Lincoln, 1988 Assemblage of Spirits Louise Lincoln, 1987 The distinctive artistic styles of the people of New Ireland an island in the Bismarck Archipelago of Melanesia in the South Pacific are characterized by an appreciation for fine carving a taste for vivid colors and imaginative combinations of human and animal forms This volume provides an elaborate visual repertoire of their art and explores the relationship between the art of New Ireland and the religion and rituals of its society Art and Performance in Oceania Barry Craig, Bernie

Kernot, Christopher Anderson, 1999-12-01 The Fifth International Symposium of the Pacific Arts Association titled Art Performance and Society called for papers in sessions dealing with Production and Performance Social and Cultural Context The Record and the Remainder and The Mission of Museums In all some sixty papers were presented twenty four of which have been included in this book The first two topics elicited several papers that explored the creative process including the description and analysis of performance and the taxonomy of objects used the transmission of cultural knowledge and the identity and work of individual artists The second two topics provided the opportunity for papers on some significant early museum collectors and collections various methods of documenting cultural material such as photography how cultural material has been and can be exhibited and the role of museums and cultural centers in Pacific Island countries Thinking

Through Things Amiria Henare, Martin Holbraad, Sari Wastell, 2007-01-24 Drawing upon the work of some of the most influential theorists in the field Thinking Through Things demonstrates the quiet revolution growing in anthropology and its related disciplines shifting its philosophical foundations The first text to offer a direct and provocative challenge to disciplinary fragmentation arguing for the futility of segregating the study of artefacts and society this collection expands on the concerns about the place of objects and materiality in analytical strategies and the obligation of ethnographers to question their assumptions and approaches The team of leading contributors put forward a positive programme for future research in this highly original and invaluable guide to recent developments in mainstream anthropological theory Fluent

Selves Suzanne Oakdale, Magnus Course, 2014-11-01 Fluent Selves examines narrative practices throughout lowland South America focusing on indigenous communities in Brazil Chile Ecuador and Peru illuminating the social and cultural processes that make the past as important as the present for these peoples This collection brings together leading scholars in the fields of anthropology and linguistics to examine the intersection of these narratives of the past with the construction of personhood The volume s exploration of autobiographical and biographical accounts raises questions about fieldwork ethical practices and cultural boundaries in the study of anthropology Rather than relying on a simple opposition between the Western individual and the non Western rest contributors to Fluent Selves explore the complex interplay of both individualizing as well as relational personhood in these practices Transcending classic debates over the categorization of myth and history the autobiographical and biographical narratives in Fluent Selves illustrate the very medium in which several modes of engaging with the past meet are reconciled and reemerge

The Oxford Handbook of Linguistic Fieldwork Nicholas Thieberger, 2011-11-24 This book offers a state of the art guide to linguistic fieldwork reflecting its collaborative nature across the subfields of linguistics and disciplines such as astronomy anthropology biology musicology and ethnography Experienced scholars and fieldworkers explain the methods and approaches needed to understand a language in its full cultural context and to document it accessibly and enduringly They consider the application of new technological approaches to recording and documentation but never lose sight of the crucial relationship between subject and researcher The book is timely an increased awareness of dying languages and vanishing dialects has stimulated the impetus for recording them as well as the funds required to do so The handbook is an indispensable source guide and reference for everyone involved in linguistic and cultural work

Wandering Spirits Janne Flora, 2019-03-28

It is common to think of the Arctic as remote perched at the farthest reaches of the world a simple and harmonious isolated utopia But the reality as Janne Flora shows us is anything but In Wandering Spirits Flora reveals how deeply connected the Arctic is to the rest of the world and how it has been affected by the social political economic and environmental shifts that ushered in the modern age In this innovative study Flora focuses on Inuit communities in Greenland and addresses a central puzzle their alarmingly high suicide rate She explores the deep connections between loneliness and modernity in the Arctic tracing the history of Greenland and analyzing the social dynamics that shaped it Flora's thorough sensitive engagement with the families that make up these communities uncovers the complex interplay between loneliness and a host of economic and environmental practices including the widespread local tradition of hunting Wandering Spirits offers a vivid portrait of a largely overlooked world in all its fragility and nuance while engaging with core anthropological concerns of kinship and the structure of social relations The Social after Gabriel Tarde Matei Candea, 2015-12-14 Gabriel Tarde was a highly influential figure in 19th century French sociology a prolific and evocative writer whose understanding of the social differed radically from that of his younger opponent Emile Durkheim Whereas Durkheimian sociology went on to become the core of the social scientific canon throughout much of the 20th century Tarde's sociology fell out of the picture and he was remembered mostly through a few footnotes in which Durkheim dismissed him as an individualist a psychologist and a metaphysician The social sciences and humanities are now being swept by a Tardean revival a rediscovery and reappraisal of the work of this truly unique thinker for whom every thing is a society and every science a sociology Tarde is being brought forward as the misrecognised forerunner of a post Durkheimian era Reclaimed from a century of near oblivion his sociology has been linked to Foucaultian microphysics of power to Deleuze's philosophy of difference and most recently to the spectrum of approaches related to Actor Network Theory In this connection Bruno Latour hailed Tarde's sociology as an alternative beginning for an alternative social science This volume asks what such an alternative social science might look like This second edition has been expanded to include alongside the original chapters two key essays by Gabriel Tarde himself Monadology and Sociology and The Two Elements of Sociology as well as a significantly revised and extended introduction by the editor African Arts ,1988 Anthropology's Global Histories Rainer F. Buschmann, 2008-10-31 Anthropologists and world historians make strange bedfellows Although the latter frequently employ anthropological methods in their descriptions of cross cultural exchanges the former have raised substantial reservations about global approaches to history Fearing loss of specificity anthropologists object to the effacing qualities of techniques employed by world historians this despite the fact that anthropology itself was a global comparative enterprise in the nineteenth century Rainer Buschmann here seeks to recover some of anthropology's global flavor by viewing its history in Oceania through the notion of the ethnographic frontier the furthestmost limits of the anthropologically known regions of the Pacific The colony of German New Guinea 1884-1914 presents an ideal example of just such a contact zone Colonial administrators there were drawn to approaches partially inspired by anthropology Anthropologists and museum officials exploited this interest by preparing large scale expeditions to German New Guinea Buschmann explores the resulting interactions between German colonial officials resident ethnographic collectors and indigenous peoples arguing that all were instrumental in the formation of anthropological theory He shows how changes in collecting aims and methods helped shift ethnographic study away from its focus on material artifacts to a broader consideration of indigenous culture He also shows how ethnological collecting often a competitive affair could become politicized and connect to national concerns Finally he places the German experience in the broader context of Euro American anthropology Anthropology's Global Histories will interest students and scholars of anthropology history world history and Pacific studies The Magical Body Richard Eves, 2014-01-09 An intriguing exploration of the role and significance of the body in the world of a Pacific Islands People the Lelet of New Ireland Papua

