SUMMARY: As with increasing frequency the armies of NATO member states deploy on Operations Other Than War (OOTW), there is a requirement to define predictory variables of consumption of healthcare assets by type and geographical location of operations. This report presents the results of the analysis of the J95/EPINATO database of operational and exercise deployments. Although the database is limited in size and scope results show a marked difference in rates of incidence of EVENTS and in the proportion of first attendances to working days lost, both in general and when analysed by deployment type. For instance Service Assisted or Protected Evacuations (SA/PE) showed a relatively high incidence of first attendances and low incidence of working days lost for all reasons (or EVENTS) (214.5 per 1,000 personnel at risk per month - 95% Confidence Interval - CI: 198.8 to 230.3 and 23.9 working days lost per 1,000 personnel at risk per month - 95% CI 18.0 to 29.8). The reverse is true for Counter Insurgency (COIN) type operations (111.55 per 1,000 personnel at risk per month - 95% CI: 110.9 to 112.2 and 161.25 working days lost per 1,000 personnel at risk per month 95% CI: 160.5 to 162.0). Other findings include highest attendance rates in exercise deployments for all reasons (264.7 per 1,000 personnel per month 95% CI: 261.2 to 268.1), highest hospitalisation rates in exercise and PSO deployments for all reasons (8.7 per 1,000 personnel per month 95% CI: 7.9 to 9.4 and 9.9 per 1,000 personnel per month 95% CI: 9.6 to 10.1) and the seasonal pattern, high incidence and low manpower impact (26.2 per 1,000 personnel per month 95% CI: 25.9 to 26.5 and 3.5 per 1,000 personnel per month 95% CI: 3.4 to 3.6) of dermatological consultations on all operational deployments (the lowest of the spectrum being in COIN operations). No relationship was found between incidence of consultations, working days lost, hospitalisations and distance of the deployment from the UK. Deployments to Africa show the highest incident of attendances and working days lost for all reasons (530.7 per 1,000 personnel per month 95% CI: 524.2 to 537.3 and 106.5 per 1,000 personnel per month 95% CI: 102.5 to 110.6). The variability in epidemiological profiles in this analysis demonstrates the dangers of exclusive reliance on synthetic classifications of reasons for attendances such as the traditional DNBI breakdown and on point estimates of incidence. As the database expands, further analysis will become possible.

Introduction

Since the end of the Cold War, the Armed Forces of the UK and of several member states of NATO have been involved in a growing number of OOTW around the globe. Although initially such operations were carried out outside NATO (within an informal coalition or the UN), more recently the military structure of NATO has been involved in air operations and, lately, in the provision of ground forces. This process culminated in the deployment to the territory of the Former Republic of Yugoslavia (FRY) of approximately 50,000 Implementation Force (IFOR) troops under NATO control at the end of 1995, and is still under way with the continuation of the operations in the FRY under the aegis of Stabilisation Force (SFOR). The deployment of a large multinational military contingent to difficult theatres such as the FRY, has focused the attention of commanders and planners on the health of their troops. The maintenance of health is of prime importance to military commanders for several reasons. Firstly, fitness prevents losses through sickness, thus maximising manpower resources at the disposal of commanders. Secondly, all military personnel are sent by their respective governments to deal with difficult problems in difficult situations. As such circumstances themselves may be a cause of morbidity or mortality, governments owe a duty of care to their personnel. This principle was enunciated as early as 1865 by Edmand Parkes who wrote of the State's obligation to military personnel: "The State employs a large number of men, whom it places under its own social and sanitary conditions. It removes from them much of the self-control with regard to hygienic rules which other men possess and it is therefore bound by every principle of honest and fair contract to see that these men are in no way injured by the system. But more than this: it is as much bound by its self interest. It has been proved over and over again that nothing is so costly in all ways as disease, and that nothing is so remunerative as the outlay which augments health, and in doing so, augments the amount and value of the work done" (1).

Such sentiments have a more modern echo in the aftermath to the Gulf War (2). Thirdly, a real or perceived lack of care can create suspicion of governments and armed forces alike, undermining the public's confidence in the ability of the military community to carry out their tasks (2). Historically, duty of care has been discharged by deploying medical assets to operational theatres on a scale based on a mixture of personal experience and use of planning
