Arms Control Without Arms Control Guy B. Roberts, 2003 This is the 49th volume in the Occasional Paper series of the U S Air Force Institute for National Security Studies INSS Among the many dimensions of national security that face unprecedented changes and challenges after the end of the Cold War arms control has been as directly affected as any other dimension The formal bilateral and verification based arms control that was so central to that former period fits neither the new environment nor the expanded focus beyond the strategic nuclear arena In this paper Guy Roberts presents yet another of his insightful explanations and analyses of the adaptations and new directions that are required to give arms control continued relevance today and tomorrow This thorough analysis of the special case of biological warfare controls follows his January 2001 INSS Occasional Paper 36 This Arms Control Dog Won t Hunt The Proposed Fissile Material Cut Off Treaty at the Conference on Disarmament in chronicling both the failure of continuing emphasis on formal Cold War type arms control products and the enduring centrality of cooperative arms control processes in the current national security environment In Roberts line of argument arms control is indeed dead yet arms control can and must be reborn in the form of a wide range of integrally linked and multifaceted legal diplomatic economic and military instruments to effectively fight the spread and use of dangerous weapons and systems
