Bird Man:

The Bird Man of Brisbane Louis Pigott, 2012-03-14 When Silvester Diggles arrived in 1855 there was little artistic or scientific talent in the small frontier town of Brisbane By the time of his death in 1880 his paramount legacy was a large book on Australian birds profusely illustrated with hand coloured lithographs Acting as his own publisher from 1865 onwards Diggles produced the first substantial zoological work to commence publication in Australia The compilation and content of this rare work of art and natural history is examined here in the light of Diggles life and times as well as his ornithological predecessors and contemporaries So too is his role in establishing the first scientific society and museum in Queensland Also presented in this lavishly illustrated publication are colour plates from his bird book and some of his original bird paintings for the first time Diggles was indeed the preeminent birdman of his day not only in Brisbane but also Queensland if not Australia wide Dr Rod Fisher Brisbane historian

The Birdman of Auschwitz Nicholas Milton, 2025-03-30 Dr G nther Niethammer an ornithologist conducted bird surveys at Auschwitz ignoring atrocities earning the title Birdman of Auschwitz When Soviet troops were liberating Auschwitz concentration camp in January 1945 among the piles of half burnt corpses and emaciated prisoners left behind they were amazed to find nesting boxes for birds The same boxes were found in the walled garden at the house of Rudolf Hoess the notorious camp commandant In his safe they also discovered a research paper on the birds of Auschwitz with a personal dedication It read I owe this to the great understanding which the commandant of Konzentrationslager Auschwitz SS Sturmbannführer H gave to the scientific development of this area and the research tasks that the German expansion in the East brings with it The nesting boxes and research paper belonged to one of the most erudite but naive guards ever to serve at the camp Dr G nther Niethammer On his arrival in 1940 Niethammer s passion for birds soon became known throughout Auschwitz and led to him being assigned to special duties by Hoess So instead of guard duties Niethammer shot game to order for commandant and conducted the most infamous bird survey of all time Turning a blind eye to the heinous treatment of the prisoners and the extermination of the Jews Niethammer instead shot birds and created a macabre museum of bird skins at the camp working with one of the inmates After leaving Auschwitz he carried out further bird surveys in occupied Crete Bulgaria and Italy When the war was finally over Niethammer was put on trial but spent just 3 years in prison before returning to the Museum Koenig where his career although tainted by association with Auschwitz still flourished until his death in 1974 This is the story of the one of the greatest ornithologists of his generation who was seduced by the Nazis and became The Birdman of Auschwitz
