Challenge To Mars Pacifism From 1918 To 1945:

Challenge to Mars Peter Brock, Thomas Paul Socknat, 1998 Challenge to Mars Peter Brock, Thomas Paul Socknat, 1999-01-01 The fourteen essays in Part I look at the interwar years which gave rise to an array of pacifist organizations both religious and humanist throughout Europe and North America Twelve essays in Part II deal with the brutal challenge to pacifist ideals posed by the Second World War and include a look at the fate of those courageous Germans who refused to fight for Hitler Challenge to Mars Peter Brock, Thomas Paul Socknat, 1999 Crisis and Renewal in France, 1918-1962 Kenneth Mouré, Martin S. Alexander, 2002 Since 1914 the French state has faced a succession of daunting crises This book showcases significant new scholarship reflecting greater access to French archival sources and focuses on the role of crises in fostering modernisation Peace and War W. John Morgan, Alexandre Guilherme, 2020-11-02 Peace and War Historical Philosophical and Anthropological Perspectives is an accessible higher level critical discussion of philosophical commentaries on the nature of peace and war It introduces and analyses various philosophies of peace and war and their continuing theoretical and practical relevance for peace studies and conflict resolution Using a combination of both historical and contemporary philosophical perspectives the book is at once eclectic in its approach and broad in its inquiry of these enduring phenomena of human existence Worth Fighting For Lara Campbell, Michael Dawson, Catherine Gidney, 2015-04-02 Historians veterans museums and public education campaigns have all documented and commemorated the experience of Canadians in times of war But Canada also has a long rich and important historical tradition of resistance to both war and militarization This collection brings together the work of sixteen scholars on the history of war resistance Together they explore resistance to specific wars including the South African War the First and Second World Wars and Vietnam the ideology and nature of resistance national ethical political spiritual and organized activism against militarization such as cadet training the Cold War and nuclear arms As the federal government continues to support the commemoration and celebration of Canada's participation in past wars this collection offers a timely response that explores the complexity of Canada's position in times of war and the role of social movements in challenging the militarization of Canadian society Crisis of Conscience Amy J. Shaw, 2009-07-01 The First World War's appalling death toll and the need for a sense of equality of sacrifice on the home front led to Canada's first experience of overseas conscription While historians have focused on resistance to enforced military service in Quebec this has obscured the important role of those who saw military service as incompatible with their religious or ethical beliefs Crisis of Conscience is the first and only book about the Canadian pacifists who refused to fight in the Great War The experience of these conscientious objectors offers insight into evolving attitudes about the rights and responsibilities of citizenship during a key period of Canadian nation building Trauma and Survival in the Contemporary Church Jonathan S. Lofft, Thomas P. Power, 2021-03-24 Drawing on a wide diversity of sources this volume constitutes an additional layer to the phenomenon of trauma by exemplifying its experience within the context of the church specifically the worldwide Anglican Communion a family of churches rooted in the English appropriation of the Reformation As shown here a wide variety of analytic techniques can be deployed to examine trauma in the context of the church At an uncertain moment characterized by institutional breakup and decline in several Anglican churches this volume addresses an urgent need in the literature of church history as constituencies both within the church and without come to terms with ongoing and wide ranging experiences of trauma The variety of traumas and the responses official and otherwise documented in this collection reflect the wide ranging testimony of the contributors Shedding light for the first time on significant traumatic episodes these narratives examine a difficult and seemingly inexhaustible topic

A Portrait of Pacifists Richard P. Unsworth, 2012-04-27 This biography tells the story of Andr and Magda Trocm two individuals who made nonviolence a way of life During World War II the southern French town of Le Chambon sur Lignon and its surrounding villages became a center where Jews and others in flight from Nazi roundups could be hidden or led abroad and where children with parents in concentration camps could be nurtured and educated The Trocm s courage during World War II has been well documented in books and film yet the full arc of their lives the impulse that led them to devote themselves to nonviolence and their extensive work in the decades following the war has never been compiled into a full length biography Based on the Trocm s unpublished memoirs interviews and the author s research the book details the couple s role in the history of pacifism before during and after the war Unsworth traces their mission of building peace by nonviolence throughout Europe to Morocco Algeria Japan Vietnam and the United States Analyzing the political and religious complexities of the pacifist movement the author underscores the Trocm s deeply personal commitment Regardless of which nation was condoning violence shaping international relations or pressing for peace and regardless of whose theology dominated the pulpits both Andr and Magda remained driven by conscience to make nonviolence the hallmark of their life s work

