Understanding Second Language Learning Difficulties Madeline E. Ehrman, 1996-09-26 The insights techniques and skills needed to understand why some adult students have difficulties with learning a second language are presented in this book The author's premise is that what appears on the surface is often not the real source of the learner's difficulty A correct diagnosis of the cause of the problem is important if intervention is to prove effective The book presents a large number of theories and models of learning and covers areas including learning styles and personality dispositions student motivation self efficacy and anxiety and how to interview students

Educating for Advanced Foreign Language Capacities Heidi Byrnes, Heather D. Weger, Katherine A. Sprang, 2006-10-06 Advanced language learning has only recently begun to capture the interest and attention of applied linguists and professionals in language education in the United States In this breakthrough volume experts in the field lay the groundwork for approaching the increasingly important role of advanced language learning in the larger context of multilingual societies globalization and security This volume presents both general and theoretical insights and language specific considerations in college classrooms spanning a range of languages from the commonly taught languages of English French and German to the less commonly taught Farsi Korean Norwegian and Russian Among theoretical frameworks likely to be conducive to imagining and fostering instructed advancedness in a second language this volume highlights a cognitive semantic approach The theoretical and data based findings make clear that advanced learners in particular are characterized by the capacity to make situated choices from across the entire language system from vocabulary and grammar to discourse features which suggests the need for a text oriented meaning driven approach to language teaching learning and research This volume also considers whether and how information structuring in second language composition reveals first language preferences of grammaticalized concepts Other topics include curricular and instructional approaches to narrativity vocabulary expansion the demands on instructed programs for efficiency and effectiveness in order to assure advanced levels and learners ability to function in professional contexts with their diverse oral and written genre requirements Finally the volume probes the role and nature of assessment as a measurement tool for both researching and assessing advanced language learning and as an essential component of improving programs

Critical Issues in Foreign Language Instruction Ellen S. Silber, 2013-09-13 First Published in 1991 This is Volume 22 of the Source Books on Education series Politically speaking the study of foreign languages and cultures helps maintain a strong competitive position in an increasingly global marketplace It was hard to imagine in 1957 that the launching of a Soviet rocket would push the United States into its greatest investment ever in foreign language education As American policy makers attempted to play catch up with our brothers and sisters behind the iron curtain this country infused federal dollars into extensive foreign language teacher training and the creation of new foreign language educational programs As suddenly as federal support was given however so was it taken away and its withdrawal was responsible for one of the darkest periods in the history of foreign language education in America Drawing on the expertise of a number of the nation s most experienced and creative foreign language educators this volume edited by Ellen S Silber addresses some of the crucial problems we face in foreign language education today Georgetown University Round Table on Languages and Linguistics (GURT) 1993: Strategic Interaction and Language Acquisition James E. Alatis, 1994-06-01 The papers in this volume examine strategies for language acquisition and language teaching focusing on applications of the strategic interaction method Teaching English in a Spanish Setting Hang Ferrer Mora, 2001 Methodology in Language Teaching Jack C. Richards, Willy A. Renandya, 2002-04-08 An overview of current approaches issues and practices in the teaching of English to speakers of other languages The paperback edition provides an overview of current approaches issues and practices in the teaching of English to speakers of other languages The anthology a broad collection of articles published primarily in the last decade offers a comprehensive overview to the teaching of English and illustrates the complexity underlying many of the practical planning and instructional activities it involves These activities include teaching English at elementary secondary and tertiary levels teacher training language testing curriculum and materials development the use of computers and other technology in teaching as well as research on different aspects of second language learning Organized into 16 sections the book contains 41 seminal articles by well known teacher trainers and researchers Also included are two sets of discussion questions a pre reading background set and a post reading reflection set This anthology serves as an important resource for teachers wishing to design a basic course in methodology Intelligent Language Tutors V. Melissa Holland, Jonathan D. Kaplan, Michelle R. Sams, 2014-01-09 The techniques of natural language processing NLP have been widely applied in machine translation and automated message understanding but have only recently been utilized in second language teaching This book offers both an argument for and a critical examination of this new application with an examination of how systems may be designed to exploit the power of NLP accommodate its limitations and minimize its risks This volume marks the first collection of work in the U S and Canada that incorporates advanced human language technologies into language tutoring systems covering languages as diverse as Arabic Spanish Japanese and English The book is organized into sections that express the levels of analysis dealt with in learning and teaching a language and with the tasks of the student as writer reader conversant and actor in the world These sections bring together research by specialists in linguistics artificial intelligence psychology instructional design and language teaching In addition to providing detailed descriptions of working systems amply illustrated with screens from lesson and authoring interfaces the contributors address a spectrum of common issues What can current NLP technology contribute to computer assisted language instruction and to research on language learning How can this technology meet the demands of pedagogical theory for communicative language teaching in authentic contexts How can designers constrain tutoring environments to ensure accurate analysis of learners language What can NLP based systems teach us about language acquisition about linguistic theory and about theories of language pedagogy What lessons have been learned in using these systems to date Discipline specific issues are illuminated as well the relative merits of the major syntactic frameworks for NLP based language tutoring the adaptation of theories like lexical conceptual structure to support semantic interpretation the integration of input language with visual microworlds and dialogue games the pragmatics of the tutoring discourse the selection of instructional principles to guide system design and the accommodation of design to individual differences and learner styles A concluding section assesses this work from larger theoretical and practical perspectives experimental psychology and psycholinguistics linguistics language teaching and second language acquisition research

