BITTER JOURNEY

Bingzhou Liqueur

Bright bronze color. Aromas of gentian, black tea, ginseng, and palo santo smoke with a satiny, soft, off-dry light-to-medium body and a warming, interesting, medium-length herbal tincture, homeopathic remedy, and licorice finish. A slightly bitter and boldly intriguing Liqueur made with a sensuous bouquet of East Asian herbs and spices.

Bitter Journey

Mohamad Araji

Bitter Journey:

Piece of paper Mohamad Araj, 2025-06-15 A cry from the prisons of injustice to the diaspora of exile My undying testimony By the grace of God I attained my timid freedom after bitter suffering in the Syrian regime's prisons on November 27 2013 Freedom at the time wasn't complete it was more like a respite a small respite of hope in a long tunnel of pain The moment of my release was like a miracle achieved through God's help and through money which ironically became the only means of escape from the grip of the executioner The Syrian regime didn't just unjustly detain thousands it turned the suffering of the victims into a source of profit forcing their families to pay exorbitant sums in exchange for their release after their bodies had been exhausted and their souls tortured How difficult those deadly moments are for families Hours pass like ages and days go by like an eternity No sleep no food no peace of mind Only waiting faint hope and relentless fear Years of loss and deprivation the depth of whose wounds cannot be described in words Loss Anxiety Struggle Revenge Patience And painful silence From prison to exile After my release life was closed to me I was prevented from completing my university studies and was persecuted by the regime's agents I was forced to leave my homeland the country where I had breathed despite all the pain I fled to Lebanon then to Belgium It wasn't my choice it was my escape on a bitter journey to an exile unlike anything I've ever known Thus began the stage of forced exile the cruelty of which is known only to those who have experienced it Exile was not merely a separation from the land but rather an uprooting of the soul It was my exit from hell into the unknown A bitter journey into an exile unlike anything in my life To a place I didn't choose To a land I never thought I'd throw myself in search of safety I was living in a body that carried years of pain and oppression and I carried on my back a bag too heavy to be seen in it were the faces of those who had passed away my mother's tears the sounds of the bombing and the smell of detention I wanted to bury the past even temporarily to move forward but I was torn between a painful past a dark present and a future that knew no hope My body was here but my soul was always there among my family and the homes of my country gripped by fear of them Are they okay Did they pay the price for my freedom Was the regime arresting them because of me Have they been targeted by a treacherous hand that does not differentiate between women children and the elderly Forced Exile How cruel it is to live in an expatriation you didn't create didn't prepare for and didn't choose the timing of Forced expatriation isn't just a geographical distance but a harsh uprooting from everything you once called home home language identity embrace or abode Forced expatriation opens your eyes every morning and says to yourself I am here but I'm not here My body is in Belgium walking its streets learning its language and trying to belong But my soul is there hanging on a wall in a half-demolished house

Reading Du Fu Xiaofei Tian, 2020-06-23 This is the first collection of essays in English contributed by well known experts of Chinese literature as well as scholars of a younger generation dedicated to the poetry of Du Fu commonly regarded as the greatest Chinese poet These essays are engaged in historically nuanced close reading of Du Fu's poems both canonical and less known from new angles and in various contexts and discuss a series of critical issues including the local and the imperial the body politic and the individual body poetry and geography perspectives on the complicated relation of religion and literature materiality and contemporary reception of Du Fu poetry and visual art and tradition and modernity Many of the poems discussed in this book were written in the backwater town of Kuizhou far from Du Fu's earlier residence in the capital city Chang'an at a time when the Tang dynasty was going through devastating social and political disturbances The authors contend that Du Fu's isolation from the elite literary establishments allowed him to become a pioneer who introduced a new order to the Chinese poetic discourse However his attention to details in everyday reality his preoccupation with domestic life and the larger issues embroiled in it his humor and his ability to surprise tend to be obscured by the clichéd image of the poet sage and poet historian an image this collection of essays successfully complicates The scholarship that went into this collection of essays is extremely solid and fills an important gap in the study of China's greatest poet Du Fu The convincing and compelling collection of articles from distinguished scholars rereads Du Fu from fresh and different perspectives and informs the reader about the amazing power of intertextuality Kang I Sun Chang Yale University This rich and multilayered collection of essays about Du Fu all written by major scholars presents research of the highest quality and originality that succeeds most impressively in enriching and deepening our knowledge and appreciation of this great poet This volume has the potential to engender a new stage of Du Fu studies Antje

They knew nothing about the internment camps where Germans and German Americans were interned during the war were unaware of the expulsions of millions of ethnic Germans from their historical homelands the torture rape and murder of millions of innocent non combatant women and children after hostilities had ended and the deliberate starvation to death of more than one million eight hundred thousand German POW s after the war in complete disregard to the Hague Geneva and other conventions This documentary is not singling out others that may or may not be guilty of these atrocities It is only the truth that we seek to be put into the history books and other texts not the made up revisions of Arrogant Revisionists Much of the information published herewith is not even known by most Germans or people of other ethnic entities This documentary therefore is one of clarity reality and truth It needs to be known Everyone Germans and non Germans alike should read this book so at least they will know the other side of the story Orestes and Other Plays Euripides,James Morwood,2001

Written during the long battles with Sparta that were to ultimately destroy ancient Athens these six plays by Euripides brilliantly utilize traditional legends to illustrate the futility of war The Children of Heracles holds up a mirror to a contemporary Athens while Andromache considers the position of women in Greek wartime society In The Suppliant Women the difference between a just and an unjust battle is explored while The Phoenician Women describes the brutal rivalry of the sons of King Oedipus and the compelling Orestes depicts the guilt caused by vengelful murder Finally Iphigenia in Aulis Euripides last play contemplates religious sacrifice and the insanity of war Together the plays offer a moral and political statement that is at once unique to the ancient world and prophetically relevant to our own P 4 of cover
