Aspects Of Pacific Ethnohistory:

Aspects of Pacific Ethnohistory Alan Richard Tippett, 1973 Guiding Light Kevin George Hovey, 2019-04-18 Rev Dr Alan Tippett was arguably one of the leading missiologists of the twentieth century Through his prolific pen poignant observations and powerful insights he significantly influenced mission research and activity in the period of the 1960s to 1980s This was particularly facilitated through his research writing and teaching at the Institute of Church Growth Fuller Theological Seminary School of World Mission and his inaugural editorship of the American Society of Missiology's journal Missiology: An International Review Yet for those who did not know Tippett's material well the very specific nature of his research and writing limited the influence of his insights For example without already knowing the pertinent content why would a missionary to Thailand think of reading Tippett's Solomon Islands Christianity However according to Doug Priest editor of a number of Tippett's posthumous publications this volume has done what even Tippett himself did not do and that is to capture the key features of his missiology in one volume So Guiding Light functions as an in depth overview of The Essential Alan Tippett I can attest that the nature of Tippett's material continued to inform and inspire me throughout the eleven years of the research and writing of this study Fullness of Time: Alan R. Tippett, 2014-03-10 Alan Tippett's publications played a significant role in the development of missiology The volumes in this series augment his distinguished reputation by bringing to light his many unpublished materials and hard to locate printed articles These books encompassing theology anthropology history area studies religion and ethnohistory broaden the contours of the discipline Tippett believed his writings on ethnohistory were his most original contribution to the discipline of missiology The wealth of material in Fullness of Time is his best ethnohistory writing most of which has never been published Explore the methods and models of this captivating field of study Realize how documents oral tradition and even artifacts can be used to recreate the cultural situation of a prior time Learn about the South Pacific Ethiopia Hawaii and Australia both in and through time The Cambridge History of the Pacific Islanders Donald Denoon, 2004-03-25 An authoritative and comprehensive history of the Pacific islanders from 40 000 BC to the present day Missiology and the Social Sciences Edward Rommen, Gary Corwin, 1996-09-15 Missiology and the Social Sciences Contributions Cautions and Conclusions Missiology draws from several sources These include God's revelation in Holy Scripture historical creeds and theology past and present missionary experiences and various social sciences that help us to understand diverse cultural and religious dynamics But how exactly do these sources relate to one another How do we balance and prioritize the contributions of each Missiology and the Social Sciences answer these questions with scholarly care On the one hand it's unthinkable that missionaries would not use the social sciences such as anthropology and linguistics How else would we translate the Bible and learn about other cultures On the other hand some writers warn of the subtle danger that social sciences could undermine biblical authority Cultural bias also might affect social science research and hinder our ability to discern what God is doing around us The contributors in this book help readers understand the debate and its many practical implications It equips missionaries to engage the social sciences in more thoughtful ways that can bear gospel fruit

American Missions in Bicentennial Perspective

Lyman E. Reed, Arthur F. Glasser, 1985-06-01 Missionaries while being prepared in the Bible often receive little training in understanding the world in which we live and some experience great hardship out in the field as a result The purpose of this book is to enable cross cultural missionaries to be more adequately prepared for the task of intelligent communication The authors set forth the major areas which are important in training the missionary to communicate with other cultures

Melanesians and Missionaries Darrell L. Whiteman, 2002-05-10 In Melanesians and Missionaries one of the best of the younger generation of missionary anthropologists demonstrates that a commitment to the missionary enterprise on the part of a solid scholar facilitates rather than hinders the anthropological study of a missionary topic This is better anthropology because Dr Whiteman is able to probe more deeply into his topic and demonstrates that he understands and appreciates both Melanesians and missionaries Charles H Kraft Professor of Anthropology School of World Mission Fuller Theological Seminary Pasadena

