Salvaging a Teenage Wasteland Andrew J. Finch,2024-10-22 This book provides the first major historical account of the recovery high school movement from its beginnings in the alternative schools of the 1970s that overlapped with the first adolescent substance use treatment programs Excellence for All Jack Schneider,2011 By the early twenty first century a startling consensus had emerged about the overall aim of American school reform In an era of political discord and in a field historically known for contentiousness the notion of promoting educational excellence for all students was a distinct point of bipartisan agreement Shaped by a corps of entrepreneurial reformers intent on finding what works and taking it to scale this hybrid vision won over the nation s most ambitious and well resourced policy leaders at foundations and nonprofits in state and federal government and in urban school districts from coast to coast Excellence for all might at first glance appear to be nothing more than a rhetorical flourish Who after all would oppose the idea of a great education for every student Yet it is hardly a throwaway phrase Rather it represents a surprising fusion of educational policy approaches that had been in tense opposition throughout the twentieth century those on the right favoring social efficiency and those on the left supporting social justice This book seeks to understand why the excellence for all vision took hold at the time it did unpacks the particular beliefs and assumptions embedded in it and details the often informal coalition building that produced this period of consensus Examining the nation s largest urban school districts Los Angeles Chicago and New York the author details three major reform efforts in chapters titled The Right Space The Small Schools Movement The Right Teachers Teach for America and The Right Curriculum Expanding Advanced Placement

Critical Times in Curriculum Thought Marcella L. Kysilka,2011-05-01 This book is designed to be used at a master s level for a degree in curriculum and instruction teacher education or educational leadership It could be used as a primary or a supplementary text The book is divided into three parts The first section focuses on the contributions of noted educators to the field of education Florence Stratemeyer Haberman and Corrigan Hilda Taba Barbara Stern Alice Miel Jennifer Deets Booker T Washington Karen Riley Ralph Tyler Gerald Ponder and Dixie Massey and John Dewey William Schubert and Heidi Schubert The authors of these chapters focused on contributions that were less known but particularly important in thinking about education The second section of the book focuses on curriculum movements that were politically motivated and their impact on curriculum applications in the schools Cold War Sputnik Peggy Moch Civil Rights William Ayers Women s Rights Susan Brown Bilingual multicultural education Gloria Contreras and Ron Wilhelm and the growing economic divide William Watkins The last section of the book provides perspectives on factors that affected curriculum implementation as seen through the eyes of authors who have done considerable research in these areas Social Justice William Gaudelli and Dennis Urban Integrated Curriculum Lynne Bailey The Comprehensive High School Marcella Kysilka Technology in the Curriculum Gretchen Schwarz and Janet Dunlop and Inclusive Curriculum Allison Dickey The book could be used in Alternative Certification Programs as well as the chapters focus on issues that are common in the public school sector The chapters are short and meaty and provide a thorough understanding of the people politics and perspectives of the times

Pursuit of Liberation Emily A. Nemeth,Ashley N. Patterson,2022-04-01 The authors of this volume collectively demonstrate the importance of critical service learning in this historic moment as we participate in and witness ongoing struggles for justice around the world The contributors of this volume offer guidance to educators and scholars alike who are interested in designing participating in and studying the potential of alliances formed through critical service learning The volume emphasizes theoretical and historical foundations of critical service learning pressing questions facing the field exploration of outcomes of and ongoing challenges for the pedagogy and design features and larger scale models of critical service learning that can be implemented across the educational landscape of elementary secondary and higher education

ENDORSEMENTS This volume in the Advances in Service Learning Research series does not disappoint Emily Nemeth and Ashley Patterson have amassed an amazing team of authors who take readers on a rewarding journey across diverse cultural communities and educational contexts revealing the limitations of traditional service learning approaches in addressing issues of racial injustice Readers of this volume will gain a greater understanding of the rapidly evolving and maturing nature of higher education service learning pedagogy and the need to adopt more critical perspectives in the study and practice of service learning Andrew Furco University of Minnesota

