Black Atlantic:

The Black Atlantic Paul Gilroy, 1993 An account of the location of black intellectuals in the modern world following the end of racial slavery The lives and writings of key African Americans such as Martin Delany W E B Dubois Frederick Douglass and Richard Wright are examined in the light of their experiences in Europe and Africa

The Black Atlantic Paul Gilroy, 1993 Afrocentrism Eurocentrism Caribbean Studies British Studies To the forces of cultural nationalism hunkered down in their camps this bold hook sounds a liberating call There is Paul Gilroy tells us a culture that is not specifically African American Caribbean or British but all of these at once a black Atlantic culture whose themes and techniques transcend ethnicity and nationality to produce something new and until now unremarked Challenging the practices and assumptions of cultural studies The Black Atlantic also complicates and enriches our understanding of modernism Debates about postmodernism have cast an unfashionable pall over questions of historical periodization Gilroy bucks this trend by arguing that the development of black culture in the Americas and Europe is a historical experience which can be called modern for a number of clear and specific reasons For Hegel the dialectic of master and slave was integral to modernity and Gilroy considers the implications of this idea for a transatlantic culture In search of a poetics reflecting the politics and history of this culture he takes us on a transatlantic tour of the music that for centuries has transmitted racial messages and feeling around the world from the Jubilee Singers in the nineteenth century to Jimi Hendrix to rap He also explores this internationalism as it is manifested in black writing from the double consciousness of W E B Du Bois to the double vision of Richard Wright to the compelling voice of Toni Morrison In a final tour de force Gilroy exposes the shared contours of black and Jewish concepts of diaspora in order both to establish a theoretical basis for healing rifts between blacks and Jews in contemporary culture and to further define the central theme of his book that blacks have shaped a nationalism if not a nation within the shared culture of the black Atlantic

New Perspectives on the Black Atlantic Bénédicte Ledent, Pilar Cuder Domínguez, 2012 This collection of essays attempts to expand the notion of the Black Atlantic beyond its original racial geographical linguistic and cultural borders while acknowledging its remarkable ability to disturb established historical truths and to go beyond traditional dichotomies thereby providing an essential tool for cross cultural understanding It is divided into four sections each of them dealing with a different approach to the question of the Black Atlantic Definitions touches on the various limitations of Gilroy's original concept Readings focuses on how the Black Atlantic can be productively used in readings of certain literary texts Practices shifts towards the practical applications of the concept in order to explore the impact it has had on academic disciplines and examine to what extent it may have altered their epistemology and working procedures Finally Dialogues engages with the Black Atlantic from the perspectives of two creative writers whose work includes transatlantic themes and characters

Black Women and Energies of Resistance in Nineteenth-Century Haitian and American Literature Mary Grace Albanese, 2023-11-23 Black Women and Energies of Resistance in

Nineteenth Century Haitian and American Literature intervenes in traditional narratives of 19th century American modernity by situating Black women at the center of an increasingly connected world While traditional accounts of modernity have emphasized advancements in communication technologies animal and fossil fuel extraction and the rise of urban centers Mary Grace Albanese proposes that women of African descent combated these often violent regimes through diasporic spiritual beliefs and practices including spiritual possession rootwork midwifery mesmerism prophecy and wandering It shows how these energetic acts of resistance were carried out on scales large and small from the constrained corners of the garden plot to the expansive circuits of global migration By examining the concept of energy from narratives of technological progress capital accrual and global expansion this book uncovers new stories that center Black women at the heart of a pulsating revolutionary world

From Black to Schwarz Maria Diedrich, Jürgen Heinrichs, 2011 From Black to Schwarz explores the long and varied history of the exchanges between African America and Germany with a particular focus on cultural interplay Covering a wide range of media of expression music performance film scholarship literature visual arts reviews the essays collected in this volume trace and analyze a cultural interaction collaboration and mutual transformation that began in the eighteenth century literally boomed during the Harlem Renaissance Weimar Republic could not even be liquidated by the Third Reich's Degenerate Art campaigns and with new media available to further exchanges is still increasingly empowering and inspiring participants on both sides of the Atlantic

African Diasporas in the New and Old Worlds Klaus Benesch, Geneviève Fabre, 2004 In the humanities the term diaspora recently emerged as a promising and powerful heuristic concept It challenged traditional ways of thinking and invited reconsiderations of theoretical assumptions about the unfolding of cross cultural and multi ethnic societies about power relations frontiers and boundaries about cultural transmission communication and translation The present collection of essays by renowned writers and scholars addresses these issues and helps to ground the ongoing debate about the African diaspora in a more solid theoretical framework Part I is dedicated to a general discussion of the concept of African diaspora its origins and historical development Part II examines the complex cultural dimensions of African diasporas in relation to significant sites and figures including the modes and modalities of creative expression from the perspective of both artists writers and their audiences finally Part III focusses on the resources collections and archives and iconographies that are available today As most authors argue the African diaspora should not be seen merely as a historical phenomenon but also as an idea or ideology and an object of representation By exploring this new ground the essays assembled here provide important new insights for scholars in American and African American Studies Cultural Studies Ethnic Studies and African Studies The collection is rounded off by an annotated listing of black autobiographies

