Crystal Reports .NET Programming Brian Bischof, 2004. I wrote this book from the perspective of a programmer wanting to learn how to integrate reports within a .NET application. I've been working with Crystal Reports since Visual Basic 3, and it's always been difficult to find technical information on report writing. I spent a year and a half researching what .NET programmers need to successfully create, implement, and deploy a Crystal Reports application. I even put the book on the internet for everyone to read for free all of last year. This generated an incredible number of emails from programmers telling me what they liked, disliked, and what was missing from the book. I learned that there are two distinct types of .NET programmers using Crystal Reports. The first type of programmer doesn't have much experience with Crystal Reports and wants a series of tutorials to help them build reports from scratch. For this programmer, I wrote 13 chapters which teach you everything about adding reports to ASP .NET and Windows applications. It starts with the basics of building reports, to adding charts, crosstab reports, sorting and grouping subreports, and using the formula editor with Basic syntax and Crystal syntax. The second type of programmer has been using Crystal Reports for years and is mostly concerned with how to do technical runtime customization of reports. For this programmer, I researched and diagrammed the undocumented report object models. I included dozens of examples in both VB .NET and C# to show you how to modify reports, manipulate different data sources, XML, ADO, .NET, ODBC, OLE DB, stored procedures with parameters, modify formulas, and report parameters, and integrate .NET with the RAS and RDC. The dozens of emails I received when the book was online were instrumental for doing a major revision of many chapters before publishing the book in hardcopy format. Since releasing the book, I continue to receive more emails from people. They regret that the free book isn't online anymore.

but understand that it couldn't last forever and that the hardcopy version is even better I hope you like it and that it helps you achieve your reporting goals September 2004 Update Due to high demand I did a second printing of the book I took advantage of this opportunity to go through the book and remove all grammatical errors The content is the same but the typos have been corrected Ambient Assisted Living and Daily Activities Leandro Pecchia, Liming Chen, Chris Nugent, Jose Bravo, 2014-11-10 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 6th International Workshop on Ambient Assisted Living IWAAL 2014 held in Belfast UK in December 2014 The 42 full papers presented with 12 papers of the workshop WAGER 2014 and 10 papers of a special session HTA were carefully reviewed and selected from numerous submissions The focus of the papers is on following topics ADL detection recognition classification behavioural changes coaching and education AAL design and technical evaluation expression mood and speech recognition health monitoring risk prediction and assessment localization and user preferences usability AAL acceptance and adoption
