Law of Attraction Saket Shah, 2020-02-26 Imagine that you are a human transmission tower much like a radio tower Like radio humans emit waves of energy or vibrations that transcend from our minds into our bodies and beyond If you tune a radio receiver to a certain station or frequency you will pick up the station which is emitting the same frequency In the same way if we tune into a certain frequency we will receive that which matches the frequency So what creates the frequency we tune into Our thoughts and especially our emotions A great example of how this works is to remember a time when you started out your day with something going wrong that put you in a negative mood a negative vibration such as stubbing your toe Then for the rest of the day you continue to attract negative things to your experience like popping a tire having an irate customer and overcooking your lunch According to LOA believers you are responsible for these things happening to you they occurred because you were sending out to the Universe a negative vibration just like the radio station and you tuned into possibilities in your life that matched your vibration
