III the contributors discuss policies to reduce absentee fatherhood Wornie Reed demonstrates how public health interventions such as personal development workshops and work related skill building services can be used to address the causes of fatherlessness Wade Horn illustrates the positive results achieved by fatherhood programs especially when held early in a man s life In the last chapter Enola Aird notes that from 1995 to 2000 the proportion of African American children living in two parent married couple homes rose from 34.8 to 38.9 percent a significant increase indicating the possible reversal of the long term shift toward black family fragmentation Black Fathers in Contemporary American Society provides an in depth look at a problem affecting millions of children while offering proof that the trend of father absence is not irrevocable
