of care from nurses in critical care and step down units to those in trauma and emergency departments Nurse educators at all degree levels will also find this book to be useful as a textbook and resource for students The authors provide evidence based practical guidelines for both the complex clinical and management aspects of care The book offers comprehensive coverage of all the issues caregivers need to be up to date on including the standards of practice for geriatric care new technologies pharmacotherapy pain management issues ethical issues and much more Key topics discussed Strategies for patient safety for older patients in the intensive care setting Family responses to critical care of the older adult Infection sepsis and immune function Understanding and managing sleep disorders in older patients in the ICU Heart failure in the critically ill older patient Substance abuse and withdrawal in elderly patients

Performance Indicators in Social Care for Older People David Challis,Paul Clarkson,2017-03-02 The growing focus on performance review and monitoring means that awareness and use of performance indicators has increased throughout a number of public services Set within a national context this book reviews the historical development and measurement issues of performance indicators within social care and the public sector for older people It then provides an approach to effective local performance measurement in services for older people and an organizing framework within which organizations can arrange their performance appraisal for older people s services The development of performance review in social care of older people is examined as is the process of developing local performance measures and engaging staff in enquiry and quality management The book also reviews the process of developing performance indicators and their utilization at an agency level Performance Indicators in Social Care for Older People will be of particular interest in the UK for local service providers who are developing approaches for local performance review It will also be of interest internationally especially in countries where services for older people are currently developing in a similar direction

The Oxford Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging Daniel B. Kaplan,Barbara Berkman,2016 This Second Edition of the Handbook addresses the evolving interdisciplinary health care context and the broader social work practice environment as well as advances in the knowledge base which guides social work service delivery in health and aging This includes recent enhancements in the theories of gerontology innovations in clinical interventions and major developments in the social policies that structure and finance health care and senior services In addition the policy reforms of the 2010 Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act set in motion a host of changes in the United States healthcare system with potentially profound implications for the programs and services which provide care to older adults and their families In this volume the most experienced and prominent gerontological health care scholars address a variety of populations that social workers serve and the arenas in which they practice followed by detailed recommendations of best practices for an array of physical and mental health conditions The volume s unprecedented attention to diversity health care trends and implications for practice research policy make the publication a major event in the field of gerontological social work This is a Must Read for all social work social work educators practitioners and students interested in older adults and their families Clinical Neurology of Aging Martin L. Albert, Janice E. Knoefel, 2011-03-03 This clinically focused book is designed to help clinicians help older persons maintain that joy Now divided into 9 comprehensive sections this edition contains subjects ranging from geriatric assessment to pain management and palliative care Health Measurement Scales David L. Streiner, Geoffrey R. Norman, John Cairney, 2024-02-08 Health Measurement Scales is the ultimate guide to appraising developing and validating measurement scales that are used in the health sciences Written in a clear and practical style this guide enables clinicians and researchers to both develop scales to measure subjective states and non tangible health outcomes as well as evaluate and differentiate among existing tools Topics presented in the order that scales are constructed how the individual items are developed biases that can affect responses various response options how to select the best items in the set how to combine them into a scale and finally how to determine the reliability and validity of the scale Fully updated to reflect recent developments in the field and the latest survey methods The new edition contains updated information on generalizability theory and item response theory and integration of qualitative research methods into scale design and testing Including guidelines appendices and checklists this useful book is a must read for any practitioner dealing with any kind of subjective measurement Family Care of Older People in Europe Ian Philp, 2001 Developing appropriate responses to an ageing population is recognized by policy makers throughout the developed world as a top priority as is the vital contribution made by family caregivers However cultural demographic and organizational differences between countries have encouraged diverse patterns of response to this common challenge This book provides a systematic cross cultural analysis of contemporary patterns and future trends in all major countries of the European Union Additional interest is provided by including Poland emerging from the post Communist block as the country at the forefront for joining the European Union The book should be useful to European policy makers and academics involved in studying the health and social care needs of older people and the capacity contribution and needs of family caregivers who provide care to older people The book is also relevant for policy makers and researchers in other countries mostly in North America and Australia who wish to study European approaches to supporting older people and family caregivers Comprehensive Casebook of Cognitive Therapy Frank M. Dattilio, 2013-06-29 This is the golden age of cognitive therapy Its popularity among society and the professional community is growing by leaps and bounds What is it and what are its limits What is the fundamental nature of cognitive therapy It is to my way of thinking simple but profound To understand it it is useful to think back to the history of behavior therapy to the basic development made by Joseph Wolpe In the 1950s Wolpe astounded the therapeutic world and infuriated his colleagues by finding a simple cure for phobias The psychoanalytic establishment held that phobias irrational and intense fear of certain objects such as cats were just surface manifestations of deeper underlying disorders The psychoanalysts said their source was the buried fear in male children of castration by the father in retaliation for the son's lust for his mother For females this fear is directed toward the opposite sex parent The biomedical theorists on the other hand claimed that some as yet undiscovered disorder in brain chemistry must be the underlying problem Both groups insisted that to treat only the patient s fear of cats would do no more good than it would to put rouge over measles Wolpe however reasoned that irrational fear of something isn t just a symptom of a phobia it is the whole phobia

Care of the Long-Stay Elderly Patient Michael J. Denham, 2013-11-11 Since the first edition of this book was published there have been considerable changes in continuing care NHS nursing homes have been created enthusiasts have developed new initiatives and attempts have been made to improve attitudes The recent White Paper on Community Care is likely to accelerate the transfer of large numbers of elderly patients from long stay hospital beds to private sector accommodation a move often accompanied by much anxiety about standards of care Although Health Authorities visit private nursing homes and apply the National Association of Health Authorities standards to them anxieties continue Unfortunately for the patients who remain in hospital many Health Authorities seem reluctant to apply these same standards to their own long stay departments since many would fail abysmally The 1987 annual report of the Health Advisory Service see Chapter 3 presents a damning indictment of the care given to old people A recent review of twelve consecutive HAS Reports on services for older people in hospitals shows that long stay wards consistently offered environments which were unable to offer privacy homely surroundings personal space and possessions or adequate furniture In the twelve districts there was not one comprehensive personalised clothing service Half of the reports commented on the lack of effective management of continence Catering was often provided according to the needs of the institution rather than those of the resident patients
