Anthropology Text Only:

The Anthropology of Texts, Persons and Publics Karin Barber, 2007-12-20 What can texts both written and oral tell us about the societies that produce them How are texts constituted in different cultures and how do they shape societies and individuals How can we understand the people who compose them Drawing on examples from Africa and other countries this original study sets out to answer these questions by exploring textuality from a variety of angles Topics covered include the importance of genre the ways in which oral genres transcend the here and now and the complex relationship between texts and the material world Barber considers the ways in which personhood is evoked both in oral poetry and in written diaries and letters discusses the audience's role in creating the meaning of texts and shows textual creativity to be a universal human capacity expressed in myriad forms Engaging and thought provoking this book will be welcomed by anyone interested in anthropology literature and cultural studies Histories of Anthropology Annual Regna Darnell, Frederic Wright

Gleach, 2007-01-01 Histories of Anthropology Annual presents diverse perspectives on the discipline's history within a global context Critical comparative analytical and narrative studies involving all aspects and subfields of anthropology are included Volume 3 features critical and biographical studies of Sir Richard Burton Frank Hamilton Cushing J N B Hewitt Stephen Leacock Ant nor Firmin and Leslie A White Analytical topics include applied and collaborative anthropologies Edward Sapir's phonemic poetics mercantile proto capitalism the Delaware Big House ceremony and race and racism in anthropology

Public Anthropology Edward J. Hecican, 2016-03-02 Contemporary anthropology has changed drastically in the new millennium expanding beyond the anachronistic study of primitive societies to confront the burning social economic and political challenges of the day In the process anthropologists often come face to face with issues that require them to take a public position issues such as race and tolerance health and well being food security reconciliation and public justice global terror and militarism and digital media This comprehensive but accessible book is both an interesting read and an excellent overview of public anthropology In depth case studies offer an opportunity to evaluate the pros and cons of engaging with public issues while profiles of select anthropologists ensure the book is contemporary but rooted in the history of the discipline Threatening Anthropology David H. Price, 2004-04-20 An archival history of governmental investigations of anthropologists in the 1950s based on over 20 000 pages of documents obtained by the author under the Freedom of Information Act

The Anthropology of Experience Victor Witter Turner, Edward M. Bruner, 1986 Fourteen authors including many of the best known scholars in the field explore how people actually experience their culture and how those experiences are expressed in forms as varied as narrative literary work theater carnival ritual reminiscence and life review Their studies will be of special interest for anyone working in anthropological theory symbolic anthropology and contemporary social and cultural anthropology and useful as well for other social scientists folklorists literary theorists and philosophers Quantum Anthropology Radek Trnka, Radmila Lorencova, 2016-10-03 The book offers a fresh look on man cultures and societies built on the current advances in the fields of quantum mechanics quantum philosophy and quantum consciousness The authors have developed an inspiring theoretical framework transcending the boundaries of particular disciplines in social sciences and the humanities Quantum anthropology is a perspective studying man culture and humanity while taking into account the quantum nature of our reality This framework redefines current anthropological theory in a new light and provides an interdisciplinary overlap reaching to psychology sociology and consciousness studies Contents 1 Introduction Why Quantum Anthropology 2 Empirical and Nonempirical Reality 3 Appearance Frames Intra Acting Agencies and Observer Effect 4 Emergence of Man and Culture 5 Fields Groups Cultures and Social Complexity 6 Man as Embodiment 7 Collective Consciousness and Collective Unconscious in Anthropology 8 Life Trajectories of Man Cultures and Societies 9 Death and Final Collapses of Cultures and Societies 10 Language Collapse of Wave Function and Deconstruction 11 Myth and Entanglement 12 Ritual Observer Effect and Collective Consciousness 13 Conclusions and Future Directions

Appetites and Identities Sara Delamont,2002-09-11 This book offers a clear inviting and fascinating introduction to the social anthropology of Western Europe illustrating the rich diversity of dialects cultures and everyday lives of its peoples

Disciplinary and Dissent in Cultural Studies Cary Nelson,Dilip Gaonkar,2013-10-28 First published in 1996 As recently as the early 1990s people wondered what was the future of cultural studies in the United States and what effects its increasing internationalization might have What type of projects would cultural studies inspire people to undertake Would established disciplines welcome its presence and adapt their practices accordingly Disciplinary and Dissent in Cultural Studies answers such questions It is now clear that while striking and innovative work is underway in many different fields most disciplinary organizations and structures have been very resistant to cultural studies Meanwhile cultural studies has been subjected to repeated attacks by conservative journalists and commentators in the public sphere Cultural studies scholars have responded not only by mounting focused critiques of the politics of knowledge but also by embracing ambitious projects of social political and cultural commentary by transgressing all the official boundaries of knowledge in a broad quest for cultural understanding This book tracks these debates and maps future strategies for cultural studies in academia and public life The contributors to Disciplinary and Dissent in Cultural Studies include established scholars and new voices. In a series of polemic and exploratory essays written especially for this book they track the struggle with cultural studies in disciplines like anthropology literature and history and between cultural studies and very different domains like Native American culture and the culture of science. Contributors include Arjun Appadurai Michael Denning Lawrence Grossberg Cary Nelson Constance Penley Andrew Ross and Lynn Spigel.

