Rich and Strange Marianne DeKoven, 1991-10-27 Like the products of the sea change described in Ariel s song in The Tempest modernist writing is rich and strange Its greatness lies in its density and its dislocations which have until now been viewed as a repudiation of and an alternative to the cultural implications of turn of the century political radicalism Marianne DeKoven argues powerfully to the contrary maintaining that modernist form evolved precisely as a means of representing the terrifying appeal of movements such as socialism and feminism Organized around pairs and groups of female and male signed texts the book reveals the gender inflected ambivalence of modernist writers Male modernists desiring utter change nevertheless feared the loss of hegemony it might entail while female modernists feared punishment for desiring such change With water imagery as a focus throughout DeKoven provides extensive new readings of canonical modernist texts and of works in the feminist and African American canons not previously considered modernist Building on insights of Luce Irigaray Klaus Theweleit and Jacques Derrida she finds in modernism a paradigm of unresolved contradiction that enacts in the realm of form an alternative to patriarchal gender relations Birds in Our Lives United States. Lyrics Without Music Joseph Morales, 2022-05-04 Do you sometimes have those moments where you are extremely astounded and out of words You knew you have a message for this perfect tune you have just prepared And you don t want to end up producing something just because it sounds right to your music You still want to preserve the identity of your songs conveying particular message and emotion The human voice is an important instrument in music style and it needs to have some words to sing Lyrics without Music is a collection of conversational poetry like expressions that can be perfectly used as lyrics for your music The words written in this book are intentionally formed with syllables that could become rhythms in possible melodies A collection of various expressions about life and love even noncomposers may find delight in reading and even singing this book

A Historical Taxonomy of Talking Birds in Chinese Literature Wilt L.

Idema, 2025-03-04 Parrots and mynahs have played a unique role in Chinese literature for two millennia. These birds that can talk and interact intelligently with their owners were treasured as pets both in the palace and in private homes. The caged birds were pitied for their homesickness but praised for their eagerness to serve. Over time they developed into exemplars of Confucian values such as filial piety and loyalty and they also featured prominently in tales of love and war. Closely associated with Buddhism from early on, the parrot proved itself an effective preacher of the Dharma and became the favorite bird of the bodhisattva Guanyin. In this wide-ranging thematic study, Wilt L. Idema traces the development of the parrot and the mynah as characters in many forms of poetry and prose of Chinese elite literature as well as in the long narrative ballads of traditional popular literature. The book provides complete renditions of Mi Heng's 173-198 Rhapsody on the Parrot, the anonymous Tale of the Parrot's Filial Piety of the fifteenth century and the anonymous Precious Scroll of the Parrot of late imperial times. An epilogue discusses the disappearance of the parrot in modern Chinese literature.

Favourite Song Birds Henry Gardiner Adams, 1889 Woodworth's Youth's Cabinet, 1852 The Standard Speaker Epes Sargent, 1852 Youth's Cabinet Francis Channing Woodworth, 1852 American Miscellany of Entertaining Knowledge Francis Channing Woodworth, 1852 Metaphors of Confinement Monika Fludernik, 2019

Metaphors of Confinement: The Prison in Fact, Fiction and Fantasy offers a historical survey of imaginings of the prison as expressed in carceral metaphors in a range of texts about imprisonment from Antiquity to the present as well as non-penal situations described as confining or restrictive. These imaginings coalesce into a carceral imaginary that determines the way we think about prisons just as social debates about punishment and criminals feed into the way carceral imaginary develops over time. Examining not only English language prose fiction but also poetry and drama from the Middle Ages to postcolonial, particularly African literature, the book juxtaposes literary and non-literary contexts and contrasts fictional and nonfictional representations of imprisonment and discussions about the prison as institution and experiential reality. It comments on present-day trends of punitivity and foregrounds the ethical dimensions of penal punishment. The main argument concerns the continuity of carceral metaphors through the centuries despite historical developments that included major shifts in policy such as the invention of the penitentiary. The study looks at selected carceral metaphors often from two complementary perspectives such as the home as prison or the prison as home or the factory as prison and the prison as factory. The case studies present particularly relevant genres and texts that employ these metaphors often from a historical perspective that analyses development through different periods.
