Albright, Julia W. Albright, 2003-06-16 The preparation of Aging Immunity and Infection has been a labor of love When we began there existed a huge literature but manageable we thought given our years of experience in the area often referred to as immunogerontology However in the time that we have been at work the new relevant literature has increased at a prodigious rate The more we read and tried to assimilate the farther we fell behind In order to have any hope of completing a book on this rapidly evolving topic we have been forced to become increasingly selective in covering new and recent publications We dare to hope that many readers will find the book useful and only a few will dwell on the inevitable inadequacies We consider the book a work in progress and welcome suggestions for future editions Five chapters cover several aspects of infection and the decline of immunity with age The first chapter Human Aging Present and Future is devoted to demographics and theories of senescence Chapter 2 outlines the gradual breakdown of resistance to infection in the aged individual Chapters 3 and 4 cover changes in innate and acquired immunity The final chapter Nutrition Longevity and Integrity of the Immune System discusses such provocative ideas as life span extension and nutritional intervention for the delay of immunosenescence Microbiology and Aging Steven L. Percival, 2008-12-11 This edited volume contains a collection of reviews that highlight the significance of and the crucial role that microorganisms play in the human life cycle and considers the microbiology of the host in different regions of the body during the aging process

The Annals of Pharmacotherapy, 1997 Infectious Disease in the Aging Thomas Yoshikawa, Dean Norman, 2000-08-18 Because aging is accompanied by a steady decline in resistance to infectious diseases the diagnosis and treatment of these diseases in the elderly is not only much more complex but also often quite different from that for younger patients In the second edition of Infectious Disease in the Aging A Clinical Handbook a panel of well known and highly experienced geriatric physicians and infectious disease experts review the most important common infections affecting the elderly and delineate their well proven diagnostic therapeutic and preventive techniques Among the illnesses discussed are urinary tract infections pneumonia ocular infections tuberculosis and fungal and viral infections In addition there are detailed discussions of sepsis infective endocarditis intraabdominal infections bacterial meningitis osteomyelitis and septic arthritis and prosthetic device infections Update on Hepatitis C Martina Smolic, Aleksandar Vcev, George Wu, 2017-10-04 In the past few years remarkable progress has been made in our understanding of HCV biology pathogenesis of infection and structure function relationships This has led to quantum advances in clinical efficacy and tolerability Yet in spite of this amazing progress there remain obstacles to widespread successful treatment These issues include biological failures even with direct acting agents lack of options for individual with organ failures drug drug interactions access to medications either due to lack of availability or affordability and psychiatric and social issues These problems are likely to remain in the future Therefore this book has been created by distinguished faculties from around the world to address the progress in our understanding of HCV infection and to review new treatment options limitations and accessibility of new therapeutic options

Immunotherapies Against Infectious Diseases Saba Tufail, Mohammad Asif Sherwani, Najmul Islam, 2024-11-08 Infectious diseases have jeopardized human health significantly as evidenced by the ongoing Covid 19 pandemic In recent years the world has witnessed outbreaks of many emerging and re emerging infections such as SARS most recent by SARS CoV 2 Ebola Zika MERS dengue which in addition to taking millions of lives have posed major health issues in recovered individuals Moreover several infectious agents like hepatitis B and C viruses human papillomavirus human immunodeficiency virus type 1 Epstein Barr virus human T cell leukemia lymphoma virus type 1 Kaposi sarcoma associated herpesvirus Helicobacter pylori and Streptococcus bovis have been found to cause different types of cancers since the action mechanism of these agents sometimes transforms an infected cell into a cancer cell As these infections are difficult to treat with available drugs owing to their lower efficacy toxicity and emergence of drug resistance immunotherapy is viewed as a viable option Immunotherapy is manipulating body's defense mechanism to treat/manage disease Threats of emerging and reemerging infectious diseases in addition to dangers of developing cancer due to cancer-causing infectious agents combined with lack of effective treatment modalities has shifted focus of scientific community to immunotherapy Advancements in immunotherapies comprising vaccines monoclonal antibodies cytokines T cells and checkpoint inhibitors have shown immense promise in combating not only cancer but infectious diseases as well Through this Research Topic we aim to discuss recent advances in immunotherapy based treatment/management of infectious diseases We aim to include studies that evaluate how different forms of immunotherapies including vaccines have been/can be exploited for preventing/treating/managing infectious diseases We welcome Original Research Articles Reviews and Mini reviews discussing the following main themes Vaccines against emerging/re-emerging diseases Vaccine design components technologies such as adjuvants delivery systems administration route dosage Targeted therapy Cancer immunotherapy using but not limited to monoclonal antibodies cytokines T cells and checkpoint inhibitors Monoclonal antibodies including nanobodies against SARS COV 2 for the treatment and prevention of COVID 19 Immunotherapies for infectious diseases using but not limited to monoclonal antibodies cytokines T cells and checkpoint inhibitors Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts elaborating the use of delivery systems nanoparticles nanomaterials for the aforementioned theme/themes
