

ANTI-DUMPING AND COUNTERVALUING MEASURES AND DEVELOPING COUNTRIES: RECENT DEVELOPMENT

by

Adamu A. Pam*

Introduction

Antidumping (AD) and Countervailing (CV) measures have become popular substitutes for traditional trade barriers, which are gradually being reduced in the course of regional and multi lateral trade liberalization. Designed as a corrective mechanism, antidumping has been hijacked for protectionist purposes. Gradually replacing the conventional tariff- based trade barriers, the advancement of these practices jeopardizes the benefits of tariff reduction and growing economic integration.¹ Developing countries establish their position as new players on the AD and CV field, but also continue to be the main target for those practices.

The paper analyses the WTO Agreements and finds that many of the negative effects of AD and CV measures are not adequately addressed. Loopholes and ambiguities in their provisions open doors for practices constituting abuse rather than use of those instruments. Reforms of the Agreements are urgently required. They should focus on clarifying certain provisions and on the Courts and Jurisdictions into Perspective Dário Moura Vicente, 2016-04-08 The recent proliferation of international courts and jurisdictions raises a number of important issues ranging from the redefinition of the role of the International Court of Justice to the recent emergence of domestic courts as international jurisdictions Towards a Universal Justice Putting International Courts and Jurisdictions into Perspective containing edited articles presented at the International Law Association's Regional Conference held in Lisbon offers a comprehensive overview of those issues and outlines challenges ahead for every branch of international law

A Concise Guide to the EU Anti-dumping/anti-subsidies Procedures Themistoklis K. Giannakopoulos, 2006-01-01 Unfair trading practices such as dumping and the granting of subsidies have long been identified as threats to open markets Yet despite decades of international trading rules global markets are still jeopardized by practices which can cause material injury to industries and put employment at risk The European Union has been a leader in its determination to ensure that its industries are not disadvantaged by such practices that Community interests are defended and that fair competition is restored where needed The basic texts which form the legal basis of anti dumping and anti subsidy investigations in the Community entered into force in 1996 and 1997 The procedures developed in these texts as amended and in their corresponding regulations are the subject of this extremely helpful guide Practitioners who must follow these often complex procedures will find precise guidelines for the substantive determinations that must be made such as calculating the material injury determining the cause of injury and applying the Community interest test and then be able to move confidently through every procedural step including the following Initial complaint Questionnaires Confrontation meetings and oral hearings Investigations by Commission official Offer and acceptance rejection of undertaking Commenting on the Commission's provisional decision Requesting review of measures and refunds and Judicial review Throughout the presentation the author describes relevant cases and actual measures taken Tables of cases and measures as well as a bibliography are included Business people and their counsel whether engaged in trade within the EU or between any country and an EU Member State will benefit enormously from the detailed guidance offered in this incomparable volume The book will also be invaluable to academics and policymakers as an unclouded analysis of anti dumping anti subsidies procedures under EC law
