Critical Issues in Anti-racist Research Methodologies George Jerry Sefa Dei, Gurpreet Singh Johal, 2005 Anti racism studies have blossomed over the years with scholarship and political work reinforcing each other to cement anti racist change But how do we understand anti racist research How is anti racist research methodology different from other methods of research investigation What are the principles of anti racism research This edited collection attempts to provide some answers by bringing together works that examine the perils and desires of anti racist research with a particular focus on the notion of difference and a serious consideration of the race gender class and sexuality intersections implications of educational research

Through White Noise Khalida Tanvir Syed, 2012-10-17 Through White Noise is structured around poetry and personal stories about living in liminal space that requires and encourages cultural sensitivity awareness and commitment for a just society A prominent theme in this book is the challenge of reconciling the ideal of Canadian multiculturalism with experiences of marginalization and stereotyping Before her arrival Khalida imagined her new homeland as a multicultural rainbow arched over a diversity of races beliefs and practices Entering Winnipeg in the middle of winter she was greeted with a white world white people white snow covered ground white trees and a pale blue sky Jon is a Caucasian professor from England who has a privileged position as an academic citizen He felt responsible for enhancing his students awareness of their perceptions and the role they have in their teaching practices Reena is a South Asian professor living in Quebec whose voice is combined with other educators as they address different racisms The book inspires readers to embrace teaching and learning relationships that respect the dynamic spaces we live in locally and globally Photo collage by Ray Dirks Director Mennonite Heritage Centre Gallery Winnipeg Doing Democracy Darren E. Lund, Paul R. Carr, 2008 In this provocative collection of essays with a distinctly critical and nuanced approach to how democracy is taught, learned, understood and lived, authors from four continents share their visions on how democracy needs to be cultivated, critiqued, demonstrated and manifested throughout the educational experience. The collective concern is how we actually do democracy in education. The essays argue that democracy must be infused in everything that happens at school: curriculum, extra-curricular activities, interaction with parents and communities, and through formal organization and structures. One of the book's central questions is: Are educators merely teaching students skills and knowledge to prepare them for the world of work, or is education more about encouraging students to thrive within a pluralistic society? This book reveals that democracy is an ethos, an ideology, a set of values, a philosophy, and a complex and dynamic terrain that is a contested forum for debate. From seasoned veterans to emerging scholars, these writers challenge the idea that there is only one type of democracy or that democracy is defined by elections. Using a range of theoretical, conceptual, and methodological approaches, each essay makes a compelling case for how education can advance a more critical engagement in democracy that promotes social justice and political literacy for all. Diverse examples illustrate the theme of doing democracy. With its numerous models for teaching and learning to encourage critical thinking and engagement, this book is certain to be an invaluable resource to educators, researchers, students, and anyone with a passion for democratic ideals.

Duoethnography Joe Norris, Richard D Sawyer, Darren Lund, 2016-09-16 Duoethnography is a collaborative research methodology in which two or more researchers juxtapose their life histories in order to provide multiple understandings of a social phenomenon. Using their own biographies as sites of research and creating dialogic narratives, they provide multiple perspectives of this phenomenon for the reader, inviting the viewer to enter the conversation. The dialectic process of creating duoethnography is also designed to be transformative to the writers. In this volume, two dozen scholars present the first wave of duoethnographic writings on topics as diverse as gender identity and curriculum, with the editors framing key tenets of the methodology around the studies presented. This participatory, emancipatory methodology is of interest to those doing qualitative research and narrative writing in many disciplines.

Researching Teaching John Loughran, 2002-11 The essays in this volume examine teachers' teaching practice, knowledge, and skill, and a range of methodologies are explained. The professional skills and knowledge that teachers need is explored.

Gender, Race, and the Politics of Role Modelling Wayne Martino, Goli Rezai-Rashti, 2012-03-12 This book provides an illuminating account of teachers' own reflections on their experiences of teaching in urban schools. It was conceived as a direct response to policy-related and media-generated concerns about male teacher shortage and offers a critique of the call for more male role models in elementary schools to address important issues regarding gender, race, and the politics of representation. By including the perspectives of minority teachers and students and by drawing on feminist, queer, and anti-racist frameworks, this book rejects the familiar tendency to resort to role modelling as a basis for explaining or addressing boys disaffection with schooling Indeed the authors argue on the basis of their research in urban schools in Canada and Australia that educational policy concerned with male teacher shortage and the plight of disadvantaged minority boys would benefit from engaging with analytic perspectives and empirical literature that takes readers beyond hegemonic discourses of role modelling A compelling case is presented for the need to disarticulate discourses about role modelling from a politics of representation that is committed to addressing the reality of the impact of racial and structural inequalities on both minority teachers and students participation in the education system The book also provides insight into the persistence of gender inequality as it relates to the status of elementary school teaching as women s work Teaching as Activism Peggy Tripp,Linda Muzzin,2005-09-27 Contributors include Elisabeth Abergel Glendon College Marianne Gosztanyi Ainley University of Northern British Columbia and University of Victoria Marie Battiste University of Saskatchewan Robin Cavanagh York University Vanaja Dhruvarajan University of Winnipeg Margrit Eichler Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto Leesa Fawcett York University Ursula M Franklin University of Toronto Monique Frize Carleton University and the University of Ottawa Moira Grant University of Ontario Institute of Technology Bob Jickling Lakehead University Ann Matthews Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto Alexandra McGregor York University Heather Menzies Carleton University Natasha S Myers Massachusetts Institute of Technology Njoki N Wane Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto and Barbara Waterfall Wilfrid Laurier University