Contemporary Issues in Foreign Language Education Małgorzata Baran-Łucarz, Anna Czura, Małgorzata Jedynak, Anna Klimas, Agata Słowik-Krogulec, 2023-05-02 This edited volume offers an insightful theoretical conceptualization of issues central to 21st century foreign language learning and teaching Drawing on research results obtained in the fields of pedagogy social psychology and sociology of education this book provides a comprehensive practical exploration of issues experienced by researchers in Poland and in Europe and which can easily find far reaching implications in other educational contexts Part I Focus on the Teacher includes seven texts discussing topics relevant to teacher initial and in service education as well as the functioning of foreign language instructors in educational systems The eight contributions included in Part II Focus on the Learner explore learner internal and learner external factors that affect the effectiveness of the language learning process The exploration of key contemporary topics and the wide range of methodologies applied make this book of high relevance to Second Language Acquisition scholars teacher educators teachers and language education policy makers

Major American Higher Education Issues and Challenges in the 1990s Richard I.

Miller,1990 Public and private higher education boards of control rightfully demand that higher education policies reflect rational and systematic approaches to the future Thinking and planning ahead of major post secondary issues and problems therefore becomes incumbent upon chief executive officers and their staffs in all types of colleges and universities US educational officials planned more seriously in the 70s when resources were diminishing than in the 80s when several years of unprecedented sustained economic growth provided greater flexibility and use of ongoing and new human and material resources But a return to leaner years can be expected in the 1990s and with it a greater emphasis on planning ahead

Qin-Hilliard,2014-07-16 This six volume set focuses on Latin American Caribbean and Asian immigration which accounts for nearly 80 percent of all new immigration to the United States The volumes contain the essential scholarship of the last decade and present key contributions reflecting the major theoretical empirical and policy debates about the new immigration The material addresses vital issues of race gender and socioeconomic status as they intersect with the contemporary immigration experience Organized by theme each volume stands as an independent contribution to immigration studies with seminal journal articles and book chapters from hard to find sources comprising the most important literature on the subject The individual volumes include a brief preface presenting the major themes that emerge in the materials and a bibliography of further recommended readings In its coverage of the most influential scholarship on the social economic educational and civil rights issues revolving around new immigration this collection provides an invaluable resource for students and researchers in a wide range of fields including contemporary American history public policy education sociology political science demographics immigration law ESL linguistics and more Language Acquisition After Puberty Judith R. Strozer,1994 Bridging the gap between theoretical linguistics and language teaching Judith R Strozer explores what recent theoretical advances suggest about learning a language after childhood and the implications for the design and execution of a foreign language program Strozer outlines clearly in nontechnical language the major concepts of modern language theory from Chomsky s theory of language through the most recent discoveries about the abstract foundations of language She explains ideas about the evolution of a cognitive structure for language in the human brain a language faculty or Universal Grammar that gives humans alone the creative ability to generate the infinite expressions of language This innate universal schema for language endows humankind with a number a very broad principles applicable to all languages Turning to current advances in the theory of phrase structure which has replaced our 2 000 year old rules of grammar with highly abstract universal principles of language structure she relates the latest discoveries about the foundations of language to ideas about how children learn languages A child hearing a specific language can automatically set the parameters for the rules governing that particular language much like setting a binary switch But our ability to access this innate language mechanism automatically seems limited to childhood until physical maturity somehow changes this brain function Arguing that adults need to learn consciously the systems and structures of another language that children acquire unconsciously Strozer applies these latest theories about the nature of language and how we learn it to the design of foreign language programs for adults She concludes with recommendations for developing a new kind of teaching program that would draw on comparative language research and include new pedagogic approaches Presenting state of the art language theory in easily readable terms and illustrative examples this book will be of interest to everyone interested in the latest understanding of the relationship between the brain and language as well as to all professionals in linguistics and language education

Transforming Postsecondary Foreign Language Teaching in the United States Janet Swaffar, Per Urlaub, 2014-07-25 This volume addresses critical challenges and issues facing foreign language departments in colleges and universities across the U S It presents the insights of individuals who have built or are in the process of building foreign language curricula during a major transition period in postsecondary institutions The authors of this volume come from various language departments and institutional experience from across the U S including private and public postsecondary foreign language teachers researchers and administrators The chapters address issues and provide templates for curricular change at all learning levels The five sections of this book explore Changing Perceptions about Foreign Language Learning The Case for a Multi literacy FL Curriculum in Concept and Assessment Praxis Curricular Transformations Historical Hurdles and Faculty Heuristics Rethinking the Graduate Curriculum Foreign Languages Integration into the Interdisciplinary University This thought provoking and timely volume addresses the question of how historic and current disciplinary institutional and political conditions affect curricular transformation in collegiate foreign language programs Responding to the issues raised in the 2007 MLA Report this collection of nine essays presents a diversity of curricular models and approaches from different theoretical perspectives focusing on the integration of language and content The book will undoubtedly be of great interest to a broad audience such as foreign language educators curriculum designers administrators graduate students and researchers Nelleke Van Deusen Scholl Yale College CT USA

Development and Supervision of Teaching Assistants in Foreign Languages Joel Chandler Walz, 1992 Development and Supervision of Teaching Assistants in Foreign Languages is the third book of the Issues in Language Program Direction AAUSC Annual Volumes This series strives to further scholarship in second language acquisition and teaching with regard to undergraduate programs with multisection courses The impact of demographic changes on foreign language programs and the role of faculty and administrators in postsecondary institutions are some of the topics addressed in other volumes This 1992 volume presents a broad spectrum of articles that demonstrates how complex the development of successful teachers
