New Right, New Racism

Amy Elizabeth Ansell, 2016-07-27 New Right New Racism is a comparative analysis of the role of racialized symbols in the right turn of US and British politics in the late 1970s through to today. The author argues that the symbol of race has been central to the New Right's project to redefine the cultural codes and broader social imaginary upon which the consensus politics of the post-war years was built. In the process of mobilizing race as an ideological articulator of the exit from consensus politics, the New Right has promoted a new form of racism qualitatively distinct from more traditional forms.

It provides an up-to-date and critical introduction to current issues and major research findings in the field, exploring the teacher-pupil relationship through a detailed account of life in an inner-city comprehensive. It reveals the influence of different racist stereotypes and highlights the especially disadvantaged position of Afro-Caribbean pupils within a school. Features: Draws on a wide variety of research projects in ethnic schools to examine achievement, curriculum, content, language use, assessment, and testing under the National Curriculum. Uses material collected during two years of research to consider young people's school experiences and issues relating to classroom discipline.
