Language Acquisition and Linguistic Theories Thom Huebner, Charles A. Ferguson, 1991-01-01 The term crosscurrent is defined as a current flowing counter to another This volume represents crosscurrents in second language acquisition and linguistic theory in several respects First although the main currents running between linguistics and second language acquisition have traditionally flowed from theory to application equally important contributions can be made in the other direction as well Second although there is a strong tendency in the field of linguistics to see theorists working within formal models of syntax SLA research can contribute to linguistic theory more broadly defined to include various functional as well as formal models of syntax theories of phonology variationist theories of sociolinguists etc These assumptions formed the basis for a conference held at Stanford University during the Linguistic Institute there in the summer of 1987 The conference was organized to update the relation between second language acquisition and linguistic theory This book contains a selection of mostly revised and updated papers of this conference and two newly written papers Phonological Acquisition and Phonological Theory John Archibald, 2014-03-05 Much of the work currently conducted within the framework of

Morphology of Reduplication Eric Raimy, 2012-10-25 This book proposes a new representational analysis of reduplication based on making explicit precedence relations in phonological representations The main claim is that reduplication results from loops in the precedence structure of phonological representations Modular rule based analyses of overapplication and underapplication effects including backcopying are presented to argue against the McCarthy and Prince 1995 claim that a derivational model of reduplication is conceptually and empirically inadequate Other sections of the book discuss the implications of explicit precedence information for the concatenation of morphemes the analysis of infixation and templates in reduplication Analyses of relevant phenomena from Indonesian Tohono Oodham Chaha Chumash and Nancowry among other languages are provided Geschichte der Sprachwissenschaften Sylvain Aurox, Herbert Ernst Wiegand, 2000
