Contesting Genres in Contemporary Asian American Fiction B. Huang, 2010-12-12 This book examines the influence of genre on contemporary Asian American literary production Drawing on cultural theories of representation social theories of identity and poststructuralist genre theory this study shows how popular prose fictions have severely constrained the development of Asian American literary aesthetics

The Cultural Capital of Asian American Studies Mark Chiang, 2009-11 Originating in the 1968 student led strike at San Francisco State University Asian American Studies was founded as a result of student and community protests that sought to make education more accessible and relevant While members of the Asian American communities initially served on the departmental advisory boards planning and developing areas of the curriculum university pressures eventually dictated their expulsion At that moment in history the intellectual work of the field was split off from its relation to the community at large giving rise to the entire problematic of representation in the academic sphere Even as the original objectives of the field have remained elusive Asian American studies has nevertheless managed to establish itself in the university Mark Chiang argues that the fundamental precondition of institutionalization within the university is the production of cultural capital and that in the case of Asian American Studies as well as other fields of minority studies the accumulation of cultural capital has come primarily from the conversion of political capital In this way the definition of cultural capital becomes the primary terrain of political struggle in the university and outlines the very conditions of possibility for political work within the academy Beginning with the theoretical debates over identity politics and cultural nationalism and working through the origins of ethnic studies in the Third World Strike the formation of the Asian American literary field and the Blue Hiding controversy The Cultural Capital of Asian American Studies articulates a new and innovative model of cultural and academic politics illuminating the position of ethnic studies within the American university

American writers use literature to participate in the critique and analysis of their position in US culture

Communicating Marginalized Masculinities Ronald L. Jackson, Jamie E. Moshin, 2013 For years research concerning masculinities has explored the way that men have dominated exploited and dismantled societies asking how we might make sense of marginalized masculinities in the context of male privilege This volume asks not only how terms such as men and masculinity are socially defined and culturally instantiated but also how the media has constructed notions of masculinity that have kept minority masculinities on the margins Essays explore marginalized masculinities as communicated through film television and new media visiting representations and marginalized identity politics while also discussing the dangers and pitfalls of a media pedagogy that has taught audiences to ignore sidestep and stereotype marginalized group realities While dominant portrayals of masculine versus feminine characters pervade numerous television and film examples this collection examines heterosexual and queer military and civilian as well as Black Japanese Indian White and Latino masculinities offering a variance in masculinities and confronting male privilege as represented on screen appealing to a range of disciplines and a wide scope of readers

Asian-American Writers Harold Bloom, 2009 Presents critical perspectives on the works of Asian American writers including Gish Jen Cheng rae Lee and Maxine Hong Kingston

Racial Ambiguity in Asian American Culture Jennifer Ann Ho, 2015-05-12 The sheer diversity of the Asian American populace makes them an ambiguous racial category Indeed the 2010 U S Census lists twenty four Asian ethnic groups lumping together under one heading people with dramatically different historical backgrounds and cultures In Racial Ambiguity in Asian American Culture Jennifer Ann Ho shines a light on the hybrid and indeterminate aspects of race revealing ambiguity to be paramount to a more nuanced understanding both of race and of what it means to be Asian American Exploring a variety of subjects and cultural artifacts Ho reveals how Asian American subjects evince a deep racial ambiguity that unmoors the concept of race from any fixed or finite understanding For example the book examines the racial ambiguity of Japanese American nisei Yoshiko Nakamura deLeon who during World War II underwent an abrupt transition from being an enemy alien to an assimilating American via the Mixed Marriage Policy of 1942 It looks at the blogs of Korean Taiwanese and Vietnamese Americans who were adopted as children by white American families and have conflicted feelings about their honorary white status And it discusses Tiger Woods the most famous mixed race Asian American whose description of himself as Cablinasian reflecting his background as Black Asian Caucasian and Native American perfectly captures the ambiguity of racial classifications Race is an abstraction that we treat as concrete a construct that reflects only our desires fears and anxieties Jennifer Ho demonstrates in Racial Ambiguity in Asian American Culture that seeing race as ambiguous puts us one step closer to a potential antidote to racism