Language Contact in the Early Colonial Pacific Emanuel J. Drechsel, 2014-03-27 This volume presents a historical sociolinguistic description and analysis of Maritime Polynesian Pidgin It offers linguistic and sociohistorical substantiation for a regional Eastern Polynesian based pidgin and challenges conventional Eurocentric assumptions about early colonial contact in the eastern Pacific by arguing that Maritime Polynesian Pidgin preceded the introduction of Pidgin English by as much as a century Emanuel J Drechsel not only opens up new methodological avenues for historical sociolinguistic research in Oceania by a combination of philology and ethnohistory but also gives greater recognition to Pacific Islanders in early contact between cultures Students and researchers working on language contact language typology historical linguistics and sociolinguistics will want to read this book It redefines our understanding of how Europeans and Americans interacted with Pacific Islanders in Eastern Polynesia during early encounters and offers an alternative model of language contact

Culture and History in the Pacific Jukka Siikala, 2021-09-29 Culture and History in the Pacific is a collection of essays originally published in 1990 The texts explore from different perspectives the question of culture as a repository of historical information They also address broader questions of anthropological writing at the time such as the relationship between anthropologists representations and local conceptions This republication aims to make the book accessible to a wider audience and in the region it discusses Oceania A new introductory essay has been included to contextualize the volume in relation to its historical setting the end of the Cold War era and to the present study of the Pacific and indigenous scholarship The authors of Culture and History in the Pacific include prominent anthropologists of the Pacific some of whom Roger Keesing and Marilyn Strathern to name but two have also been influential in the anthropology of the late 20th and early 21st century in general

church be concerned about cultures Louis J Luzbetak began to answer this question twenty five years ago with the publication of The Church and Cultures An Applied Anthropology for the Religious Worker Reprinted six times and translated into five languages it became an undisputed classic in the field Now by popular demand Luzbetak has thoroughly rewritten his work completely updating it in light of contemporary anthropological and missiological thought and in face of current world conditions Serving as a handbook for a culturally sensitive ministry and witness The Church and Cultures introduces the non anthropologist to a wealth of scientific knowledge directly relevant to pastoral work religious education social action and liturgy in fact to all forms of missionary activity in the church It focuses on a burning theological issue that of contextualization the process by which a local church integrates its understanding of the Gospel text with the local culture context The Birth of Missions in America Charles L. Chaney,1976 Transforming Ethnohistories Sebastian Felix Braun,2013-08-26 Anthropologists need history to understand how the past has shaped the present Historians need anthropology to help them interpret the past Where anthropologists and historians needs intersect is ethnohistory The contributors to this volume have been inspired in large part by the teaching and writing of distinguished ethnohistorian Raymond J DeMallie whose exemplary combination of ethnographic and archival research demonstrates the ways anthropology and history can work together to create an understanding of the past and the present Transforming Ethnohistories comprises ten new avenues of ethnohistorical research ranging in topic from fiddling performances to environmental disturbance and spanning places from North Carolina to the Yukon The authors seek to understand communities by finding and interpreting their stories in a variety of different texts some of which lie outside academic understanding and research methodology It is exactly those stories conventionally labeled myths or oral tradition that ethnohistorians demand we pay attention to Although historians cannot see or talk to their informants as anthropologists do both anthropologists and historians can listen to oral histories and written documents for the essential stories they contain The essays assembled here use DeMallie s approach to contribute to the history and anthropology of Native North America and address issues of literary criticism and contexts sociolinguistics performance theory identity and historical change historical and anthropological methods and theory and the interpretation of histories cultures and stories Debates over the legitimacy of ethnohistory as a specialization have led some scholars to declare its decline This volume shows ethnohistory to be alive and well and continuing to attract young scholars Ethnohistory of the Pacific Coast Sandra Lee Orellana,1995

Violence in Pacific Islander Traditional Religions Garry Trompf,2022-01-27 An Element on the role of violence in the traditional religions of the Pacific Islands Melanesia Micronesia and Polynesia and on violent activity in islander religious life after the opening of Oceania to the modern world This work covers such issues as tribal warfare sorcery and witchcraft traditional punishment and gender imbalance and moves on to consider reprisals against foreign intruders in the Pacific and the continuation of old types of violence in spite of massive socio religious change Imagining The Pacific Bernard

