Super-Flexibility for Knowledge Enterprises Homa Bahrami, Stuart Evans, 2014-07-26 strategy but we also focus on execution We talk about organizational design and also reflect on leadership practices Our assumption is that in a dynamic world leaders at all levels have to constantly switch gears wear different hats and navigate at different altitudes They have to think about the total enterprise not in terms of compartmentalized silos or fields of functional expertise Much like a general contractor they have to draw on specialized expertise as and when needed yet keep the big picture in mind Our hope is that our diagnostic tools can help teams develop a shared frame of reference and generate cross functional dialogue The third driving force behind this second edition is the gradual convergence between the worlds of entrepreneurial start ups and challenges facing established corporations Innovation agility and initiative are no longer the exclusive preserve of start ups Established companies are looking for ways to reinvent themselves to innovate to think creatively and to make their enterprises more flexible agile and entrepreneurial We have had the good fortune to sit at the intersection of these two worlds We hope our ideas can benefit both groups We set out to provide a buffet table a menu of options that can be helpful for the two ends of the spectrum

Issues in Science and Theology: What is Life? Dirk Evers, Michael Fuller, Antje Jackelén, Knut-Willy Sæther, 2015-06-03 This book explores the concept of Life from a range of perspectives Divided into three parts it first examines the concept of Life from physics to biology It then presents insights on the concept from the perspectives of philosophy theology and ethics The book concludes with chapters on the hermeneutics of Life and pays special attention to the Biosemiotics approach to the concept The question What is Life has been deliberated by the greatest minds throughout human history Life as we know it is not a substance or fundamental property but a complex process. It is not an easy task to develop an unequivocal approach towards Life combining scientific, semiotic, philosophical, theological, and ethical perspectives. In its combination of these perspectives and its wide ranging scope, this book opens up levels and identifies issues which can serve as intersections for meaningful interdisciplinary discussions of Life in its different aspects. The book includes the four plenary lectures and selected revised and extended papers from workshops of the 14th European Conference on Science and Theology ECST XIV held in Tartu, Estonia, April 2012.

Challenges and Choices James A. Holstein, Gale Miller, The social constructionist perspective has revolutionized the way that social scientists investigate social problems. Constructing Social Problems Spector and Kitsuse 1977 2001 offered the guiding statement of the approach which both transformed and revitalized the sociology of social problems propelling it into a quarter century of exciting and innovative empirical research. John Kitsuse and Malcolm Spector challenged conventional approaches to the field; they insisted on treating social problems as social constructions as the products of claims making and constitutive definitional processes. The purpose of this book is to highlight contemporary challenges to the social constructionist perspective on social problems. In 1993 two collections of essays, Reconsidering Social Constructionism: Debates in Social Problems Theory Holstein and Miller 1993 and Constructionist Controversies: Issues in Social Problems Theory Miller and Holstein 1993 brought a wide variety of constructionist challenges into focus. Challenges and Choices attempts to distill these debates and offers some compelling suggestions for how challenges may be met and where constructionist studies might proceed in the future. While each of the essays in this volume deeply appreciates the constructionist approach, each of them points to issues and choices that social constructionists must confront if the perspective is to continue to be a vital part of ongoing debates on social problems. The essays critique previous constructionist formulations, make suggestions for advancing, expanding, or diversifying the constructionist agenda, and challenge the perspective to move in new directions. They remind us that social constructionism is an ongoing, not a finished product, and the essays point to some of the choices available to social constructionists in moving their projects into new, even uncharted territories. James A. Holstein and Gale Miller are professors in the Department of Social and Cultural Sciences at Marquette University.