Lisa Disch, Mary Hawkesworth, 2018-02-01 The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory provides a rich overview of the analytical frameworks and theoretical concepts that feminist theorists have developed to analyze the known world. Featuring leading feminist theorists from diverse regions of the globe, this collection delves into forty-nine subject areas demonstrating the complexity of feminist challenges to established knowledge while also engaging areas of contestation within feminist theory. Demonstrating the interdisciplinary nature of feminist theory, the chapters offer innovative analyses of topics central to social and political science, cultural studies, and humanities discourses associated with medicine and science and issues in contemporary critical theory that have been transformed through feminist theorization. The handbook identifies limitations of key epistemic assumptions that inform traditional scholarship and shows how theorizing from women's and men's lives has profound effects on the conceptualization of central categories, whether the field of analysis is aesthetics, biology, cultural studies, development, economics, film studies, health, history, literature, politics, religion, science studies, sexualities, violence, or war.

Duvalier's Ghosts Jana Evans Braziel, 2017-05-24 Urgently pursues those nameless ghosts of Haitians lost in the liminal space of the Black Atlantic. New West Indian Guide Foregrounds the experiences of refugees, particularly those refused asylum and detained in camps, the political mobilization of the diaspora in the United States, the ramifications of the policies and adjustment programmes imposed on Haiti by the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, and USAID.

Bulletin of Latin American Research Theoretically sound and well researched, Braziel has written a compelling book on the literatures of post-Duvalier Haiti. Millery Polyne, New York University. A very original study, a tour de force that crisscrosses the disciplinary boundaries typically separating the social sciences and the humanities. It is richly researched, beautifully written, and will surely attract much critical attention and praise.

Valerie Kaussen, University of Missouri. From a position of urgent political engagement, this provocative book offers novel and compelling interpretations of several well-known Haitian-born authors, particularly regarding U.S. intervention in their homeland. Drawing on the diasporic cultural texts of several authors such as Edwidge Danticat and Dany Laferrière, Jana Evans Braziel examines how writers participate in transnational movements for global social justice. In their fictional works, they discuss the United States' many interventionist methods in Haiti, including surveillance, foreign aid, and military assistance. Through their work, they reveal that the majority of Haitians do not welcome these intrusions and actively criticize U.S. treatment of Haitians in both countries. Braziel encourages us to analyze the instability and violence of small nations like Haiti within the larger frame of international financial and military institutions and forms of imperialism. She forcefully argues that by reading these works as anti-imperialist, much can be learned about why Haitians and Haitian exiles often have negative perceptions of the U.S.

Re-membering the Black Atlantic Lars Eckstein, 2006 The Atlantic slave trade continues to haunt the cultural memories of Africa, Europe, and the Americas. There is a prevailing desire to forget. While victims of the African diaspora tried to flee the sites of trauma, enlightened Westerners preferred to be oblivious to the discomfiting complicity between their enlightenment and chattel.

slavery Recently however fiction writers have ventured to re member the Black Atlantic This book is concerned with how literature performs as memory It sets out to chart systematically the ways in which literature and memory intersect and offers readings of three seminal Black Atlantic novels

Sex, Sea, and Self Jacqueline Couti, 2021 Sex Sea and Self is a timely and original contribution to French Caribbean studies that expands scholarly work on Caribbean thought which does not start with Aimé Césaire's Négritude or Frantz Fanon's disalienation and the creation of a new humanity but with overlooked yet pivotal texts written between 1924 1948

Making Black History Dominique Haensell, 2021-10-04 This study proposes that rather than trying to discern the normative value of Afropolitanism as an identificatory concept politics ethics or aesthetics Afropolitanism may be best approached as a distinct

historical and cultural moment that is a certain historical constellation that allows us to glimpse the shifting and multiple silhouettes which Africa as signifier as real and imagined locus embodies in the globalized yet predominantly Western cultural landscape of the 21st century As such Making Black History looks at contemporary fictions of the African or Black Diaspora that have been written and received in the moment of Afropolitanism Discursively this moment is very much part of a diasporic conversation that takes place in the US and is thus informed by various negotiations of blackness race class and cultural identity Yet rather than interpreting Afropolitan literatures merely as a rejection of racial solidarity as some commentators have they should be read as ambivalent responses to post racial discourses dominating the first decade of the 21st century particularly in the US which oscillate between moments of intense hope and acute disappointment Please read our interview with Dominique Haensell here <https://blog.degruyter.com/de-gruyters-10th-open-access-book-anniversary-dominique-haensell-and-her-winning-title-making-black-history> Making the Black Atlantic James Walvin, 2016-10-06 The British role in the shaping of the African diaspora was central the British carried more Africans across the Atlantic than any other nation and their colonial settlements in the Caribbean and North America absorbed vast numbers of Africans The crops produced by those slaves helped to lay the foundations for Western material well being and their associated cultural habits helped to shape key areas of Western sociability that survive to this day Britain was also central in the drive to end slavery in her own possessions and elsewhere in the world Making the Black Atlantic presents a coherent story of Britain's role in the African diaspora its origins progress and transformation
