

Do's and Don'ts: Communicating with a Person Who Has Alzheimer's Disease

People with Alzheimer's may struggle to find the right word when speaking and may forget what they were saying. Remember to be patient. Here are some do's and don'ts to keep in mind.

Do	Don't
 Make eye contact and use the person's name.	 Exclude the person from conversations.
 Listen and be open to the person's concerns.	 Speak with an angry or tense tone.
 Allow extra time for the person to respond.	 Talk about the person as if they are not there.
 Try using different words if the person doesn't understand what you say the first time.	 Interrupt or argue with the person.
 Ask yes or no questions: "Would you like some tea?" rather than "What would you like to drink?"	 Ask the person whether they remember something or someone.

Into the Mist Deborah Uetz, 2005-07-07 Into the Mist: When Someone You Love Has Alzheimer's Disease answers the questions that come along with an Alzheimer's diagnosis. As Alzheimer's reaches epidemic proportion, more and more families are searching for answers that will best equip them to meet their needs and those of the Alzheimer's patient. What are the symptoms of the early stages of Alzheimer's disease? When should someone stop driving? Why is my loved one becoming withdrawn and insecure? Are hallucinations an occurrence with Alzheimer's disease? Does Medicare or Medicaid cover expenses? How do I cope with the stress of constant care giving? Is Alzheimer's disease fatal? Many other topics are addressed by leading aging experts, researchers, and a neuropsychologist. Along with factual information, the reader will be told the stories of three families caring for a loved one from the earliest stages to the last stages. Their personal accounts put a human face on the challenges of Alzheimer's care giving. Jack Frank and Shirley's stories are told by their daughters, and they illustrate the commonalities and the differences among Alzheimer's patients and the way their families handle their most difficult challenges. The book began as a personal journal but grew into a comprehensive resource for Alzheimer's caregivers as well as a compilation of information from researchers, psychologists, aging experts, and families coping with this devastating illness all over the world. As you walk into the mist of Alzheimer's disease, this book serves as a roadmap because of the life lessons of others who have traveled this road before you. Deborah Uetz, www.intothemist.us

A SON'S JOURNEY Dr. George Ackerman, 2024-04-12. A Son's Journey from Parkinson's Disease Caregiver to Advocate. This book is first a memoir of and praise for my mother Sharon who was my best friend through both our lives and explores her journey with PD. The book is a heartfelt recollection of the beginnings of her Parkinson's disease symptoms and my caregiving to support through her battle with PD. However I also want to reach those who are not aware of Parkinson's throughout the world. Until we ensure that others outside the local or regional Parkinson's community are made aware a cure will be further from our grasp. Others too may find the book helpful especially for those suffering from associated diseases.