New Guinea In vivid ethnographic detail the monograph captures the fluidity and complexity of Lelet conceptions of corporeality and their significance to identity as they encounter the influences of modernity in the form of colonialism Christianity and cash cropping The author examines the importance of the body to constructions of identity and difference and its role in the constitution of place and space The book provides a richly detailed ethnographic study of magical belief and the body whilst paying particular attention to the polyvalent meanings of bodily images and metaphors as they are used in numerous contexts of magic

New Ireland St. Louis Art Museum, Musée du quai Branly, 2006 Despite the incredible artistry and skill evident in the prolific output of New Ireland artists of the late 19th century their work is still largely unknown This compelling exhibition catalogue intends to rectify that by presenting a broad panorama of artistic expressions developed in New Ireland a Pacific island northeast of Papua New Guinea and home to one of the most sophisticated sculptural traditions in the Pacific region The works of art featured are of such a quality that the design and craftsmanship would be undeniable in any context However the narrow range of time and place are especially important to our understanding of them There is less than one hundred years between the oldest and newest works on view yet they represent an artistic tradition that is at least four hundred years old The story of how these arts flourished before and even during the period when contact with the outside world was resulting in a major dislocation of traditional cultural practices is the subject

Saltwater Sociality Katharina Schneider, 2012 The inhabitants of Pororan Island a small group of saltwater people in Papua New Guinea are intensely interested in the movements of persons across the island and across the sea both in their everyday lives as fishing people and on ritual occasions From their observations of human movements they take their cues about the current state of social relations Based on detailed ethnography this study engages current Melanesian anthropological theory and argues that movements are the Pororans predominant mode of objectifying relations Movements on Pororan Island are to its inhabitants what roads are to mainlanders on the nearby larger island and what material objects and images are to others elsewhere in Melanesia

Ethnoarts Index ,1988 Humanities ,1988 Visual Arts and Human Flourishing Professor Emerita Art History and Executive Director Emerita USC Museums Selma Holo, Selma Holo, 2024 In mid December 2018 a man stood before one of the most beloved paintings in Europe Botticelli's The Birth of Venus and had a heart attack Henri Neuendorf ArtNet News December 19 2018 <https://news.artnet.com/art-world/heart-attack-botticelli-uffizi-1425448> Venus is that painting you're thinking of the one with the shapely wheat haired woman standing in a seashell with one hand covering her breasts and the other holding her long golden locks in front of her groin Floating above her right shoulder are two winged figures with their arms wrapped around each other who blow air on her like distant kisses On her left stands a woman the Hora of Spring who holds what looks like a drape and gazes directly at our goddess whose face tilted just so looks toward the viewer with a gentle yet mature glance as if she was born knowing all one needs to know of love and seduction Fortunately the man whose heart failed while looking back at our all knowing Venus survived but he was not the first to collapse while viewing art in Florence and no doubt he will not be the last It has happened often enough that there is a medical term for the phenomenon named after the first notable man to succumb Stendhal Syndrome Apparently the French author of On Love a treatise on romantic passion reported that he fell ill in 1817 after viewing too much Florentine art Bamforth 945 Is it any wonder that Botticelli's winged figures hang on to each other so tightly To be awestruck is to be in imminent danger

Art and Architecture of the World's Religions Leslie D. Ross, 2009-06-04 Two abundantly illustrated volumes offer a vibrant discussion of how the divine is and has been represented in art and architecture the world over Beginning with the ancient worlds of Mesopotamia Egypt Greece and Rome and moving forward through time Art and Architecture of the World's Religions explores the major faiths from countries and continents around the globe helping readers better understand the creations their beliefs have inspired After tracing the history and development of a religion the book provides a general overview of its principal beliefs and key practices It then offers specific examples of how works of art architecture reflect that religion's values The focus of each chapter is on the temples churches and religious buildings statues paintings and other works of art and architecture created by believers Each representative work of art or architecture is examined in terms of its history materials symbols colors and patterns as its significance is explained to the reader With extensive illustrations these volumes are the definitive reference work on art and architecture of the world's religions
