Birding The Front Range

George E. Lowe

Birding The Front Range:

Birding the Front Range Robert Folzenlogen, 1995 Colorado's Front Range is one of the best birdwatching areas in North America. Within a span of 40 miles, elevations range from 5,000 to 14,000 feet representing five distinct life zones. Birders can spend the morning watching grebes, pelicans, and egrets in the South Platte Valley and by afternoon search for pipits and ptarmigan on the alpine tundra. This guide designed primarily for beginning bird watchers and for those visiting our region places emphasis on the natural habitats of the Front Range and on birding highlights that occur throughout the year. Chapter I describes the Front Range life zones while Chapter II guides birders through the seasons ensuring exposure to a wide variety of species. Chapter III provides a checklist of Front Range birds including a time and place for finding each species and the book's Appendix lists regional conservation organizations that are working to protect our vital wildlife habitats. Book jacket

Birding Colorado Hugh Kingery, 2023-05-15 Birding Colorado is a guide to the best bird watching sites in Colorado from national parks and wildlife refuges to marshes, mountains, and canyons. Organized by region, each site description informs readers on habitats, visiting information, and birds you'll encounter. What sets this book apart is the extra information on bird status and bird habitat that has made it more than a mere site guide and earned a place in the Denver Audubon's curriculum. Inside You'll Find 90 site descriptions, Detailed regional locator maps, Birds listed by habitat, Checklists of birds to see during the year including their habitat and best sites, listed Color photos of likely birds for each site

Birding Under the Influence Dorian Anderson, 2023-11-02 At a personal and professional crossroads, a man resets his life and finds sobriety, love, and 618 bird species cycling his way to a very Big Year. In Birding Under the Influence, Dorian Anderson, a neuroscience researcher on a pressure-filled life trajectory, walks away from the world of elite institutions, research labs, and academic publishing. In doing so, he falls in love and discovers he has freed himself to embrace his lifelong passion for birding. A North American Big Year, a continent-spanning adventure in which a birder attempts to see as many species as possible in twelve months, is a massive undertaking under any circumstances. But doing it on a bike while maintaining sobriety, that's next level. As Dorian pedals across the country describing the birds he sees, he confronts the challenges of long distance cycling, treacherous weather, punctured tires, speeding cars, and injury. He encounters eccentric characters, blistering blacktop, dreary hotel rooms, snarling dogs, and an endless sea of smoking tailpipes. He also confronts his past struggles with alcohol, drugs, and risky behaviors that began in high school and followed him into adulthood. Birding Under the Influence is a candid, honest look at Dorian's double life of academic accomplishment and addiction. While his journey to recovery is simultaneously poignant and inspiring, it is ultimately his love of birds and nature that provides the scaffolding to build a new and radically different life.

Wings over the Great Plains: Bird Migrations in the Central Flyway Paul Johnsgard, 2012-11-19 The Central

Flyway has been recognized as a collective North South migratory pathway centered on the North American Great Plains for nearly a century but it has never been analyzed as the species that most closely follow it or the major stopping points used by those species on their journeys between their northern breeding and southern wintering grounds A total of 114 U S and 21 Canadian localities of special importance to birds migrating within the Central Flyway are identified and described in detail Judging from available regional state and local information nearly 400 species of 50 avian families regularly use the Central Flyway during their migrations Nearly 90 Central Flyway species have wintering areas partly extending variably far into the Neotropic zoogeographic realm and at least 50 of these winter entirely within the Neotropic realm A few of these species undertake some of the longest known migrations of all birds in excess of 8 000 miles in each direction Seven maps 49 figures and over 100 literature citations are included Abstract The Distribution of Bird Life in the Urubamba Valley of practical conservation of wild birds The authors worked with an international group of bird experts and conservationists to develop a global list of interventions that could benefit wild birds For each intervention the book summarises studies captured by the Conservation Evidence project where that intervention has been tested and its effects on birds quantified The result is a thorough guide to what is known or not known about the effectiveness of bird conservation actions throughout the world The preparation of this synopsis was funded by the Natural Environment Research Council and Arcadia
