is sought in democratising states but to date there has been little close attention to the processes and complexity of the work of such institutions Fiona Ross's fascinating study of the process of bearing witness is the first book to examine the gendered dimensions of this topic from an anthropological and ethnographic viewpoint Taking as a key example the Truth and Reconciliation Commission in South Africa Ross explores women's relationships to testimony particularly the extent to which women avoid talking about or are silent about certain forms of violence and suffering Offering a wealth of first hand examples Ross approaches a more subtle understanding of the achievements and the limitations of testimony as a measure of suffering and recovery generally Is it she asks the panacea it is usually seen as Or do conventional discourses on human rights suffering and reconciliation oversimplify an altogether more complex and problematic process The Gift of European Thought and the Cost of Living Vassos Argyrou, 2013-09-01 European thought is often said to be a gift to the rest of the world but what if there is no gift as such What if there is only an economy where every giving is also a taking and every taking is also a giving This book extends the question of economies by making a case for an economy of thought and a political economy It argues that all thinking and doing presupposes taking and therefore giving as the price to pay for taking or that there exists a cost of living which renders the idea of free thinking and living untenable The argument is developed against the Enlightenment directive to think for oneself as the means of becoming autonomous and shows that this light given to the rest of the world as a gift turns out to be nothing Corruption Dieter Haller, Cris Shore, 2005-05-20 Corruption in politics and business is after war perhaps the greatest threat to democracy Academic studies of corruption tend to come from the field of International Relations analysing systems of formal rules and institutions This book offers a radically different perspective it shows how anthropology can throw light on aspects of corruption that remain unexamined in international relations The contributors reveal how corruption operates through informal rules personal connections and the wider social contexts that govern everyday practices They argue that patterns of corruption are part of the fabric of everyday life wherever we live and subsequently they are often endemic in our key institutions The book examines corruption across a range of different contexts from transitional societies such as post Soviet Russia and Romania to efforts to reform or regulate institutions that are perceived to be potentially corrupt such as the European Commission The book also covers the Enron and WorldCom scandals the mafia in Sicily and the USA and the world of anti corruption as represented by NGOs like Transparency International
