

Literary Stylistics

- Broadly speaking, literary stylistics studies variations characteristic of different literary genres—poetry, prose, novels, drama, etc., with the purpose of promoting literary texts as communicative acts. Literary stylistics concentrates on literary significance as well as linguistic choices in literary texts. It also studies the different styles of individual authors and their works, as well as period styles.
- Studying forms, such as poetry, drama, and prose. Literary stylistics is a practice of analyzing the language of literature using linguistic concepts and categories, with the goal of explaining how literary meanings are created by specific language choices and patterning, the linguistic foregrounding, in the text.
- Literary stylistics is a practice of analyzing the language of literature using linguistic concepts and categories, with the goal of explaining how literary meanings are created by specific language choices and patterning, the linguistic foregrounding, in the text. While stylistics has periodically claimed to be objective, replicable, inspectable, falsifiable and rigorous, and thus quasi-scientific, subjective interpretation is an ineradicable element of such textual analysis. Nevertheless, the best stylistic analyses, which productively demonstrate direct relations between prominent linguistic forms and patterns in a text and the meanings or effects readers experience, are explicit in their procedures and argumentation, systematic, and testable by independent researchers.

A Comparative Study of R. K. Narayan and Arundhati Roy: Linguistic and Literary Aspects N. Prasanna Lakshmi, 2020-11-23 Broadly speaking Indian English IE is that variety of English used by a large number of educated Indians as a second language Kachru 1983 used the term Indian English for the variety of English used generally in the South Asian countries David Crystal 2003 observes that in India the numbers of English speakers outrank the combined number of speakers in USA and UK A considerable body of creative writing is also produced in English and is increasing steadily Writers like Mulk Raj Anand R K Narayan and Raja Rao and Arundhati Roy have become part of India's literary tradition and they may continue to hold their status in world literature too The use of Indian English in different domains in interaction with other regional languages has resulted in its development and recognition as a distinct variety in its own right It is an attempt to study the styles of two of the prominent writers of Indian English namely R K Narayan and Arundhati Roy by examining the different linguistic and literary aspects as reflected in their selected fictions R K Narayan's Swami and Friends SF and The Guide TG and Arundhati Roy's The God of Small Things GST An examination of selected fictions of the two writers of this study has shown that stylistic analysis can be a rich field of enquiry in Indian English Studies of the present kind can be used as a source material for applied linguistics They can be extended for a comparative study of stylistic traits of Indian writers and non Indian writers The study suggests the possibility of further research in comparative stylistic studies in Indian English fiction on the one hand and American British or Australian fiction on the other Our comparison of the two writers one of the colonial period and the other belonging to the post colonial period suggests that a more extensive stylistic study of Indian writing in English is called for to understand the changing phases of English in the socio cultural ethos of the Indian society The book is organized as follows Chapter I is an introduction to Indian English its importance and the objective of the research Chapter II deals with review of literature on Indian English as well as stylistic studies in Indian English fiction Chapter III is concerned with a brief introduction to the texts chosen for study Chapter IV discusses the methodology adopted in the study Chapter V deals with the results of the study and makes a comparison between the two authors styles Chapter VI consists of a summary of the research and concludes with suggestions regarding further research needs English Stylistics Zeki

Hamawand,2023-03-26 This accessible textbook hinges on the central assumptions of Cognitive Linguistics and Cognitive Grammar introducing students to the analytical tools they need to approach Stylistics an essential area in language analysis The author verifies the claim that alterations in style triggered by different cognitive processes reflect alterations in meaning and shows how they are employed to achieve particular effects in context The book links theory with practice aiming both to acquaint students with the cognitive principles that account for stylistic expressions and to provide them with the tools and techniques to conduct their own analyses The textbook explores and explains how writers use the resources of language to create meaning and how readers interpret texts It will be of interest to advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students on courses in English Linguistics as well as those working on other languages and in related areas such as Composition and Creative Writing Proceedings of the 4th Annual International Conference on Language, Literature and Media (AICOLLIM
