

4.0 Baseline Risk Assessment Update

This section updates the human health and the ecological risk assessments that were originally presented in the 1998 RI (DOE 1998a). The impacts on the 1998 risk assessments are summarized in Section 2.9.

4.1 Human Health Risk Assessment

Several activities completed since 1998 have contributed to changes in surface water and ground water concentrations. Activities that have impacted, or likely impacted surface water and ground water concentrations are

- Millsite Excavation (Section 2.1)
- Remediation of Soil and Sediment Along Montezuma Creek (Section 2.3)
- Millsite Dewatering and Treatment (Section 2.5)
- PRB Treatability Study (Section 2.6)

Surface water and ground water monitoring data have been used to refine the list of COCs (Section 2.7.1). Recent monitoring data (October 2002) are used in this HHRA update to assign exposure point concentrations in surface water and ground water.

Other activities since 1998 have acted to ensure that 1998 assumptions about current and future use of the contaminated alluvial aquifer and building habitable structures in supplemental standard areas along Montezuma Creek are valid for this update. These activities include implementation of a Ground Water Management Policy (Section 2.4.1) and restrictive easements (Section 2.4.2).

Other data collection activities (Section 2.8) have provided input to the current ground water model, which is used to predict future exposure point concentrations in ground water (Section 3.0).

In addition to new surface water and ground water exposure point concentrations and changes in the COCs, this update to the HHRA incorporates changes in published toxicity values and a refined approach for estimating dose. This section focuses on each of these changes and the resulting risk estimates; more detailed assumptions, information, and references are presented in Volume VI, Baseline Human Health Risk Assessment, of the 1998 RI (DOE 1998a). The detailed calculations used to estimate risks presented in this update are included in Appendix F.

4.1.1 Contaminants of Concern

Section 2.7.1 summarizes changes to the COC list that were made during the IRA. Table 4-1 lists the COCs and shows changes in the COCs since the original baseline risk assessment (DOE 1998a).

The Changing Governance of Renewable Natural Resources in Northwest Russia Soili Nysten-Haarala, 2016-04-01 Bringing together scholars of human geography environmental sociology law economics and international policy from Finland Russia Sweden and Germany this book examines how local communities and enterprises adjust to transition and institutional changes in Northwest Russia A unique and important facet of the book is that it analyzes the law and legal institutions focusing on how those involved in law use or abuse it in relation to unofficial institutions and the interplay of different interest groups in governing forest and fishery resources The local view is approached empirically with data gathered through interviews which is then compared against institutional change at national level and in the global arena Multidisciplinary in nature the book demonstrates innovative ways of adjusting to change combining old and new local and global and providing a holistic view of the Russian economy and a society in transition

Assessing Vulnerability to Global Environmental Change Richard J. T. Klein, Anthony G. Patt, 2012-05-16 Assessing the vulnerability of human populations to global environmental change particularly climate change is now the main imperative of research and international action However much of the research into vulnerability is not designed to feed directly into decision making and policy creating a gap between the knowledge created by researchers and what is required by decision makers This book seeks to rectify this problem and bridge the gap It discusses vulnerability as the central theme and brings together many different applications from disaster studies climate change impact studies and several other fields and provides the most comprehensive synthesis of definitions theories formalization and applications to date illustrated with examples from different disciplines regions and periods and from local through to regional national and international levels Case study topics cover sea level rise vulnerability to changes in ecosystem services assessing the vulnerability of human health and double exposure to climate change and trade liberalization amongst other issues Research outcomes stress that science policy dialogues must be transparent to be effective and concentrate on a mutual understanding of the concepts used A key research finding is that the most useful information for decision makers is that which shows the separate causes and drivers of vulnerability rather than presenting vulnerability in an aggregated form The book concludes with a unifying framework for analysing integrated methodologies of vulnerability assessment and guiding how research and policy can be linked to reduce vulnerability

The Income Tax Act: as amended by: The Finance Act, 2010 ,

The Carbon Farming Solution Eric Toensmeier, 2016-02-22 With carbon farming agriculture ceases to be part of the climate problem and becomes a critical part of the solution This book is the toolkit for making the soil itself a sponge for carbon It s a powerful vision Bill McKibben The Carbon Farming Solution is a book we will look back upon decades from now and wonder why something so critically relevant could have been so overlooked until that time It describes the foundation of the future of civilization Paul Hawken In this groundbreaking book Eric Toensmeier argues that agriculture specifically the subset of practices known as carbon farming can and should be a linchpin of a global climate solutions platform Carbon farming is a suite of agricultural practices and crops that sequester carbon in the soil and in above ground biomass Combined with a massive reduction in fossil fuel emissions and in concert with adaptation strategies to our changing environment carbon farming has the potential to bring us back from the brink of disaster and return our atmosphere to the magic number of 350 parts per million of carbon dioxide Toensmeier's book is the first to bring together these powerful strategies in one place Includes in depth analysis of the available research Carbon farming can take many forms The simplest practices involve modifications to annual crop production Although many of these modifications have relatively low sequestration potential they are widely applicable and easily adopted and thus have excellent potential to mitigate climate change if practiced on a global scale Likewise grazing systems such as silvopasture are easily replicable don't require significant changes to human diet and given the amount of agricultural land worldwide that is devoted to pasture can be important strategies in the carbon farming arsenal But by far agroforestry practices and perennial crops present the best opportunities for sequestration While many of these systems are challenging to establish and manage and would require us to change our diets to new and largely unfamiliar perennial crops they also offer huge potential that has been almost entirely ignored by climate crusaders Many of these carbon farming practices are already implemented globally on a scale of millions of hectares These are not minor or marginal efforts but win win solutions that provide food fodder and feedstocks while fostering community self reliance creating jobs protecting biodiversity and repairing degraded land all while sequestering carbon reducing emissions and ultimately contributing to a climate that will remain amenable to human civilization Just as importantly to a livable future these crops and practices can contribute to broader social goals such as women's empowerment food sovereignty and climate justice The Carbon Farming Solution is at its root a toolkit and the most complete collection of climate friendly crops and practices currently available With this toolkit farmers communities and governments large and small can successfully launch carbon farming projects with the most appropriate crops and practices to their climate locale and socioeconomic needs Toensmeier's ultimate goal is to place carbon farming firmly in the center of the climate solutions platform alongside clean solar and wind energy With The Carbon Farming Solution Toensmeier wants to change the discussion impact policy decisions and steer mitigation funds to the research projects and people around the world who envision a future where agriculture becomes the protagonist in this fraught urgent and unprecedented drama of our time Citizens farmers and funders will be inspired to use the tools presented in this important book to transform degraded lands around the world into productive carbon storing landscapes