The Interethnic Imagination Caroline Rody, 2009 Rody proposes a new paradigm for understanding the changing terrain of contemporary fiction She claims that what we have long read as ethnic literature is in the process of becoming interethnic Examining an extensive range of Asian American fictions she offers readings of three especially compelling examples Asian American Literature in Transition, 1996-2020: Volume 4 Betsy Huang, Victor Román Mendoza, 2021-06-17 This volume examines the concerns political literary and identity based of contemporary Asian American literatures in neoliberal times Double Agency, 2005 In Double Agency Tina Chen proposes impersonation as a paradigm for teasing out the performative dimensions of Asian American literature and culture Asian American acts of impersonation she argues foreground the limits of subjectivity even as they insist on the undeniable importance of subjecthood By decoupling imposture from impersonation Chen shows how Asian American performances have often been misinterpreted read as acts of betrayal rather than multiple allegiance A central paradox informing the book impersonation as a performance of divided allegiance that simultaneously pays homage to and challenges authenticity and authority thus becomes a site for reconsidering the implications of Asian Americans as double agents In exploring the possibilities that impersonation affords for refusing the binary logics of loyalty disloyalty real fake and Asian American Double Agency attends to the possibilities of reading such acts as impersonations dynamic performances and a performance dynamics through which Asian Americans constitute themselves as speaking and acting subjects The Cambridge Companion to the American Modernist Novel Joshua L. Miller, 2015-11-26 This Companion offers a comprehensive analysis of U S modernism as part of a global literature Recent writing on U S immigration imperialism and territorial expansion has generated fresh reasons to read modernist novelists both prominent and forgotten Written by a host of leading scholars this Companion provides unique approaches to modernist texts Transnational Matrilineage Silvia Schultermandl, 2009 Transnational Matrilineage offers a novel approach to Asian American literature including texts by Maxine Hong Kingston Amy Tan Mei Ng Nora Okja Keller and Vineeta Vijayaraghavan with particular attention to depictions of transnational solidarity that is the sense of community between women of different cultures or cultural affiliations between Asian born mothers and their American born daughters While focusing on the mother daughter conflicts these texts portray this book also contributes to ongoing debates in transnational feminism by scrutinizing the representation of Asia in Asian American literature Asian American Literature Bella Adams, 2008-04-17 This critical study of Asian American literature discusses work by internationally successful writers such as Maxine Hong Kingston Chang rae Lee Bharati Mukherjee Amy Tan and others in their historical cultural and critical contexts The focus of the book is on contemporary writing from the 1970s onwards although it also traces over a hundred years of Asian American literary production in prose poetry drama and criticism The main body of the book comprises five periodized chapters that highlight important events in a nation state that has historically rendered Asian Americans invisible Of particular importance to the writers selected for case studies are questions of racial identity cultural history and literary value with respect to dominant American ideologies Modern Minority Yoon Sun Lee, 2013-02-14 Modern Minority presents a fresh examination of canonical and emergent Asian American literature s relationship to the genre of realism particularly through its preoccupation with everyday life Asian American Literature in Transition, 1930-1965: Volume 2 Victor Bascara, Josephine Nock-Hee Park, 2021-06-17 Leading scholars provide illuminating and engaging perspectives on a long neglected yet incredibly eventful period 1930 1965 of Asian American literature

LatinAsian Cartographies Susan Thananopavarn, 2018-03-19 LatinAsian Cartographies examines how Latina o and Asian American writers provide important counter narratives to the stories of racial encroachment that have come to characterize twenty first century dominant discourses on race Susan Thananopavarn contends that the Asian American and Latina o presence in the United States although often considered marginal in discourses of American history and nationhood is in fact crucial to understanding how national identity has been constructed historically and continues to be constructed in the present day Thananopavarn creates a new LatinAsian view of the United States that emphasizes previously suppressed aspects of national history including imperialism domestic racism during World War II Cold War operations in Latin America and Asia and the politics of borders in an age of globalization LatinAsian Cartographies ultimately reimagines national narratives in a way that transforms dominant ideas of what it means to be American

Minor Transpacific David S. Roh, 2021-07-27 There is a tendency to think of Korean American literature and Asian American literature writ large as a field of study involving only two spaces the United States and Korea with the same being true in Asian studies of Korean Japanese Zainichi literature involving only Japan and Korea This book posits that both fields have to account for three spaces Korean American literature has to grapple with the legacy of Japanese imperialism in the United States and Zainichi literature must account for American interventions in Japan Comparing Korean American authors such as Younghill Kang Chang rae Lee Ronyoung Kim and Min Jin Lee with Zainichi authors such as Kaneshiro Kazuki Yi Yang ji and Kim Masumi Minor Transpacific uncovers their hidden dialogue and imperial concordances revealing the trajectory and impact of both bodies of work Minor Transpacific bridges the fields of Asian studies and Asian American studies to unveil new connections between Zainichi and Korean American literatures Working in Japanese and English David S Roh builds a theoretical framework for articulating those moments of contact between minority literatures in a third national space and proposes a new way of conceptualizing Asian American literature