Smith,2018-06-01 In this book Bernard Smith explores in more depth the issues first dealt with in his classic European Vision and the South Pacific. He continues his careful examination of how European artists and scientists travelling to the Pacific during the time of Cook's voyages were stimulated to see the world in new and creative ways. In analysing intensely personal responses to a new accessible environment Bernard Smith shows how science, topography and travel had an impact on current pictorial genres. Among many surprising findings he argues that the obligation science placed on art to provide information was a factor in the triumph of Impressionism during the late nineteenth century. With its breadth of vision and attention to detail its exploration of the complex relationship between the pursuit of knowledge and the exercise of power Imagining the Pacific takes its place alongside Bernard Smith's earlier work as a milestone in historical scholarship.

Pacific Island Heritage Jolie Liston, Geoffrey Richard Clark, Dwight Alexander, 2011-11-01 This volume emerges from a ground breaking conference held in the Republic of Palau on cultural heritage in the Pacific. It includes bold investigations of the role of cultural heritage in identity making and the ways in which community engagement informs heritage management practices. This is the first broad and detailed investigation of the unique and irreplaceable cultural heritage of the Pacific from a heritage management perspective. It identifies new trends in research and assesses relationships between archaeologists, heritage managers and local communities. The methods which emerge from these relationships will be critical to the effective management of heritage sites in the 21st century. A wonderful book which emerges from an extraordinary conference. Essential reading for cultural heritage managers, archaeologists and others with an interest in caring for the unique cultural heritage of the Pacific Islands.

The Ways of the People: Alan R. Tippett, Doug Priest, 2013-06-19 Alan Tippett's publications played a significant role in the development of missiology. The volumes in this series augment his distinguished reputation by bringing to light his many unpublished materials and hard to locate printed articles. These books encompassing theology, anthropology, history, area studies, religion and ethnohistory broaden the contours of the discipline. Missionaries and anthropologists have a tenuous relationship. While often critical of missionaries, anthropologists are indebted to missionaries for linguistic and cultural data as well as hospitality and introductions into the local community. In The Ways of the People Alan Tippett provides a critical history of missionary anthropology and brings together a superb reader of seminal anthropological contributions from missionaries: Edwin Smith, R. H. Codrington, Lorimer Fison, Diedrich Westermann, Henri Junod and many more. Twenty years as a missionary in Fiji, following pastoral ministry in Australia and graduate degrees in history and anthropology provide the rich database that made Alan R. Tippett a leading missiologist of the twentieth century. Tippett served as Professor of Anthropology and Oceanic Studies at Fuller Theological Seminary.

Introduction to Missiology Alan Richard Tippett, 1987 While teaching at Fuller School of World Mission, Tippett inspired and challenged the founding generation of great commission or church growth missiologists. This collection brings together almost 40 of his best writings. In a style that is both academic and personal, he deals first with missiological theory, then with anthropological and historical dimensions of missiology He then treats a number of specific missiological problems from these perspectives including seminal material on power encounters No Continuing City Alan R. Tippett, 2013-09-20 Alan Tippett's publications played a significant role in the development of missiology The volumes in this series augment his distinguished reputation by bringing to light his many unpublished materials and hard to locate printed articles These books encompassing theology anthropology history area studies religion and ethnohistory broaden the contours of the discipline As a gift to Edna and the children on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary Tippett completed his autobiography ironically just months prior to his death Containing personal reflections on his childhood and later mission experiences in the South Pacific relationship with Donald McGavran and the founding of the School of World Mission and retirement years in Australia No Continuing City is the inside story These are Tippett's Personal reflections that can be found in no other publication Twenty years as a missionary in Fiji following pastoral ministry in Australia and graduate degrees in history and anthropology provide the rich database that made Alan R Tippett a leading missiologist of the twentieth century Tippett served as Professor of Anthropology and Oceanic Studies at Fuller Theological Seminary
