permeates ancient Greek literature It first analyzes how explicit or implicit matrimonial references shape archaic epic diction and become an integral part of epic discourse orally circulating texts such as wedding songs could have a life of their own but beyond their original context could also become an integral part of a different genre especially epic and drama This author discusses the multiple platforms that enrich the wedding song tradition including children s songs hymns paeans and ululations arguing for a combination of ritualized discourse with ludic childhood poetics With an approach from cognitive and trauma studies such references can be more revealing of the female experience than previously acknowledged This book resists the idea that a wedding constitutes an initiation ritual arguing that what on the surface may seem like a transition to a new phase reveals other underlying trends that work against the concept of a passage It further considers how emotion is staged and revisits the poetics of return by looking at patterns such as the eloping returning failed and dead bride Finally the theme of separation and return as an exemplification of a distinct female nostos is revisited in female authored poetry which helps us decode the complex interweaving of wedding performances and lamentation among other types of performance