Pursuit of Liberation conceived and written during tumultuous times in the United States offers hope for the possibility of social justice and liberation in educational spaces The modern day brutal lynching of George Floyd an African American man by a white police officer and the COVID 19 pandemic revealed the horridness and inhumanity of a country that advertises itself as a beacon of equity and inclusion This volume is a reminder that social justice and liberation require vigilance The editors Professors Nemeth and Patterson persuade us to understand that the work of inclusion and liberation in education is complex multidisciplinary continuous and iterative Most importantly they convincingly assert that communities and educational institutions need to take bold steps toward a more just hopeful and loving world through critical service learning Shirley Mthethwa Sommers University of Mpumalanga

Last Chance High Deirdre M. Kelly, 1993-06-23 Explores the world of the continuation high school in America the most common form of alternative high school Kelly analyzes the factors that limit its success and focuses on gender issues in these schools how girls and boys slip in and out of the system the different reasons and consequences

Public Relations in Schools Theodore J. Kowalski, 2011 For educational administration and leadership students studying school and community relations A contemporary and practice based school public relations text that centers on the importance of communication relationships and technology Outfitting students with a wealth of practical practice based knowledge that they can take directly into the halls of their school the new fifth edition of Public Relations in Schools has a fresh contemporary focus on both how administrators can effectively communicate with the community and how building strong relationships with stakeholders can ultimately lead to overall school improvement Through a blend of theoretical and tacit knowledge this text offers students an in depth guide to 1 how to successfully communicate with both internal and external school entities 2 how to build and maintain positive and active relationships via social and political capital and 3 how to translate the value of these relationships into positive change within the school While exploring these three central themes the book emphasizes how new technologies can aid school success At the same time real world case studies at the beginning of each chapter introduce readers to actual public relations issues and bring the material to life The revised fifth edition of Public Relations in Schools is updated with new materials and references throughout the text including two new chapters one on harnessing technology for your public relations needs and one on collecting assessing and applying public opinion In addition the new fifth edition text contains a matrix at the front of the book showing how content relates to ELCC NCATE Standards the widely used criteria for administrator preparation and licensing

Making Up Our Mind Sigal R. Ben-Porath, Michael C. Johanek, 2019-04-24 If free market advocates had total control over education policy would the shared public system of education collapse Would school choice revitalize schooling with its innovative force With proliferating charters and voucher schemes would the United States finally make a dramatic break with its past and expand parental choice Those are not only the wrong questions they re the wrong premises argue philosopher Sigal R Ben Porath and historian Michael C Johanek in Making Up Our Mind Market driven school choices aren t new They predate the republic and for generations parents have chosen to educate their children through an evolving mix of publicly supported private charitable and entrepreneurial enterprises The question is not whether to have school choice It is how we will regulate who has which choices in our mixed market for schooling and what we as a nation hope to accomplish with that mix of choices Looking beyond the simplistic divide between those who oppose government intervention and those who support public education the authors make the case for a structured landscape of choice in schooling one that protects the interests of children and of society while also identifying key shared values on which a broadly acceptable policy could rest The American Dream and the Public Schools Jennifer L. Hochschild, Nathan Scovronick, 2004-10-21 The American Dream and the Public Schools examines issues that have excited and divided Americans for years including desegregation school funding testing vouchers bilingual education and ability grouping While these are all separate problems much of the contention over them comes down to the same thing an apparent conflict between policies designed to promote each student s ability to succeed and those designed to insure the good of all students or the nation as a whole The authors show how policies to promote individual success too often benefit only those already privileged by race or class and often conflict with policies that are intended to benefit everyone They propose a framework that builds on our nation s rapidly changing population in order to help Americans get past acrimonious debates about schooling Their goal is to make public education work better so that all children can succeed The Education Digest ,1978 The editorial aim is to present condensations of articles taken from the leading professional and lay publications Education in a Free Society S.
