Joanne Entwistle, 2009-11-15 Fashion is bound up with promoting the new concerned with constantly changing aesthetics The favored styles or looks of a season arise out of the work of a vast range of different actors who collectively produce select distribute and promote the new ideals before moving on next season If fashion is defined in part by the incessant requirement to be new this requirement means aesthetic qualities are always in motion and therefore unstable How then are fashionable commodities stabilized long enough for them to be calculated i e selected distributed and sold by those critically placed inside the fashion system Since there are few studies that actually examine the work that goes on inside the world of fashion we know little about these processes Fashion and the Cultural Economy addresses this gap in our knowledge by examining how aesthetic products are defined distributed and valued It focuses attention on the work of some of the market agents in particular model agents or bookers and fashion buyers shaping the aesthetics inside their markets In analyzing their work Entwistle develops a theoretical framework for understanding the distinctive features of aesthetic marketplaces and the aesthetic calculations within them Ebony, 1997-11 EBONY is the flagship magazine of Johnson Publishing Founded in 1945 by John H Johnson it still maintains the highest global circulation of any African American focused magazine

The International Politics of Fashion Andreas Behnke, 2016-07-07 This book seeks to address and fill a puzzling omission in contemporary critical IR scholarship Following on from the aesthetic turn in IR critical and postmodern IR has produced an impressive array of studies into movies literature music and art and the way these media produce mediate and represent international politics By contrast the proponents of the aesthetic turn have overlooked fashion as a source of knowledge about global politics Yet stories about the political role of fashion abound in the news media Margaret Thatcher used dress to define her political image and more recently the fascination with Michelle Obama Carla Bruni and other women in similar positions and the discussions about the appropriateness of their wardrobes regularly makes the news In Sudan a female writer and activist successfully challenged the government over her right to wear trousers in public and in Europe the debate on women's headscarves has politicised a garment item and turned it into a symbol of fundamentalism and oppression In response the contributors to this book investigate the politics of fashion from a variety of perspectives addressing theoretical as well as empirical issues establishing the critical study of fashion and its protagonists as a central contribution to the aesthetic turn in international politics The politics of fashion go beyond these examples of the uses and abuses of textiles and fabrics for political purposes extending into its very grammar and vocabulary This book will be a unique contribution to the field and will be of interest to students and scholars of international relations critical IR theory and popular culture and world politics
