Armenia Travels And Studies Volume I The Rubian Provinces:

Armenia Henry Finiss Bloch Lynch,1901 East Rome, Sasanian Persia and the End of Antiquity J. D.

Howard-Johnston,2006 James Howard Johnston here focuses on the last great war of antiquity that between East Rome and Sasanian Persia 603 628 which brought the classical phase of west Eurasian history to a dramatic close He strives to root history in close observation of Armenia Travels and Studies Harry Finnis Blossse Lynch,1901 Hebrew Union

College Annual (95) Hebrew Union College Press,2024-12-31 The Hebrew Union College Annual is the flagship journal of Hebrew Union College Press and the primary face of Hebrew Union College Jewish Institute of Religion to the academic world With a history spanning nearly a century it stands as a chronicle of Jewish scholarship through the twentieth century and into the twenty first The Eastern Frontier of the Roman Empire David H. French,Chris S. Lightfoot,1989

Armenia: Travels and Studies and the Russian Provinces (Complete) Henry Finnis Blossse Lynch,2020-09-28 On four different occasions both in summer and in winter I have sailed along the southern shore of the Black Sea almost from one extremity to the other yet I do not remember having seen the sky free from heavy clouds during two consecutive days As the ship speeds eastwards along the mountains of Bithynia a thin veil of haze will blend the land outlines together while as the range grows in height with every mile of progress the vapour will collect about its upper slopes in long horizontal black banks Even when the sun of this southern climate has swept the sky of every lingering film when the zenith and the water recall the hues of the Mediterranean the whole scale of brilliant blues somewhere upon the wide circle of the horizon will be lurking the scattered forces of the mist But the stronghold of the cloud is in the mountains of Akhaltsykh at the foot of Caucasus in the extreme eastern angle of the sea Can there exist a more gloomy coast There the sky is always lowering above the inky water and the forests of fir which clothe the range from foot to summit wave darkly like feathers over a pall Such I think are the impressions which the mind most closely associates with the aspect of this sea and shore What a contrast to the smiling landscape of the Bosphorus the strait through which we enter this sad sea or leave it on our return home The cold draught follows the home coming ship up the narrow channel between the wooded cliffs and frets the running tide into crisp little waves which sparkle in the brilliant light The dolphins leap from the blue water and dart shining through the air To the traveller who is returning from a long journey in Asia and a tedious tossing on this grey sea the Bosphorus always bright and gay and beautiful may appear as the promised gate of paradise beyond the world of shades The character of the coast cannot fail to be affected by this climate by this atmosphere Just as the vapours gather thickest where the mountains are most lofty at the south eastern angle of the sea so the vegetation increases in luxuriance and variety the further eastwards we proceed on our course The cliffs or rolling hills about the entrance of the Bosphorus the closing cliffs of the Greek legend which caught the tail feathers of the dove soon give place to the belt of wooded mountains which rise from the immediate margin of the water and stretch from west to east along the entire seaboard to the Phasis and Batum Tier upon tier they rise from the narrow strip of sand and pebbles and grow both in height and in boldness of outline as they stretch towards the east The winds of the open sea the cold winds of Scythia fly over the barrier of the range and the ship may often anchor in smooth water at a point where least protection would appear to be offered by the configuration of the shore But the moisture of the air is arrested at the coast line and hangs about the upper tiers of the mountains or clings to the fir clad slopes These natural conditions are extremely favourable to vegetation and the larger grows the scale upon which they are operating the more abundant becomes the growth of trees and shrubs When at last we have reached the neighbourhood of the Phasis where the wall of this range towers highest above us on the one side and the line of Caucasus closes the horizon on the other the shore becomes clothed with dense forests plants and creepers flourish with tropical exuberance the traveller threading the maze of evergreen woodland might be walking along the banks of the Amazon or through the glades of Mazanderan Armenia Harry Finnis Blosse Lynch,1901 In 2 vol with 197 ill numerous maps plans a bibliography and a map of Armenia and adjacent countries The Ashgate Research Companion to Byzantine Hagiography Professor Stephanos Efthymiadis,2013-07-28 Hagiography is the most abundantly represented genre of Byzantine literature and it offers crucial insight to the development of religious thought and practice social and literary life and the history of the empire It emerged in the fourth century with the pioneering Life of St Antony and continued to evolve until the end of the empire in the fifteenth century and beyond The appeal and dynamics of this genre radiated beyond the confines of Byzantium and it was practised also in many Oriental and Slavic languages within the orbit of the broader Byzantine world This companion is the work of an international team of specialists and represents the first comprehensive survey ever produced in this field It consists of two volumes and is addressed to both a broader public and the scholarly community of Byzantinists Medievalists historians of religion and theorists of the narrative This first volume covers the authors and texts of the four distinctive periods during which Greek Byzantine hagiography developed as well as the hagiography produced in Oriental and Slavic languages and in geographical milieux around the periphery of the empire from Italy to Armenia Volume II addresses questions of genres and the social and other contexts of Byzantine hagiography Armenia, Travels and Studies Harry Finnis Blosse Lynch,1999-01-01 This Elibron Classics title is a reprint of the original edition published by Longmans Green and Co in London 1901 This book contains color illustrations Armenia, Travels and Studies, Vol. 1 Of 2 H. F. B. Lynch,2018-08-07 Excerpt from Armenia Travels and Studies Vol 1 of 2 The Russian Provinces This book contains the account of two separate journeys in Armenia the first extending from August 1893 to March 1894 and the second from May to September 1898 Before embarking upon them I was already familiar with the contiguous countries having spent a considerable por tion of the years 1889 and 1890 in Mesopotamia and Persia The routes shown in my map from Aleppo to Diarbekr and down the Tigris and from Batum across Georgia and the Caspian to Resht were taken during the course of these earlier wanderings and they contribute no part of the ensuing narrative What attracted me to Armenia I had no interests public or private in a country which has long been regarded even by Asiatic travellers as a land of passage along pre scribed routes One inducement was curiosity what lay beyond those mountains drawn in a wide half circle along the margin of the Mesopotamian plains The sources of the great rivers which carried me southwards a lake with the dimensions of an inland sea the mountain of the Ark the fabled seat of Paradise About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
