Sensational Modernism Joseph B. Entin, 2012-09-01 Challenging the conventional wisdom that the 1930s were dominated by literary and photographic realism Sensational Modernism uncovers a rich vein of experimental work by politically progressive artists Examining images by photographers such as Weegee and Aaron Siskind and fiction by writers such as William Carlos Williams Richard Wright Tillie Olsen and Pietro di Donato Joseph Entin argues that these artists drew attention to the country's most vulnerable residents by using what he calls an aesthetic of astonishment focused on startling graphic images of pain injury and prejudice Traditional portrayals of the poor depicted stoic passive figures of sentimental suffering or degraded but potentially threatening figures in need of supervision Sensational modernists sought to shock middle class audiences into new ways of seeing the nation's impoverished and outcast populations The striking images these artists created often taking the form of contorted or disfigured bodies drawn from the realm of the tabloids pulp magazines and cinema represented a bold experimental form of social aesthetics Entin argues that these artists created a willfully unorthodox brand of vernacular modernism in which formal avant garde innovations were used to delineate the conditions contradictions and pressures of life on the nation's fringes

Blaxploitation Films of the 1970s Novotny Lawrence, 2007-12-12 During the early years of the motion picture industry black performers were often depicted as shuckin' and jivin' caricatures Specifically black males were portrayed as toms coons and bucks while the mammy and tragic mulatto archetypes circumscribed black femininity This misrepresentation began to change in the 1950s and 1960s when performers such as Dorothy Dandridge and Sidney Poitier were cast in more positive roles These performers paved the way for the black exploitation or blaxploitation movement which began in 1970 and flourished until 1975 The movement is characterized by films that feature a black hero or heroine black supporting characters a predominately black urban setting a display of black sexuality excessive violence and a contemporary rhythm and blues soundtrack Blaxploitation films were made across varying genres but the questionable elements of some of the pictures caused them to be referred to as blaxploitation films with little or no regard given to their generic categorization This book examines how Cotton Comes to Harlem 1970 Blacula 1972 The Mack 1973 and Cleopatra Jones 1973 can be classified within the detective horror gangster and cop action genres respectively and illustrates the manner in which the inclusion of blackness represents a significant revision to the aforementioned genres

Routledge International Handbook of Visual Criminology Michelle Brown,Eamonn Carrabine,2017-07-06 Dynamically written and richly illustrated the Routledge

International Handbook of Visual Criminology offers the first foundational primer on visual criminology. Spanning a variety of media and visual modes, this volume assembles established researchers whose work is essential to understanding the role of the visual in criminology and emergent thinkers whose work is taking visual criminology in new directions. This book is divided into five parts that each highlight a key aspect of visual criminology, exploring the diversity of methods, techniques, and theoretical approaches currently shaping the field. Part I introduces formative positions in the developments of visual criminology and explores the different disciplines that have contributed to analysing images. Part II explores visual representations of crime across film, graphic art, documentary, police photography, press coverage, and graffiti and urban aesthetics. Part III discusses the relationship of visual criminology to criminal justice institutions like policing, punishment, and law. Part IV focuses on the distinctive ethical problems posed by the image, reflecting on the historical development, theoretical disputes, and methodological issues involved. Part V identifies new frameworks and emergent perspectives and reflects upon the distinctive challenges and limits that can be seen in this emerging field. This book includes a vibrant colour plate section and over a hundred black and white images breaking down the barriers between original photography and artwork, historic paintings and illustrations, and modern comics and films. This interdisciplinary book will be of interest to criminologists, sociologists, visual ethnographers, art historians, and those engaged with media studies.

Dames in the Driver's Seat Jans B. Wager, 2009-03-06. With its focus on dangerous, determined femmes fatales, hardboiled detectives, and crimes that almost but never quite succeed, film noir has long been popular with moviegoers and film critics alike. Film noir was a staple of classical Hollywood filmmaking during the years 1941-1958 and has enjoyed a resurgence in popularity since the 1990s. Dames in the Driver's Seat offers new views of both classical era and contemporary noirs through the lenses of gender, class, and race. Jans Wager analyzes how changes in film noir's representation of women's and men's roles, class status, and racial identities mirror changes in a culture that is now often referred to as postmodern and postfeminist. Following introductory chapters that establish the theoretical basis of her arguments, Wager engages in close readings of the classic noirs The Killers, Out of the Past, and Kiss Me Deadly and the contemporary noirs L.A. Confidential, Mulholland Falls, Fight Club, Twilight, Fargo, and Jackie Brown. Wager divides recent films into retro noirs made in the present but set in the 1940s and 1950s and neo noirs made and set in the present but referring to classic noir narratively or stylistically. Going beyond previous studies of noir, her perceptive readings of these films reveal that retro noirs fulfill a reactionary social function, looking back nostalgically to outdated gender roles and racial relations, while neo noirs often offer more revisionary representations of women, though not necessarily of people of color.

The Cambridge Companion to American Literature of the 1930s William Solomon, 2018-09-20. Offers a timely introduction to the intersection of radical politics and American literature in the period of the Great Depression.

The Blue Period Jesse McCarthy, 2024-04-25. Addresses the political and aesthetic evolution of African American literature and its authors during the Cold War, an era McCarthy calls the Blue Period In the years after World War II to be a black writer was to face a stark predicament The contest between the Soviet Union and the United States was a global one an ideological battle that dominated almost every aspect of the cultural agenda On the one hand was the Soviet Union espousing revolutionary communism that promised egalitarianism while being hostile to conceptions of personal freedom On the other hand was the United States a country steeped in racial prejudice and the policies of Jim Crow Black writers of this time were equally alienated from the left and the right Jesse McCarthy argues and they channeled that alienation into remarkable experiments in literary form Embracing racial affect and interiority they forged an aesthetic resistance premised on fierce dissent from both US racial liberalism and Soviet communism From the end of World War II to the rise of the Black Power movement in the 1960s authors such as Richard Wright James Baldwin Gwendolyn Brooks and Paule Marshall defined a distinctive moment in American literary culture that McCarthy terms the Blue Period In McCarthy s hands this notion of the Blue Period provides a fresh critical framework that challenges long held disciplinary and archival assumptions Black writers in the early Cold War went underground McCarthy argues not to depoliticize or liberalize their work but to make it more radical keeping alive affective commitments for a future time

Networking Women Marina Camboni,2004      Transfigurations Asbjørn Grønstad,2008 In many senses viewers have cut their teeth on the violence in American cinema from Anthony Perkins slashing Janet Leigh in the most infamous of shower scenes to the 1970s masterpieces of Martin Scorsese Sam Peckinpah and Francis Ford Coppola to our present day undertakings in imagining global annihilations through terrorism war and alien grudges Transfigurations brings our cultural obsession with film violence into a renewed dialogue with contemporary theory Gr nstad argues that the use of violence in Hollywood films should be understood semiotically rather than viewed realistically Tranfigurations thus alters both our methodology of reading violence in films and the meanings we assign to them depicting violence not as a self contained incident but as a convoluted network of our own cultural ideologies and beliefs
