Asian Travel In The Renaissance:

Asian Travel in the Renaissance, 2003 The Indies of the Setting Sun Ricardo Padrón, 2020-07-29 Padrón reveals the evolution of Spain's imagining of the New World as a space in continuity with Asia. Narratives of Europe's westward expansion often tell of how the Americas came to be known as a distinct landmass separate from Asia and uniquely positioned as new ground ripe for transatlantic colonialism. But this geographic vision of the Americas was not shared by all Europeans. While some imperialists imagined North and Central America as undiscovered land, the Spanish pushed to define the New World as part of a larger and eminently flexible geography that they called las Indias and that by right belonged to the Crown of Castile. And Las Indias included all of the New World as well as East and Southeast Asia, although Spain's understanding of the relationship between the two areas changed as the realities of the Pacific Rim came into sharper focus. At first, the Spanish insisted that North and Central America were an extension of the continent of Asia. Eventually, they came to understand East and Southeast Asia as a transpacific extension of their empire in America, called las Indias del poniente or the Indies of the Setting Sun. The Indies of the Setting Sun charts the Spanish vision of a transpacific imperial expanse beginning with Balboa's discovery of the South Sea and ending almost a hundred years later with Spain's final push for control of the Pacific. Padrón traces a series of attempts, both cartographic and discursive, to map the space from Mexico to Malacca, revealing the geopolitical imaginations at play in the quest for control of the New World and Asia. Chinese Shakespeares Alexander Cheng-Yuan Huang, 2009 This work concentrates on both Shakespearean performance and Shakespeare's appearance in Sinophone culture in relation to the postcolonial question. Anthony Reid and the Study of the Southeast Asian Past Geoff Wade, Li Tana, 2012 To celebrate Anthony Reid's numerous and seminal contributions to the field of Southeast Asian history, a group of his colleagues and students has contributed essays for this Festschrift. In addition to introductory essays which provide personal and intellectual histories of Anthony Reid, the book contains a range of original scholarly contributions addressing historical issues which Reid has researched during his career. Divided into sections which examine Southeast Asia in the world, early modern Southeast Asia, and modern Southeast Asia, these works engage with issues ranging from the Age of Commerce and comparative Eurasian history to nationalism, ethnic hybridity, Islam, technological change, and the Chinese and Arabs in Southeast Asia. The authors include some of the foremost historians of Southeast Asia in our generation. Colonial Philippines in Italian Travel Writing Jillian Loise Melchor, 2024-06-11 The first comprehensive review of all extant Italian chronicles set in the Philippine Islands, this book juxtaposes Filipino Otherness with the unique condition of Italian ambivalence and alterity within Europe. This book's contribution to the critical studies of travel is the opening of an analytical middle ground, highlighting the ambivalence of Italian chroniclers while acknowledging their participation in epistemological practices subsumed within the broader enterprise of conquest. Beyond the role of travel writing in colonial episteme, the book also situates the act of writing about one's travels in instances of national character.

building in Italy's case and in attempts of constructing a national historiography in the Philippines case. This manner of nuancing literary productions by the West while navigating its implications in the East specifically how pre-Unification Italian travel informed nationalist constructions in the Revolutionary Philippines could enrich our understanding of and refract monolithic conceptions of metropole periphery relations.

The Samurai and the Cross M. Antoni J. Üçerler, 2022 M. Antoni J. Üçerler examines how the Jesuit missionaries sought new ways to communicate their faith in an unfamiliar linguistic cultural and religious environment and how they sought to reinvent Christianity in the context of samurai Japan. Based on little-known primary sources in various languages, The Samurai and the Cross explores the moral and political debates over religion, law, and reason of state that took place on both the European and the Japanese side.

