Birds of the Salton Sea Michael Patten, Guy McCaskie, Philip Unitt, 2003-08-19 The Salton Sea California's largest inland lake supports a spectacular bird population that is among the most concentrated and most diverse in the world Sadly this crucial stopover along the Pacific Flyway for migratory and wintering shorebirds landbirds and waterfowl is dangerously close to collapse from several environmental threats This book is the first thoroughly detailed book to describe the birds of Salton Sea more than 450 species and subspecies in all A major contribution to our knowledge about the birds of western North America it will also be an important tool in the struggle to save this highly endangered area Synthesizing data from many sources including observations from their long term work in the area the authors species accounts discuss each bird's abundance seasonal status movement patterns biogeographic affinities habitat associations and more This valuable reference also includes general information on the region's fascinating history and biogeography making it an unparalleled resource for the birding community for wildlife managers and for conservation biologists concerned with one of the most threatened ecosystems in western North America

The Salton Sea Centennial Symposium Stuart H. Hurlbert, 2009-01-29 This volume deals with many aspects of the physical and chemical limnology of the Salton Sea California's largest lake and a lake that may soon to be the object of a multi billion dollar restoration project Formed in 1905 by an accidental breaching of outtake structures on the Colorado River and maintained since then by large and steady inflows of agricultural wastewaters it has long served as an important habitat for fish and waterbirds and as a major recreational area for people Highly eutrophic and with a salinity that is steadily rising and now nearly 50 g/L it is a lake in great trouble Most fish species have disappeared and large fish and bird dieoffs have been common in recent decades Many of the papers in this volume represent studies undertaken with the aim of informing the re engineering of this ecosystem so that its value to wildlife and
