Psychosocial Oncology and Palliative Care in Hong Kong Richard Fielding, Cecilia Lai-wan Chan, 1999-11-01 As the evidence base for clinical practice in the management of life threatening diseases and care at the end of life increases it is apparent that psychosocial factors play a most profound role influencing outcomes at every level from quality of life and satisfaction with clinical services through to duration of survival and mortality This book documents some but by no means all of the developments that have occurred in the past decade in the area of psychosocial oncology and palliative care in Hong Kong Contributions describing interventions by practitioners involved in service development in nursing social work and clinical psychology are complemented by chapters describing academic research and theoretical perspectives The unique cultural mix of Hong Kong is given rich emphasis in the adaptations made by practitioners and academics to the interventions and theoretical issues outlined As both a documentation of the efforts of some of those who helped psychosocial oncology and palliative care evolve in Hong Kong and as a reflection of the need to more critically evaluate the impact of intervention efforts in health care this volume provides a valuable resource Nurses social workers psychologists and doctors involved in delivering or planning cancer treatment or palliative care will find this book useful This book challenges many attitudes prevalent in Hong Kong and will we hope begin to break some of the taboos that continue to generate unnecessary suffering among the people cared for by our health care systems The valuable experience documented in these pages can help others build the next generation of services to those with life threatening illness and those at the end of life

The Barlinnie Special Unit Dr Kirstin Anderson, 2024-10-01

Fifty years ago a small unit in HM Prison Barlinnie Glasgow became a radical experiment whose approach polarised opinion It encouraged shared decision making between prisoners and staff allowed greater access to families and enabled prisoners to explore creative activities Through the support of visiting artists and the voices of the prisoners themselves notably the sculptor Jimmy Boyle author of A Sense of Freedom its impact challenged prevailing disciplinarian prison culture Arts of various kinds plus respectful and challenging dialogue released dormant abilities and strengths in hitherto recalcitrant formerly violent prisoners Always controversial the legacy of the Barlinnie Special Unit challenges overly punitive ideas around crime to this day The first edited collection on the Barlinnie Special Unit s almost 22 year history with contributions by those who were there at the time or helped preserve its legacy They include artist filmmaker Bill Beech Scotland s first art therapist Joyce Laing leading Scottish impresario Richard Demarco Sara Trevelyan ex wife of Jimmy Boyle who also contributes Rupert Wolfe Murray son of Boyle s publisher Professor Mike Nellis of Strathclyde University Claire Coia a curator at Glasgow s Open Museum Andrew Coyle founding Director of the International Centre for Prison Studies and journalist and former Scottish MP Brian Wilson Based on first hand accounts the book is a definitive retrospective and the first detailed history analysis of the unit A supreme record of an iconic social experiment which includes diverse and largely unpublished materials Review Looking again at the BSU is a reminder that we have to reform the prison system It means treating people in a humane way even those who have committed serious crime and by inventing creative projects which restore a person s self worth as a better route to redemption than mere punishment Baroness Helena Kennedy KC from the Foreword
