Arna Bontemps Langston Hughes Letters 1925 1967:

Arna Bontemps-Langston Hughes Letters, 1925-1967 Arna Bontemps, Langston Hughes, 1990 The work of Arna Bontemps and Langston Hughes is a celebration of the triumphant creative spirit in African American life From the welding of their friendship in 1925 until Hughes's death in 1967 this volume gathers the best of the forty two years of correspondence between them The first letters written in the midst of the Harlem Renaissance witness the struggle of two young writers searching for a voice and an identity By 1941 both Bontemps and Hughes had achieved a certain degree of success and had become increasingly involved in racial and social struggles Finally in the period between 1959 and 1967 we see them react to the civil rights movement This fascinating collection makes an invaluable contribution to the understanding of twentieth century American culture and one of its most vital components the African American heritage which these two correspondents did so much to create From book cover Arna Bontemps-Langston-Hughes Letters Arna Wendell Bontemps, 1990 Langston's Salvation Wallace D. Best, 2019-02-01 Winner of the 2018 Award for Excellence in the Study of Religion in Textual Studies presented by the American Academy of Religion 2018 Outstanding Academic Title given by Choice Magazine A new perspective on the role of religion in the work of Langston Hughes Langston's Salvation offers a fascinating exploration into the religious thought of Langston Hughes Known for his poetry plays and social activism the importance of religion in Hughes work has historically been ignored or dismissed This book puts this aspect of Hughes work front and center placing it into the wider context of twentieth century American and African American religious cultures Best brings to life the religious orientation of Hughes work illuminating how this powerful figure helped to expand the definition of African American religion during this time Best argues that contrary to popular perception Hughes was neither an avowed atheist nor unconcerned with religious matters He demonstrates that Hughes religious writing helps to situate him and other black writers as important participants in a broader national discussion about race and religion in America Through a rigorous analysis that includes attention to Hughes's unpublished religious poems Langston's Salvation reveals new insights into Hughes's body of work and demonstrates that while Hughes is seen as one of the most important voices of the Harlem Renaissance his writing also needs to be understood within the context of twentieth century American religious liberalism and of the larger modernist movement Combining historical and literary analyses with biographical explorations of Langston Hughes as a writer and individual Langston's Salvation opens a space to read Langston Hughes writing religiously in order to fully understand the writer and the world he inhabited The Shadowed Country Josh Gosciak, 2006-01-31 One of the most important voices of the Harlem Renaissance Claude McKay is largely recognized for his work during the 1920s which includes a major collection of poems Harlem Shadows as well as a critically acclaimed novel Home to Harlem But McKay was never completely comfortable with his literary reputation during this period Throughout his world travels he saw himself as an English lyricist In this compelling examination of the life and works of this complex poet novelist journalist and short story writer Josh Gosciak sheds light on McKay's literary contributions beyond his interactions with Harlem Renaissance artists and writers. Working within English literary traditions, McKay crafted a verse out of hybridity and diaspora. Gosciak shows how he reinvigorated a modern pastoral through his encounters with some of the major aesthetic and political movements of the late Victorian and early modern periods. Exploring new archival material as well as many of McKay's lesser-known poetic works, The Shadowed Country provides a unique interpretation of the writings of this major author. The Indignant Generation Lawrence P. Jackson, 2021-10-12. Recovering the lost history of a crucial era in African American literature. The Indignant Generation is the first narrative history of the neglected but essential period of African American literature between the Harlem Renaissance and the civil rights era. The years between these two indispensable epochs saw the communal rise of Richard Wright, Gwendolyn Brooks, Ralph Ellison, Lorraine Hansberry, James Baldwin, and many other influential Black writers. While these individuals have been duly celebrated, little attention has been paid to the political and artistic milieu in which they produced their greatest works. With this commanding study, Lawrence Jackson recalls the lost history of a crucial era. Looking at the tumultuous decades surrounding World War II, Jackson restores the indignant quality to a generation of African American writers shaped by Jim Crow segregation, the Great Depression, the growth of American communism, and an international wave of decolonization. He also reveals how artistic collectives in New York, Chicago, and Washington fostered a sense of destiny and belonging among diverse and disenchanted peoples. As Jackson shows through contemporary documents, the years that brought us Their Eyes Were Watching God, Native Son, and Invisible Man also saw the rise of African American literary criticism by both Black and white critics. Fully exploring the cadre of key African American writers who triumphed in spite of segregation, The Indignant Generation paints a vivid portrait of American intellectual and artistic life in the mid-twentieth century. Writers of the Black Chicago Renaissance Steven C.

Tracy, 2011-11-01. Writers of the Black Chicago Renaissance comprehensively explores the contours and content of the Black Chicago Renaissance, a creative movement that emerged from the crucible of rigid segregation in Chicago's Black Belt from the 1930s through the 1960s. Heavily influenced by the Harlem Renaissance and the Chicago Renaissance of white writers, its participants were invested in political activism and social change as much as literature, art, and aesthetics. The revolutionary writing of this era produced some of the first great accolades for African American literature and set up much of the important writing that came to fruition in the Black Arts Movement. The volume covers a vast collection of subjects, including many important writers such as Richard Wright, Gwendolyn Brooks, and Lorraine Hansberry, as well as cultural products such as Black newspapers, music, and theater. The book includes individual entries by experts on each subject, a discography, and a filmography that highlight important writers, musicians, films, and cultural presentations, and an introduction that relates the Harlem Renaissance, the White Chicago Renaissance, the Black Chicago Renaissance, and the Black Arts Movement. James Baldwin's Go Tell It on the Mountain Carol E. Henderson, 2006. The publication of James Baldwin's Go Tell It on the Mountain ushered in a new age of the urban telling of a tale twice told yet rarely expressed in such vivid portraits. Go Tell It unveils the struggle of man with his God and that of man with himself. Baldwin's intense scrutiny of the spiritual and communal customs that serve as moral centers of the black community directs attention to the striking incongruities of religious fundamentalism and oppression. This book examines these multiple impulses challenging the widely held convention that politics and religion do not mix.

Twenty-nine collected essays represent a critical history of Shakespeare's play as text and as theater, beginning with Samuel Johnson in 1765 and ending with a review of the Royal Shakespeare Company production in 1991. The criticism centers on three aspects of the play: the love/friendship debate.

The Negro in Illinois Brian Dolinar, 2013-07-01. A major document of African American participation in the struggles of the Depression, The Negro in Illinois was produced by a special division of the Illinois Writers Project, one of President Roosevelt's Works Progress Administration programs. The Federal Writers Project helped to sustain New Negro artists during the 1930s and gave them a newfound social consciousness that is reflected in their writing. Headed by Harlem Renaissance poet Arna Bontemps and white proletarian writer Jack Conroy, The Negro in Illinois employed major black writers living in Chicago during the 1930s, including Richard Wright, Margaret Walker, Katherine Dunham, Fenton Johnson, Frank Yerby, and Richard Durham. The authors chronicled the African American experience in Illinois from the beginnings of slavery to Lincoln's emancipation and the Great Migration, with individual chapters discussing various aspects of public and domestic life, recreation, politics, religion, literature, and performing arts. After the project was canceled in 1942, most of the writings went unpublished for more than half a
