Assignment in Algeria John D. Lee, 1971 Changing the Church Mark D. Chapman, Vladimir Latinovic, 2020-11-13

This volume dedicated to the memory of Gerard Mannion 1970-2019 former Joseph and Winifred Amaturro Chair in Catholic Studies at Georgetown University explores the topic of changing the church from a range of different theological perspectives. The volume contributors offer answers to questions such as: What needs to be changed in the universal church and in the particular denominations? How has change influenced the life of the church? What are the dangers that change brings with it? What awaits the church if it refuses to change? Many of the essays focus on people who have changed the church significantly and on events that have catalyzed change for the better or for the worse. Some also present visions of change for particular Christian denominations: whether over the ordination of the women, different approaches to sexuality, reform of the magisterium and many other issues related to change.

The Image of Algeria in Anglo-American Writings, 1785-1962 Osman Bencherif, 1997-10-16. This book explores the way in which British and American visitors experienced Algeria and about their imaginary responses to the country. It also attempts to trace the elaboration and evolution of the perception of Algeria in the West with particular focus on the impressions and representations of those Anglo-Americans who experienced Algeria at first hand and wrote about it. The book provides historical perspective from the 16th century to the turn of the 19th century but more specifically from 1785 which opened the chapter of the young American Republic clashes with the Regency of Algiers to the last years of the Algerian War of Independence in 1962. It provides for the first time a corpus of literary texts that offer a basic anthology of Anglo-American writings on Algeria. In that sense, some valuable documents that had fallen into oblivion have been retrieved, throwing some illuminating light on the common and often forgotten cultural connections between Algeria and the Anglo-American world over four centuries.

Remnants of Empire in Algeria and Vietnam Pamela A. Pears, 2004-01-01. In Remnants of Empire in Algeria and Vietnam: Women, Words and War, author Pamela A. Pears proposes a new approach to Francophone studies. The work uses postcolonial theory along with gender and feminist inquiries to emphasize the connections between two Francophone literatures: Algerian and Vietnamese. Specifically, Pears focuses on four novels: Yamina Mechakra's La Grotte, Zlaty Ly Thu Ho's Le Mirage de la paix, Malika Mokeddem's L'Interdite, and Kim Lefèvre's Retour la saison des pluies. All four novels show the profound transformation of women's roles in Algeria and Vietnam during and following the presence of French colonialism. These four authors never attempt to unfold a clear and single definition of the postcolonial female subject. Instead, they explore the various subjective possibilities, expand on them, and ultimately place them in question. Although the differences between Algeria and Vietnam are striking, it is through their connections to one another that we can foreground postcolonial gender issues. Whereas geographical boundaries and official nationalities serve as divisive classifications, the links between the works lead us to a much more engaging dialogue and ultimate understanding of postcolonial Francophone literature.

Algeria since 1989

James D. Le Sueur, 2013-04-04 Algeria's democratic experiment is seminal in post Cold War history. The first Muslim nation to attempt the transition from an authoritarian system to democratic pluralism, this North African country became a test case for reform in Africa, the Arab world, and beyond. Yet when the country looked certain to become the world's first elected Islamic republic, there was a military coup, and the democratic process was brought sharply to a halt. Islamists declared jihad on the state, and hundreds of thousands of civilians were killed in the ensuing decade of state repression. Le Sueur shows that Algeria is at the very heart of contemporary debates about Islam and secular democracy, arguing that the stability of Algeria is crucial for the security of the wider Middle East. Algeria Since 1989 is a lively and essential examination of how the fate of one country is entwined with much greater global issues. Human Rights in the Shadow of Colonial Violence Fabian Klose, 2013-05-31 Based on previously inaccessible material from international archives, Human Rights in the Shadow of Colonial Violence examines the relationship between emerging human rights concepts after 1945 and repressive British and French actions against anticolonial movements in Africa. Human Rights in the Twentieth Century Stefan-Ludwig Hoffmann, 2010-12-13 Has there always been an inalienable right to have rights as part of the human condition as Hannah Arendt famously argued? The contributions to this volume examine how human rights came to define the bounds of universal morality in the course of the political crises and conflicts of the twentieth century. Although human rights are often viewed as a self-evident outcome of this history, the essays collected here make clear that human rights are a relatively recent invention that emerged in contingent and contradictory ways. Focusing on specific instances of their assertion or violation during the past century, this volume analyzes the place of human rights in various arenas of global politics, providing an alternative framework for understanding the political and legal dilemmas that these conflicts presented. In doing so, this volume captures the state of the art in a field that historians have only recently begun to explore. Transition United States. Action, 1972

The Middle East in Crime Fiction Reeve S. Simon, 1989 West Germany, Cold War Europe and the Algerian War Mathilde Von Bulow, 2016-08-22 Examining the clandestine and subversive activities of Algerian nationalists in West Germany and Europe, Mathilde Von Bulow sheds new light on the extent to which FLN activities and French counter measures impacted the conflict in Algeria and the politics of the global Cold War. Agendas and Choices Peter Kaufman, 2014-09-23 Agendas and Choices illustrates and examines the intricate predispositions, habits, and agendas and choices which form and become the personalities of the characters in the book's five major parts, which are four Stories and one Novella. There are imposed Agendas and Choices, for example, like a WWII which can also help to create a final personality profile; there are, of course, personal choices which often harden into inflexible agendas. Enjoy unraveling the often hidden agendas of any of the characters you encounter, and do not be surprised if you tend to approve, excuse, or absolve yourself from any story character or actual person you know. The Civilizing Mission in the Metropole Amelia H. Lyons, 2013-11-13 France, which has the largest Muslim minority community in Europe, has been in the news in recent years.

because of perceptions that Muslims have not integrated into French society The Civilizing Mission in the Metropole explores the roots of these debates through an examination of the history of social welfare programs for Algerian migrants from the end of World War II until Algeria gained independence in 1962 After its colonization in 1830 Algeria fought a bloody war of decolonization against France as France desperately fought to maintain control over its most prized imperial possession In the midst of this violence some 350 000 Algerians settled in France This study examines the complex and often contradictory goals of a welfare network that sought to provide services and monitor Algerian migrants activities Lyons particularly highlights family settlement and the central place Algerian women held in French efforts to transform the settled community Lyons questions myths about Algerian immigration history and exposes numerous paradoxes surrounding the fraught relationship between France and Algeria many of which echo in French debates about Muslims today The Palgrave