An Analysis of Franz Boas's Race, Language and Culture Anna Seiferle-Valencia, 2017-07-05 Born in 1858 Franz Boas permanently changed the standards and practices of anthropology. His 1940 work Race Language and Culture brings together a half century's worth of ground breaking scholarship in one volume.

In Search of the Sacred Clinton Bennett, 1996-01-01 This text traces the growth and development of two related disciplines: anthropology and the study of religions. Locating these disciplines within the intellectual climate of the 19th century, the study considers the contributions of scholars such as James George Frazer F. Max Müller Emile Durkheim Mary Douglas and Clifford Geertz within an historical framework. The author argues that both anthropologists and students of religion have abandoned an objective approach in favour of personal engagement with their subjects, replacing observation with conversation, monologue with dialogue, a text based with people based approach. He reveals how each discipline has influenced the other both in terms of methodology and by the provision of data. The book also explores the criticism levelled at both disciplines that they have aided colonial domination of the developing world.

Rethinking Objectivity Allan Megill, 1994 Although objectivity is a term used widely in many areas of public discourse from discussions concerning the media and politics to debates over political correctness and cultural literacy, the question 'What is objectivity?' is often ignored as if the answer were obvious. In this volume Allan Megill has gathered essays from fourteen leading scholars in a variety of fields: history anthropology philosophy psychology history of science sociology of science feminist studies literary studies and accounting to gain critical understanding of the idea of objectivity as it functions in today's world. In diverse essays the authors provide fascinating studies of objectivity in such areas as anthropological research corporate and governmental bureaucracies legal discourse photography and the study and practice of the natural sciences. Taken together Megill argues this volume calls for developing a notion of objectivities. The absolute sense of objectivity that is objectivity as a God's eye view must be supplemented and in part supplanted by disciplinary procedural and dialectical senses of objectivity This book will be of great interest to a broad range of scholars as it presents current thinking on a topic of fundamental concern across the disciplines in the humanities and social sciences Contributors Barry Barnes Dagmar Barnouw Lorraine Code Lorraine Daston Johannes Fabian Kenneth J Gergen Mary E Hawkesworth Barbara Herrnstein Smith Evelyn Fox Keller George Levine Allan Megill Peter Miller Andy Pickering Theodore M Porter Farewell Address, Delivered at the Fourth Anniversary of the Anthropological Society of London, January 1st, 1867. Nathaniel Gates,2014-05-01 Explores the concept of race The term race which originally denoted genealogical or class identity has in the comparatively brief span of 300 years taken on an entirely new meaning In the wake of the Enlightenment it came to be applied to social groups This ideological transformation coupled with a dogmatic insistence that the groups so designated were natural and not socially created gave birth to the modern notion of races as genetically distinct entities The results of this view were the encoding of race and racial hierarchies in law literature and culture How racial categories facilitate social control The articles in the series demonstrate that the classification of humans according to selected physical characteristics was an arbitrary decision that was not based on valid scientific method They also examine the impact of colonialism on the propagation of the concept and note that racial categorization is a powerful social force that is often used to promote the interests of dominant social groups Finally the collection surveys how laws based on race have been enacted around the world to deny power to minority groups A multidisciplinary resource This collection of outstanding articles brings multiple perspectives to bear on race theory and draws on a wider range of periodicals than even the largest library usually holds Even if all the articles were available on campus chances are that a student would have to track them down in several libraries and microfilm collections Providing of course that no journals were reserved for graduate students out for binding or simply missing This convenient set saves students substantial time and effort by making available all the key articles in one reliable source Authoritative commentary The series editor has put together a balanced selection of the most significant works accompanied by expert commentary A general introduction gives important background information and outlines fundamental issues current scholarship and scholarly controversies Introductions to individual volumes put the articles in context and draw attention to germinal ideas and major shifts in the field After reading the material even a beginning student will have an excellent grasp of the basics of the subject A Companion to Folklore Regina F. Bendix, Galit

Hasan-Rokem, 2014-08-25 A Companion to Folklore contains an original and comprehensive set of essays from international experts in the field of folklore studies This state of the art collection uniquely displays the vitality of folklore research across the globe The Companion covers four main areas the first section engages with the practices and theoretical approaches developed to understand the phenomena of folklore the second discusses the distinctive shapes that folklore studies have taken in different locations in time and space the third examines the interaction of folklore with various media as well as folklore's commoditization In the final section on practice essays offer insights into how folklorists work what they do and ways in which they have institutionalized their field Throughout contributors investigate the interplay of folklore and folkloristics in both academic and political arenas they evaluate key issues in the folk life of communities from around the world including China post communist Russia post colonial India South America Israel and Japan The result is a unique reflection and understanding of the profoundly different research histories and current perspectives on international research in the field
