Kuhn, 1987-01-15 A masterly assessment of the way the idea of quanta of radiation became part of 20th century physics The book not only deals with a topic of importance and interest to all scientists but is also a polished literary work described accurately by one of its original reviewers as a scientific detective story John Gribbin New Scientist Every scientist should have this book Paul Davies New Scientist

The Cambridge Companion to the Black Body in American Literature Cherene Sherrard-Johnson, 2024-05-16 This volume tracks and uncovers the Black body as a persistent presence and absence in American literature It provides an invaluable guide for teachers and students interested in literary representations of Blackness and embodiment It centers Black thinking about Black embodiment from current diverse and intersectional perspectives Recovering the Black Female Body Michael Bennett, Vanessa D. Dickerson, 2001 Recovering the Black Female Body recognizes the pressing need to highlight through scholarship the vibrant energy of African American women s attempts to wrest control of the physical and symbolic construction of their bodies away from the distortions of others America and the Black Body Carol E. Henderson, 2009 America and the Black Body is a timely exploration into the creative literary and visual uses of the black body in American print and visual culture More specifically this volume contemplates the social development of American identity and the multifarious ways this identity coalesces in the small gestures of preclusion that establish discernable markers of national belonging Such investigations underscore issues of power and disenfranchisement of race class and gender that mediate the representations of the black male and the black female body in real and imagined ways as it also reveals the invisible social and political ties that connect white men and women s identities to these racial imaginings Book Jacket Punishing the Black Body Dawn P. Harris, 2017-12 Punishing the Black Body examines the punitive and disciplinary technologies and ideologies embraced by ruling white elites in nineteenth century Barbados and Jamaica Among studies of the Caribbean on similar topics this is the first to look at the meanings inscribed on the raced gendered and classed bodies on the receiving end of punishment Dawn P Harris uses theories of the body to detail the ways colonial states and their agents appropriated physicality to debase the black body assert the inviolability of the white body and demarcate the social boundaries between them Noting marked demographic and geographic differences between Jamaica and Barbados as well as any number of changes within the separate economic political and social trajectories of each island Harris still finds that societal infractions by the subaltern populations of both islands brought on draconian forms of punishments aimed at maintaining the socio racial hierarchy Her investigation ranges across such topics as hair cropping the 1836 Emigration Act of Barbados and other punitive legislation the state reprisals following the 1865 Morant Bay Rebellion in Jamaica the use of the whip and the treadmill in jails and houses of correction and methods of surveillance policing and limiting free movement By focusing on meanings ascribed to the disciplined and punished body Harris reminds us that the transitions between slavery apprenticeship and post emancipation were not just a series of abstract phenomena signaling shifts in the prevailing order of things For a large part of these islands populations these times of dramatic change were physically felt
