that enable their child to achieve those goals and realise their vision for the future The book begins by reviewing available research on evidence based practice for children with ASD and outlining the Cycle of Learning decision making framework for parents and professionals Throughout the remainder of the book case studies are presented to illustrate the ways in which different parents have successfully utilised this framework to develop effective plans for their child and to advocate for learning and education programs for both their child and other children with ASD in school and community settings In addition it highlights concrete examples of how parents have used the framework to empower their children with ASD to develop their self awareness and self determination and to be able to self advocate as they move through adolescence and into adult life 2008 Spring Autism Asperger Publishing Company , Social Work Practice in Autism and

Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities Kevin P. Stoddart, Ann Fudge Schormans, 2025-01-28 In Canada social work both the profession and the academic discipline has given inadequate attention to individuals living with autism and intellectual and developmental disabilities This is true regardless of whether the social work role is in a clinical capacity community based programs academic research and educational endeavours or an advocacy role or supporting self advocacy for basic needs and rights to services and supports Many people with autism and intellectual and developmental disabilities and their supporters value community involvement and integration quality of life and access to a wide range of services so it is likely that social workers will encounter these clients in their careers Consequently the onus is on the social work profession to attend more fully and carefully to preparing students practitioners and researchers This peer reviewed volume provides a range of perspectives practices and ideas relative to social work s engagements with individuals living with autism intellectual disabilities and developmental disabilities Contributors include social work practitioners academic and community based researchers educators activists and self advocates Reflecting different ways of theorizing speaking about and working with people with autism intellectual disabilities and developmental disabilities it explores both tensions and possibilities for social work practice research education advocacy and policy development that better meet their needs and desires for their lives Practical Solutions for Stabilizing Students with Classic Autism to be Ready to Learn Judy

Endow, 2010 This title recognizes the importance of offering stabilization strategies that afford students a better regulated body often enabling students with classic autism to increase their time in school most of them working up to full day participation Older Autistic Adults Wilma Wake, Eric Endlich, Robert S. Lagos, 2021-04-10 The first of its kind Older Autistic Adults is the result of the authors original research which examines the data retrieved from a survey given to 150 older autistic adults worldwide The insight into the lives and experiences of these individuals from a time before support groups school based interventions and even the autism diagnosis is important and fascinating Combined with a brief history of autism an overview of The Nine Degrees of Autism by Wylie Lawson Beardon in relation to older autistic adults and personal stories from the survey s participants this book is a must read Supporting the Education of Children with
