Curriculum Bridge Pearl G. Solomon,2003-03-21 This revised edition of the author s award winning book about curriculum content standards teaching and testing keeps a solid focus on today s critical issues of accountability and best classroom practices for teaching and learning Topics covered include written curriculum and hidden curriculum juggling stakeholder needs educational planning and public policy the impact of new technologies what we now know about how learning takes place classroom discourse and management traditional alternative and high stakes assessments and how best to plan and implement professional development and action research to ensure that today's reflective teachers succeed in meeting students' educational needs      Cultivating High-Quality Teaching Through Induction and Mentoring Carol A. Bartell, 2005

The book also contains a special emphasis on underprepared teachers and urban schools, those most in need of effective induction and mentoring, and also the group that benefits the most from these types of programmes      Research and Evaluation Methods in Special Education Donna M. Mertens, 2003-09-10

In an era when government policy emphasizes scientifically based research, No Child Left Behind, this book provides an important resource in understanding what this means. Diane Browder Snyder, Distinguished Professor of Special Education, University of North Carolina, Charlotte. This is a superb book I learned by reading it, and I found myself rethinking some of my own thinking about research on individuals with disabilities. James E. Ysseldyke, Professor, University of Minnesota. Learn how research can lead to improved skills and contribute to successful lives. When faced with the challenge of providing special needs children with a quality education, teachers and other educators are often met with the dilemma of inadequate research on the topic, or they are uninformed that a framework for critically analyzing and conducting special education research exists. Research-based practice is a powerful tool for success as it can inform educators and others about educational strategies that work. Research and Evaluation Methods in Special Education is intended to enable educators to design, conduct, and report research and evaluation in a way that transforms special education by addressing the needs of persons with disabilities, as heterogeneous cultural groups. This text provides practical guidance for planning research and evaluation, addressing the implications of legislation and program evaluation, using empirically based data for decision making in a variety of settings, assessing additional research needs in areas such as standards-based reforms, personnel development, family involvement, and new and developing topics in special education. Using quantitative research methods including casual, comparative, correlational, single case, and survey research. Using qualitative methods including identification and selection of research participants, information collection, and more. This excellent resource provides an approach to research and evaluation that helps educators better understand and address the needs of students with various disabilities, including blindness, mental retardation, deafness, learning disabilities, and more      Assessment and ESL Barbara Law, Mary Eckes, 2007

The revised and expanded edition of this bestseller is a comprehensive, easy-to-read resource that explores the theory and practice of ESL assessment. Written for anyone working with English language learners, elementary and secondary, mainstream and ESL, this new edition of Assessment and ESL presents ideas and tools for alternative assessment. The authors offer methods of documenting the learning and progress of second language learners, learning and progress that may not always be apparent at first glance. Like the previous edition, the new edition is filled with real stories about students who take baby steps, progress in leaps and bounds toward proficiency, and eventually learn to fly on their own      Passing the Superintendent TExES Exam Elaine L.
