Missionaries, Anthropologists, and Music in the Indonesian Archipelago Anna Maria Busse Berger, Henry Spiller, 2025-03-18 A free ebook version of this title is available through Luminos University of California Press's Open Access publishing program Visit www.luminosoa.org to learn more Although the history of Indonesian music has received much attention from ethnomusicologists and Western composers alike almost nothing has been written on the interaction of missionaries with local culture This study represents the first attempt to concentrate on the musical dimension of missionary activities in Indonesia In fourteen essays a group of distinguished scholars show the complexity of the topic while some missionaries did important scholarship on local music making recordings and attempting to use local music in services others tried to suppress whatever they found Many were collaborating closely with anthropologists who admitted freely that they could not have done their work without them And both parties brought colonial biases into their work By grappling with these realities and records this book is a collective effort to decolonize the project of making music histories and Its Influence on Local Wisdom Katrin Vee,2024-09-11 The Chinese cultural footprint in Indonesia has a long history and has influenced local wisdom in the country The presence of the Chinese people in Indonesia can be traced back to the 7th century AD initially as a result of maritime trade between China and Indonesia Over time more Chinese people settled in Indonesia bringing their culture with them The influence of Chinese culture in Indonesia has also faced challenges and conflicts in the past such as the events of the 1965 Tragedy that affected the relationship between the Chinese community and Indonesia Nevertheless the Chinese cultural imprint in Indonesia remains an integral part of the cultural diversity and national identity of Indonesia Minority Stages Josh Stenberg,2019-08-31

Minority Stages Sino Indonesian Performance and Public Display offers intriguing new perspectives on historical and contemporary Sino Indonesian performance For the first time in a major study this community s diverse performance practices are brought together as a family of genres Combining fieldwork with evidence from Indonesian Chinese and Dutch primary and secondary sources Josh Stenberg takes a close look at Chinese Indonesian self representation covering genres from the Dutch colonial period to the present day From glove puppets of Chinese origin in East Java and Hakka religious processions in West Kalimantan to wartime political theatre on Sumatra and contemporary Sino Sundanese choirs and dance groups in Bandung this book takes readers on a tour of hybrid and diverse expressions of identity tracing the stories and strategies of minority self representation over time Each performance form is placed in its social and historical context highlighting how Sino Indonesian groups and individuals have represented themselves locally and nationally to the archipelago s majority population as well as to Indonesian state power In the last twenty years the long political suppression of manifestations of Chinese culture in Indonesia has lifted and a wealth of evidence now coming to light shows how Sino Indonesians have long been an integral part of Indonesian culture including the performing arts Valorizing that contribution challenges essentialist readings of ethnicity or minority complicates the profile of a group that is often considered solely in socioeconomic terms and enriches the understanding of Indonesian culture Southeast Asian Chinese identities and transnational cultural exchanges Minority Stages helps counter the dangerous either or thinking that is a mainstay of ethnic essentialism in general and of Chinese and Indonesian nationalisms in particular by showing the fluidity and adaptability of Sino Indonesian identity as expressed in performance and public display
