Ackerman, 2024-03-19 Twelve studies by eminent art historian James S Ackerman This collection contains studies written by art historian James Ackerman over the past decade Whereas Ackerman s earlier work assumed a development of the arts as they responded to social economic political and cultural change his recent work reflects the poststructural critique of the presumption of progress that characterized Renaissance and modernist history and criticism In this book he explores the tension between the authority of the past which may act not only as a restraint but as a challenge and stimulus and the potentially liberating gift of invention He examines the ways in which artists and writers on art have related to ancestors and to established modes of representation as well as to contemporary experiences The origins studied here include the earliest art history and criticism the beginnings of architectural drawing in the Middle Ages and Renaissance Leonardo Da Vinci s sketches for churches the first in the Renaissance to propose supporting domes on sculpted walls and piers and the first architectural photographs Imitation refers to artistic achievements that in part depended on the imitation of forms established in practices outside the fine arts such as ancient Roman rhetoric and print media Conventions like language facilitate communication between the artist and viewer but are both more universal understood across cultures and more fixed resisting variation that might diminish their clarity The three categories are closely linked throughout the book as most acts of representation partake to some degree of all three Reviving the Eternal City Elizabeth McCahill, 2013-10-14 In 1420 after more than one hundred years of the Avignon Exile and the Western Schism the papal court returned to Rome which had become depopulated dangerous and impoverished

in the papacy's absence Reviving the Eternal City examines the culture of Rome and the papal court during the first half of the fifteenth century As Elizabeth McCahill explains during these decades Rome and the Curia were caught between conflicting realities between the Middle Ages and the Renaissance between conciliarism and papalism between an image of Rome as a restored republic and a dream of the city as a papal capital Through the testimony of humanists' rhetorical texts and surviving archival materials McCahill reconstructs the niche that scholars carved for themselves as they penned vivid descriptions of Rome and offered remedies for contemporary social economic religious and political problems In addition to analyzing the humanists' intellectual and professional program McCahill investigates the different agendas that popes Martin V 1417-1431 and Eugenius IV 1431-1447 and their cardinals had for the post-Schism pontificate Reviving the Eternal City illuminates an urban environment in transition and explores the ways in which curialists collaborated and competed to develop Rome's ancient legacy into a potent cultural myth

Rome and The Guidebook Tradition Anna Blennow, Stefano Fogelberg Rota, 2019-04-01 To this day no comprehensive academic study of the development of guidebooks to Rome over time has been performed This book treats the history of guidebooks to Rome from the Middle Ages up to the early twentieth century It is based on the results of the interdisciplinary research project Topos and Topography led by Anna Blennow and Stefano Fogelberg Rota From the case studies performed within the project it becomes evident that the guidebook as a phenomenon was formed in Rome during the later Middle Ages and early Renaissance The elements and rhetorical strategies of guidebooks over time have shown to be surprisingly uniform with three important points of development a turn towards a more user friendly structure from the seventeenth century and onward the so called Baedeker effect in the mid nineteenth century and the introduction of a personalized guiding voice in the first half of the twentieth century Thus the guidebook tradition is an unusually consistent literary oeuvre which also forms a warranty for the authority of every new guidebook In this respect the guidebook tradition is intimately associated with the city of Rome with which it shares a constantly renovating yet eternally fixed nature

Describing the City, Describing the State Sandra Toffolo, 2020-07-15 In Describing the City Describing the State Sandra Toffolo presents a comprehensive analysis of descriptions of the city of Venice and the Venetian Terraferma in the Renaissance when the Venetian mainland state was being created Working with an extensive variety of descriptions the book demonstrates that no one narrative of Venice prevailed in the early modern European imagination and that authors continuously adapted geographical descriptions to changing political circumstances This in turn illustrates the importance of studying geographical representation and early modern state formation together Moreover it challenges the long standing concept of the myth of Venice by showing that Renaissance observers never saw the city of Venice and the Venetian Terraferma in a monolithic way