Spaces, Objects and Identities in Early Modern Italian Medicine Sandra Cavallo, David Gentilcore, 2009-03-25. This collection by an international team of scholars presents exciting research currently being undertaken on early modern Italy, which questions the conventional boundaries of medical history. Brings together historians of medicine and scholars of different backgrounds who are revisiting the field from new perspectives and with the support of innovative questions and unexplored sources. Explores crucial areas of intersection between the territory of medicine and that of law, politics, religion, art, and material culture and highlights the connections between these apparently separate fields. Challenges our understanding of what we regard as medical activities, medical identities, spaces, and objects. Addresses the study of medical careers, medical identities, and spaces where medical activities were performed, e.g., apothecary shops, courtrooms, convents, and museums.

Capitalism and Cartography in the Dutch Golden Age Elizabeth A. Sutton, 2015-06-05. In Capitalism and Cartography in the Dutch Golden Age, Elizabeth A. Sutton explores the fascinating but previously neglected history of corporate cartography during the Dutch Golden Age from ca. 1600 to 1650. She examines how maps were used as propaganda tools for the Dutch West India Company in order to encourage the commodification of land and an overall capitalist agenda. Building her exploration around the central figure of Claes Jansz. Vischer, an Amsterdam-based publisher closely tied to the Dutch West India Company, Sutton shows how printed maps of Dutch Atlantic territories helped rationalize the Dutch Republic's global expansion. Maps of land reclamation projects in the Netherlands as well as the Dutch territories of New Netherland (now New York) and New Holland (Dutch Brazil) reveal how print media were used both to increase investment and to project a common narrative of national unity. Maps of this era showed those boundaries, commodities, and topographical details that publishers and the Dutch West India Company merchants and governing Dutch elite deemed significant to their agenda. In the process, Sutton argues, they perpetuated and promoted modern state capitalism.

Conflict and Conversion Tara Alberts, 2013-10. Explores how Catholic missionaries, merchants, and adventurers brought their faith to the strategically and commercially crucial region of Southeast Asia in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

In recent years research on the history of early modern cartography has undergone remarkable developments At the same time European travel accounts and works on China and Japan are also being investigated more systematically Finally studies of translations between European and East Asian languages have highlighted the more general issue of how and to what extent representations of the world that prevailed at one end of Eurasia informed and influenced the representations prevailing at the other end of the continent sometimes to the point that novel forms of representations were being generated This volume brings together a series of essays on this theme It is divided into five sections which address as many topics the textual representation of the Other 16th and 17th century maps of China Japan and Vietnam the phenomenon of hybridisation in visual representations knowledge and representations of the world in Europe and East Asia and the circulation of representations of the heavens in astronomy between these two regions The Memoirs and Memorials of Jacques de Coutre Peter Borschberg,2013-11-11

Marta García-Alonso,John Christian Laursen,2025-01-22 This book offers a fresh perspective on early modern philosophy by highlighting Pierre Bayle s engagement with non Christian sources If our major political ethical and epistemic doctrines were solely rooted in Christian genealogies it would seem necessary to include Christianity in the European Constitution However this book reveals a different story The anthropological insights gained from encounters with other lands not only enriched the ethical and political discussions of philosophers historians and literati but also paralleled the incorporation of empirical data from these regions into fields like medicine botany or navigation These accounts became the building blocks for ethical and political thought a wellspring of new ideas thereby making the understanding of other cultures and religions pivotal in reflecting upon the specificities of Europe Pierre Bayle s work exemplifies this transformative influence The Appropriation of Religion in Southeast Asia and Beyond Michel Picard,2017-08-11 This volume investigates various processes by which world religions become localized as well as how local traditions in Southeast Asia and Melanesia become universalized In the name of modernity and progress the contemporary Southeast Asian states tend to press their populations to have a religion claiming that their local indigenous practices and traditions do not constitute religion Authors analyze this religionization addressing how local people appropriate religion as a category to define some of their practices as differentiated from others whether they want to have a religion or are constrained to demonstrate that they profess one Thus religion is what is regarded as such by these local actors which might not correspond to what counts as religion for the observer Furthermore local actors do not always concur regarding what their religion is about as religion is a contested issue In consequence each of the case studies in this volume purposes to elucidate what gets identified and legitimized as religion by whom for what purpose and under what political conditions Asia in the Making of Europe, Volume II Donald F.
