Creation's Testimony to Its God, the Accordance of Science, Philosophy, and Revelation. A Manual of the Evidences of Natural and Revealed Religion with Especial Reference to the Progress of Science and Advance of Knowledge Thomas Ragg,1877 Evidences for God and His Creations: Nature, the Flood, and the Bible Dr. T. J. Tofflemire,2011-07-21 This book provides summary apologetics from about 200 references It is unique in that many authors with differing viewpoints are put together in brief key point summaries Some of the books covered are 1100 pages long The original authors views are briefly integrated and compared The different views of creation are also discussed and compared and given a open minded weighing Are you concerned about the fact that 70% of our youth no longer attend church and do not have a biblical world view The naturalistic or humanistic world view they adopt from schooling favors the following 1 Man evolved from primates and is a biological machine with no purpose 2 There is no source of true morals and thus morals are relative and determined by whatever a given group decides or whatever is most popular 3 Since man is only and animal

there is no basis for individual human rights only rights for the masses There are some good arguments provided in the book to counter all of this and provide a biblical world view These arguments are brief and easy to share in witnessing situations

Natural Law and Laws of Nature in Early Modern Europe Michael Stolleis,2016-04-22 This impressive volume is the first attempt to look at the intertwined histories of natural law and the laws of nature in early modern Europe These notions became central to jurisprudence and natural philosophy in the seventeenth century the debates that informed developments in those fields drew heavily on theology and moral philosophy and vice versa Historians of science law philosophy and theology from Europe and North America here come together to address these central themes and to consider the question was the emergence of natural law both in European jurisprudence and natural philosophy merely a coincidence or did these disciplinary traditions develop within a common conceptual matrix in which theological philosophical and political arguments converged to make the analogy between legal and natural orders compelling This book will stimulate new debate in the areas of intellectual history and the history of philosophy as well as the natural and human sciences in general

Numbers,2021-10-17 Originally published in 1995 Early Creationist Journals is the ninth volume in the Creationism in Twentieth Century America series reissued in 2021 The book is a concise primary source collection containing a selection of journal articles from the early twentieth century outlining discoveries in biology geology physiology and archaeology and their relation to Christianity The aim of the journals was to provide a platform for creationists of the 1920s to voice their theories on new science and how more recent discoveries fit within creationist beliefs including flood theory These interesting and unique journals will be of interest to academics working in the field of religion and natural history and provide a unique snapshot into the debates between evolutionists and Christianity during a period of great scientific change

The Word Became Flesh David Graham Griffin,2016-05-16 Is following Jesus natural Many would say no but this book argues yes Saying no suggests that grace and human nature are alternate moral categories Saying yes implies that our humanity is gracious in origin capacity and intent Much of this discussion hangs on what is meant by nature and natural and this book explores these ideas creationly and christologically Part One considers natural law as commonly found in the classical Christian tradition Part Two explores the radical christological tradition of Anabaptism Part Three then proposes the two nature christology of the Chalcedonian definition as a theological resource enabling their reconciliation The Chalcedonianism of the modern Barth and the ancient Maximus the Confessor are appropriated along with scientific theology of T F Torrance and Nancey Murphy If Chalcedon correctly affirms Jesus s humanity as being homoousios one nature with our humanity created like Adam s through the eternal Spirit then Jesus s life was natural proper to its created intent And as his divine nature was homoousios with the Father s nature he is the human expression of the divine Word which gives creation its contingent moral rationality As such the life of Jesus Anabaptists concern is morally normative for all humanity natural law s concern

Science ,2008-05 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share The future is going to be better and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better Baptist Political Theology Thomas S. Kidd,Paul D. Miller,Andrew T. Walker,2023-07-01 Baptist ideals like the separation of church and state have indelibly shaped Western democracies and Baptist thinkers continue to influence public policy and political engagement today Yet the historical contours enduring commitments and current contributions of Baptist political thought are little understood Baptist Political Theology edited by scholars Thomas Kidd Paul Miller and Andrew Walker introduces readers to the full sweep of Baptist engagement with politics Part 1 reviews the life writings and political activity of important figures in Baptist history as well as Baptist involvement in key historical eras and episodes Part 2 presents a collective effort at applied political theology with essays relating Baptist principles to a range of contemporary issues This monumental volume sheds light on the history and contemporary practice of Baptists in the public square offering context and clarity for Baptist political thought in the years to come Business, Angels, and the Natural Law of Justice Abid Shakir,2010-08-24 As a teenager I always wanted to own my own business but had no idea as to how to get started After finishing high school in 1966 I worked as a merchant seaman for two and a half years In 1969 I was drafted into the United States Army where I served two years one year was spent in Vietnam as a Infantry Soldier After serving in the military I got a job driving tractor trailer trucks long distances During that time I had a continuing desire to own my own business I thought I needed a large amount of money to get started but realized later that was not the case Statesmanship and Party Government Harvey C. Mansfield,2024-05-31 In this incisive look at early modern views of party politics Harvey C Mansfield examines the pamphlet war between Edmund Burke and the followers of Henry St John First Viscount Bolingbroke during the mid eighteenth century In response to works by Bolingbroke published posthumously Burke created his most eloquent advocacy of the party system Taking an interdisciplinary approach to the material Mansfield shows that present day parties must be understood in the light of the history of party government The complicated organization and the public actions of modern parties are the result he contends and not the cause of a great change in opinion about parties Mansfield points out that while parties have always existed the party government that we know today is possible only because parties are now considered respectable In Burke s day however they were thought by detractors to be a cancer in a free polity Even many supporters of the parties viewed them as a dangerous instrument only to be used cautiously by statesmen in dire times Burke however was an early champion of the party system in Britain and made his arguments with a clear eyed realism In Statesmanship and Party Government Mansfield provides a skillful evaluation of Burke s writings and sheds light present day party politics through a profound understanding of the historical background of the their inception Laws of Nature, Laws of God? Louise Hickman,Neil Spurway,2015-09-18 Up until the time of Newton scientists regarded the understandings of the physical world at which they were arriving as glimpses of the working of the Creator's mind. Thus the generalisations being formulated about the behaviour of matter, the Laws of Nature, were seen as the Creator's injunctions to created matter as to how it was to act. They were laws in the same sense as laws Divine or human about how people should behave; that is why the same word was used for both. And even now scientific laws are occasionally spoken of as being obeyed. However, it is doubtful whether any practising scientist, religious believer or not, now thinks of laws in the way that the word literally implies. How instead scientists do or should view scientific laws has been debated since the time of Hume and Kant, and it is a vigorous field of investigation among current philosophers of science. In this book scientists, physical and biological historians and students of ideas, all of them theologically informed, tackle this topic from many angles. They do so in relation to the lead public lecture at the conference from which the book stems, given by the eminent and iconoclastic philosopher of science Professor Nancy Cartwright. She asked the question: How could laws make things happen, and her answer was: They couldn't. An Exploration of Christian Theology Don Thorsen, 2007-12-01 Beginning theology students often find themselves bewildered by a maze of beliefs represented in Christian history and tradition. Don Thorsen's An Exploration of Christian Theology unravels the knots of theology by exploring the whole Christian tradition in a simple and straightforward way. Beginning with introductory chapters on theology, revelation and authority, this book deals with biblical teaching and Christian tradition related to such topics as God, creation, sin, Jesus Christ, salvation and eschatology. Chapters conclude with helpful questions for further reflection and discussion, and a convenient glossary of theological terms is included. This is an excellent introduction to Christian theology for classroom or individual use.
