Chance and the Eighteenth-Century Novel Jesse Molesworth, 2010-07-08 A study of the relationship between realism probability and chance in eighteenth century fiction Fate and Prognostication in the Chinese Literary Imagination, 2020-04-28 The essays collected in Fate and Prognostication in the Chinese Literary Imagination deal with the philosophical psychological gender and cultural issues in the Chinese conception of fate as represented in literary texts and films with a focus placed on human efforts to solve the riddles of fate prediction Viewed in this light the collected essays unfold a meandering landscape of the popular imaginary in Chinese beliefs and customs The chapters in this book represent concerted efforts in research originated from a project conducted at the International Consortium for Research in the Humanities at the Friedrich Alexander University Erlangen Nuremberg Germany Contributors are Michael Lackner Kwok kan Tam Monika Gaenssbauer Terry Siu han Yip Xie Qun Roland Altenburger Jessica Tsui yan Li Kaby Wing Sze Kung Nicoletta Pesaro Yan Xu Lackner and Anna Wing Bo Tso Near Water Hugh Hood, 2000 Near Water is the final volume in Hugh Hood's spectacular New Age series an epic saga that is already treasured and revered as a meticulous chronicle of the late 20th and early 21st centuries Beginning with an almost stream of consciousness meditation on identity religion angels Dionysius Aristotle Freud and you name it Hugh Hood's prose scintillates in Near Water animating a kinetic imagination that never misses a beat Son of a Nobel laureate father of a space voyager friend of a movie star estranged husband of a painter and semi famous because of it all Matthew Goderich is driving up to the lake for a possible reunion with Edie from whom he has been separated for 30 years Then it happens and we feel it happening too the pain the delusions the awful sudden interior crisis of a cerebrovascular accident A stroke And we stay with him this self proclaimed hope man who is never alone while his mind roves over the vivid details of the life he has loved at this place near water Mysterious Minds Elise

Nykänen,2017-11-22 This study examines the narrative tools techniques and structures that Marja Liisa Vartio a classic of Finnish post war modernism used in presenting fictional minds in her narrative prose The study contributes to the academic discussion on formal and thematic conventions of modernism by addressing the ways in which fictional minds work in interaction and in relation to the enfolding fictional world The epistemic problem of how accurately the world the self and the other can be known is approached by analyzing two co operating ways of portraying fictional minds both from external and internal perspectives The external perspective relies on detachment and emotional restraint dominating in Vartio s early novels Se on sitten kevät and Mies kuin mies tyttö kuin tyttö The internal perspective pertains to the mental processes of self reflection speculation and excessive imagining that gain more importance in her later novels Kaikki naiset näkevät unia Tunteet and Hän on ollut linnut In the theoretical chapter of this study fictional minds are discussed in the context of the acclaimed inward turn of modernist fiction by suggesting alternative methods for reading modernist minds as embodied emotional and social entities In respect to fictional minds interaction this study elaborates on the ideas of mind reading intersubjectivity and the social mind established within post classical cognitive narratology Furthermore it employs possible world poetics when addressing the complexity incompleteness and inaccessibility of Vartio s epistemic worlds including the characters private worlds of knowledge beliefs emotions hallucinations and dreams In regards to the emotional emplotment of fictional worlds this study also benefits from affective narratology as well as the plot theory being influenced by possible world semantics narrative dynamics and cognitive narratology As the five analysis chapters of this study show fictional minds in Vartio s fiction are not only introspective solipsist and streaming but also embodied and social entities In the readings of the primary texts the concept of embodiedness is used to examine the situated presence of an experiencing mind within the time and space of the storyworld Fictional minds interactions are also demonstrated as evolving from local experientiality to long term calculations that turn emotional incidents into episodes and episodes into stories In Vartio s novels the emotional story structure of certain conventional story patterns such as the narratives of female development and the romance plot the sentimental novel and epistolary fiction are modified and causally altered in the portrayal of the embodied interactions between the self the other and the world The trajectories of female self discovery in Vartio s novels are analyzed through the emotional responses of characters their experiences of randomness their ways of counterfactualizing their traumatic past their procrastinatory or akratic reactions or indecisiveness The gradual move away from the percepts of the external world to the excessive imaginings and mis readings of other minds triggered by the interaction of worlds and minds challenges the contemporary and more recent accounts of modernism both in Finnish and international contexts

The Magnitude of Ming Christopher Lupke,2005-01-31 Few ideas in Chinese discourse are as ubiquitous as ming variously understood as command allotted lifespan fate or life In the earliest days of Chinese writing ming was already present invoked in divinations and etched into ancient bronzes it has continued to inscribe itself down to the twenty first century in literature and film This volume assembles twelve essays by some of the most eminent scholars currently working in Chinese studies to produce the first comprehensive study in English of Ming's broad web of meanings. The essays span the history of Chinese civilization and represent disciplines as varied as religion, philosophy, anthropology, literary studies, history, and sociology. Cross-cultural comparisons between ancient Chinese views of Ming and Western conceptions of moira and fatum are discussed, providing a specific point of departure for contrasting the structure of attitudes between the two civilizations. Ming is central to debates on the legitimacy of rulership and is the crucial variable in Daoist manuals for prolonging one's life. It has preoccupied the philosopher and the poet and weighed on the minds of commoners throughout imperial China. Ming was the subject of the great critic Jin Shengtan's last major literary work and drove the narrative of such classic novels as The Investiture of the Gods and The Romance of the Three Kingdoms. Confucius, Mencius, and most other great thinkers of the classical age, as well as those in ages to come, had much to say on the subject. It has only been eschewed in contemporary Chinese philosophy, but even its effacement there has ironically turned it into a sort of absent cause.
