Lensing, 2004-04-01 This fruitful pairing of literary and biographical interpretation follows Wallace Stevens's poetry through the lens of its dominant metaphor the seasons of nature and illuminates the poet's personal life experiences reflected there From Stevens's first collection Harmonium 1923 to his last poems written shortly before his death in 1955 George S. Lensing offers clear and detailed examination of Stevens's seasonal poetry including extensive discussions of Autumn Refrain The Snow Man The World as Meditation and Credences of Summer Drawing upon a vast knowledge of the poet Lensing argues that Stevens's pastoral poetry of the seasons assuaged a profound and persistent personal loneliness An important scholarly assessment of a major twentieth century modernist Wallace Stevens and the Seasons also serves as an appealing introduction to Stevens Jenny Lind at Last; Or, the Swedish Nightingale. An Apropos Operatic Bagatelle, in One Act, Etc Angus Bethune Reach, 1865 The Nature of Cities Michael Bennett, David Warfield Teague, 1999-10 Cities are often thought to be separate from nature but recent trends in ecocriticism demand that we consider them as part of the total environment This new collection of essays sharpens the focus on the nature of cities by exploring the facets of an urban ecocriticism by reminding city dwellers of their place in ecosystems and by emphasizing the importance of this connection in understanding urban life and culture The editors both raised in small towns but now living in major urban areas are especially concerned with the sociopolitical construction of all environments both natural and manmade Following an opening interview with Andrew Ross exploring the general parameters of urban ecocriticism they present essays that explore urban nature writing city parks urban wilderness ecofeminism and the city and urban space The volume includes contributions on topics as wide ranging as the urban poetry of English writers from Donne to Gay the manufactured wildness of a gambling casino and the marketing of cosmetics to urban women by idealizing Third World naturalness These essays seek to reconceive nature and its cultural representations in ways that contribute to understanding the contemporary cityscape They explore the theoretical issues that arise when one attempts to adopt and adapt an environmental perspective for analyzing urban life The Nature of Cities offers the ecological component often missing from cultural analyses of the city and the urban perspective often lacking in environmental approaches to contemporary culture By bridging the historical gap between environmentalism cultural studies and urban experience the book makes a statement of lasting importance to the development of the ecocritical movement