The Cambridge Companion to Twentieth Century Literature and Politics Christos Hadjiyiannis, Rachel Potter, 2022-12-15 Many twentieth century literary writers were directly involved in political parties and causes and many viewed their writing as part of their activism This book explores literature s direct relationship to politics offering new ways of thinking about the troubled relationship between literature and politics

Conscientious Objectors of the Second World War Ann Kramer, 2013-08-19 Drawing on extensive primary sources Kramer describes the inter war peace movement that gave birth to many conscientious objectors Military History Monthly Even today most histories of the world wars focus on those who fought Those who refused to do so are often overlooked It is perhaps only recently that their bravery and extraordinary principles are being recognized In the First World War 16 000 men in Britain became the first ever conscientious objectors and were reviled and brutalized as a result The conscientious objectors of the Second World War both men and women did not experience the same treatment as those earlier COs but to some extent it was a harder stand to take. It was not easy to refuse to fight in the face of Nazism and Fascism when large areas of Europe were occupied and when almost the entire British population was organized for total war. Conscientious Objectors of the Second World War: Refusing to Fight tells the stories of these remarkable men and women who bravely took a stand and refused to be conscripted. To bring this fascinating subject to life, Ann Kramer has used extensive prime sources such as interviews, memoirs, contemporary newspaper accounts, letters, and diaries. Working from these and other sources, she asks who these men and women were, who refused conscription and killing, what their reasons were for being conscientious objectors, and how they were treated. The book finishes by exploring their achievements and impact, suggesting that their principles and influence continue to this day. Kramer shows conscientious objectors in all their infinite variety. Peace News

Youth and Peace in England, 1919-1969 Susannah Wright, 2025-02-03 This book offers an historical analysis of an area of young people's activity which remains significant in the present. It shows that many thousands of young people in England were involved in peace movement activity from 1919 to 1969 in connection with the League of Nations Union before the Second World War, pacifist bodies like the Peace Pledge Union in the 1930s and 1940s, the Council for Education for World Citizenship post 1945, and the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament from 1957. Young people engaged with the peace movement at school, at home, and in the community, encompassing classroom learning, attending lectures and meetings out of school hours, pageants, international camps and visits, correspondence, and sometimes demonstrations, marches, and other direct action protests. Some were engaged briefly; for others, this became a long-term focus of time, energy, and ideological commitment. Some followed parents, teachers, and friends; others rebelled against those around them. Examining the perspectives of those involved as young people and the adults aiming to involve young people in the peace movement, this book is an important addition to our knowledge about movements and activism in the peace movement and more broadly, and to our knowledge about young people's agency and its limits. Three Plays of Maureen Hunter Hunter, Maureen, 2003

Book is clean and tight. No writing in text. Like New. Russian Baptists and Spiritual Revolution, 1905-1929 Heather J. Coleman, 2005-04-20 a fascinating read for everyone interested in Russia, religion, and modernity. Nadieszda Kizenko. In the early 20th century, Baptists were the fastest growing non-Orthodox religious group among Russians and Ukrainians. Heather J. Coleman traces the development of Baptist evangelical communities through a period of rapid industrialization, war, and revolution, when Russians found themselves asking new questions about religion and its place in modern life. Baptists' faith helped them navigate the problems of dissent, of order and disorder, of modernization and westernization, and of national and social identity in their changing society. Making use of newly available archival material, this important book reveals the ways in which the Baptists' own experiences and the widespread discussions that they generated illuminate the emergence of new social and personal identities in late Imperial and early Soviet Russia, the creation of a public sphere and a civic culture, and
