Black Colleges In America Challenge Development Survival:

Why Historically Black Colleges and Universities Matter Marybeth Gasman, 2025 With a personal and narrative style preeminent educational historian Marybeth Gasman presents her research pertaining to HBCUs conducted over her 25 year career In addition to conducting historical and large scale qualitative studies related to HBCUs Gasman has also served as a board of trustee member at three HBCUs Paul Quinn College St Augustine University and Morris Brown College She has received wide recognition from HBCUs for her scholarly and justice oriented work including the Ozell Sutton Medallion for Justice from Philander Smith College and the Presidential Medallion from Wilberforce University This volume brings together Gasman's most influential historical essays on the themes of leadership philanthropy art curriculum intellectual debate Black agency desegregation and Critical Race Theory Scholars and students alike will benefit from the way Gasman makes complex historical ideas accessible and engaging by employing a variety of historical methods that include oral history archival research legal research text and image analysis historiography and prosopography Readers will discover the multitude of ways that historical research can be approached and brought to life Book Features Concrete examples of how to use a variety of methodological approaches related to history A clear and accessible presentation of history to help new scholars find their voices Diverse topics related to HBCUs featuring key luminaries across these venerable institutions Cuts across disciplinary boundaries including American history education art history sociology political science and law An introduction that explores the author's reasons for doing this research and an epilogue examining the methods used The Future of Historically Black Colleges and Universities Carolyn O. Wilson Mbajekwe, 2010-07-27 Historically black colleges and universities HBCUs were originally founded to provide the educational opportunities that other post secondary schools had denied to black Americans Today these schools face new challenges and how they respond is shaped in large part by the men and women at the helm Ten HBCU presidents speak out in this volume addressing the fundamental issues confronting minority higher education They discuss the historical role of black colleges the current mission of HBCUs and the effects of diversity programs minority recruiting goals and globalization Other topics include the impact of technology on college classrooms and the priorities and challenges in fundraising and development Each chapter is devoted to the comments of one of the ten educators and each includes a brief professional biography An appendix includes profiles of historically black institutions

Creating New Possibilities for the Future of HBCUs Terrell L. Strayhorn, Michael Steven Williams, Royel M. Johnson, 2024-03-01 Creating New Possibilities for the Future of HBCUs brings together over 20 higher education scholars with more than 150 years of combined professional experience to critically examine the current contributions of and future directions for our nation s 101 historically Black colleges and universities HBCUs The book breaks new ground on Black colleges and offers hope and optimism for charting their future despite shrinking investments in higher education declining enrollments and eroding public confidence in the value of a college degree The book was written to tell the truth to right or re write past wrongs about HBCUs and to shift our collective gaze from the uncertain shaky past of a select few to a far more promising future for all based on insights from contemporary empirical research Each chapter addresses a particular aspect of higher education as it relates to HBCUs documenting the undeniable legacy of Black colleges their current challenges and untold successes blended with findings from recent empirical studies both quantitative and qualitative that clearly create new possibilities for the future of HBCUs This volume was developed to break new ground on often overlooked and understudied terrain in higher education scholarship Organized into three major sections the book includes chapters focusing on HBCUs as institutions and a small but consequential segment of the higher education enterprise Section Two consists of 6 chapters addressing the experiences of HBCU students paying close attention to issues of intersectionality heterogeneity and race ethnicity to name a few A third and final section turns much needed attention to HBCU personnel including campus administrators college presidents and faculty Rich in its coverage of culture facts and past history this new book offers much to those interested in charting new possibilities for the future of HBCUs The Broken Cisterns of African American Education M. Christopher Brown, RoSusan D. Bartee, 2008-12-01 The failure of American education to achieve racial diversity has resulted from the inability of educational researchers policy makers and judicial officials to disentangle the complex definitions that have emerged in a post segregated society More specifically the capricious aim of post segregated educational settings leads to the confusing and often conflicting interchangeable usage of terms desegregated integrated and diversity This ambituity is further confounded by the imprecise definitions of equity equality and opportunity The proposed book will examine the role of language post Brown v Board of Education and the effects of that language on educational policy and practice He also examines how the fundamental implications of language within post Brown court cases in pre through post secondary education demonstrate the unspecified outcomes for desegregation and integration while concomitantly demand an educational continuum of equitable distribution. The arguments will further interrogate how education policy and practices implicitly contain a scholarly roadmap to forge equal opportunity and access fifty years after Brown Out of the Revolution Delores P. Aldridge, Carlene Young, 2000-11-01 The introduction of Black studies programs into institutions of higher education was a direct response to the mandate for change at all levels that characterized the civil rights movement and the social rebellions of the 1950s and 1960s In Out of the Revolution Delores P Aldridge and Carlene Young collect thirty one of the nation s top scholars to provide a complete reference for understanding the impetus for the development of and future considerations for the discipline of Africana studies Topics addressed include epistemological considerations humanistic perspectives the role of bureaucracy and the academic institution the social psychological political and economic dimensions the position of black women in the field and how the discipline has empowered the black student This invaluable resource for educators and students alike concludes with a look at graduates in Africana studies and their careers and a discussion of the future of the field New Life for Historically Black Colleges and Universities Vann R. Newkirk, 2014-01-10 In December 2008 Georgia state senator Seth Harp ignited controversy when he proposed merging two historically Black colleges with nearby predominantly white colleges to save money Less than a year later Mississippi governor Haley Barbour sought to unite Mississippi s three predominantly Black colleges These efforts kindled renewed interest in historically Black colleges and universities HBCUs across the nation and the globe In this study HBCU officials and faculty attempt to identify the challenges that HBCUs face explore the historic origin of HBCU management systems and identify models of success that will improve the long term viability of the HBCU By analyzing HBCUs within a larger framework of American higher education and the cultural context in which HBCUs operate these essays introduce a new paradigm in the quest to ensure that HBCUs continue to play an important role in the education of Americans of all races Historically Black Colleges and Universities Charles L. Betsey, 2017-07-12 Beginning in the 1830s public and private higher education institutions established to serve African Americans operated in Pennsylvania and Ohio the Border States and the states of the old Confederacy Until recently the vast majority of people of African descent who received post secondary education in the United States did so in historically black institutions Spurred on by financial and accreditation issues litigation to assure compliance with court decisions equal higher education opportunity for all citizens and the role of race in admissions decisions interest in the role accomplishments and future of Historically Black Colleges and Universities has been renewed This volume touches upon these issues Historically Black Colleges and Universities HBCUs are a diverse group of 105 institutions They vary in size from several hundred students to over 10 000 Prior to Brown v Board of Education 90 percent of African American postsecondary students were enrolled in HBCUs Currently the 105 HBCUs account for 3 percent of the nation s educational institutions but they graduate about one quarter of African Americans receiving college degrees The competition that HBCUs currently face in attracting and educating African American and other students presents both challenges and opportunities Despite the fact that numerous studies have found that HBCUs are more effective at retaining and graduating African American students than predominately white colleges HBCUs have serious detractors Perhaps because of the increasing pressures on state governments to assure that public HBCUs receive comparable funding and provide programs that will attract a broader student population several public HBCUs no longer serve primarily African American students There is reason to believe and it is the opinion of several contributors to this book that in the changing higher education environment HBCUs will not survive particularly those that Encyclopedia of African American History, 1896 to the Present Paul Finkelman, 2009 Alphabetically arranged are entries from A to C that explores significant events major persons organizations and political and social movements in African American history from 1896 to the twenty first century Encyclopedia of Law and Higher Education Charles J.
