Change Mummified:

Change Mummified Philip Rosen, 2001 Exploring the modern category of history in relation to film theory film textuality and film history Change Mummified makes a persuasive argument for the centrality of historicity to film as well as the special importance of film in historical culture What do we make of the concern for recovering the past that is consistently manifested in so many influential modes of cinema from Hollywood to documentary and postcolonial film How is film related to the many modern practices that define themselves as configuring pastness in the present such as architectural preservation theme parks and above all professional historical research What is the relation of history in film to other media such as television and digital imaging How does emphasizing the connection between film and modern historicity affect the theorization and historicization of film and modern media culture Pursuing the full implications of film as cultural production Philip Rosen reconceptualizes modern historicity as a combination of characteristic epistemological structures on the one hand and the social imperative to regulate or manage time on the other Emphasizing a fundamental constellation of pursuit of the real indexical signification and the need to control time he interrogates a spectrum of film theory and film texts His argument refocuses the category of temporality for film and cultural theory while rethinking the importance of historicity An original and sustained meditation on the historiographic status of cinematic signs Change Mummified is both an intervention in film and media studies and an argument for the continuing necessity of modern historical thinking in its contradictions

A Grammar of Murder Karla Oeler, 2009-12-15 The dark shadows and offscreen space that force us to imagine violence we cannot see The real slaughter of animals spliced with the fictional killing of men The missing countershot from the murder victim's point of view Such images or absent images Karla Oeler contends distill how the murder scene challenges and changes film Reexamining works by such filmmakers as Renoir Hitchcock Kubrick Jarmusch and Eisenstein Oeler traces the murder scene's intricate connections to the great breakthroughs in the theory and practice of montage and the formulation of the rules and syntax of Hollywood genre She argues that murder plays such a central role in film because it mirrors on multiple levels the act of cinematic representation Death and murder at once eradicate life and call attention to its former existence just as cinema conveys both the reality and the absence of the objects it depicts But murder shares with cinema not only this interplay between presence and absence movement and stillness unlike death killing entails the deliberate reduction of a singular subject to a disposable object Like cinema it involves a crucial choice about what to cut and what to keep

Bodies of Stone in the Media, Visual Culture and the Arts Alessandra Violi, Barbara Grespi, Andrea Pinotti, Pietro Conte, 2025-10-01 If mediatization has surprisingly revealed the secret life of inert matter and the face of things the flipside of this has been the petrification of living organisms an invasion of stone bodies in a state of suspended animation Within a contemporary imaginary pervaded by new forms of animism the paradigm of death looms large in many areas of artistic experimentation pushing the modern body towards mineral modes of being which revive ancient myths of flesh made stone and the issue of the monument Scholars in media visual culture and the arts propose studies of bodies of stone from actors simulating statues to the transmutation of the filmic body into a fossil from the real treatment of the cadaver as a mineral living object to the rediscovery of materials such as wax from the quest for a thermal equivalence between stone and flesh to the transformation of the biomedical body into a living monument Brutal Vision Karl Schoonover, 2012 How spectacular visions of physical suffering in post World War II Italian neorealist films redefined moviegoing as a form of political action

The Cinema and the Origins of Literary Modernism Andrew Shail, 2012-11-12 Modernist writing has always been linked with cinema The recent renaissance in early British film studies has allowed cinema to emerge as a major historical context for literary practice Treating cinema as a historical rather than an aesthetic influence this book analyzes the role of early British film culture in literature thus providing the first account of cinema as a cause for modernism Shail's study draws on little known sources to create a detailed picture of cinema following its second birth as both institution and medium The book presents a comprehensive account of how UK based modernism originated as a consequence of rather than a conscious aesthetic response to this new component of the cultural landscape Film's new accounts of language endeavor time collectivity and political change are first considered then related to the patterns that comprised modernist texts Authors discussed include Ford Madox Ford Joseph Conrad Wyndham Lewis Ezra Pound H D James Joyce Virginia Woolf and Dorothy Richardson

Faulkner's Hollywood Novels Ben Robbins, 2024-08-12 Tracing the influence of Faulkner's screenwriting on his literary craft and depictions of women William Faulkner's time as a Hollywood screenwriter has often been dismissed as little more than an intriguing interlude in the career of one of America's greatest novelists Consequently it has not received the wide ranging critical examination it deserves In Faulkner's Hollywood Novels Ben Robbins provides an overdue thematic analysis by systematically tracing a dialogue of influence between Faulkner's literary fiction and screenwriting over a period of two decades Among numerous insights Robbins's work sheds valuable new light on Faulkner's treatment of female characters both in his novels and in the films to which he contributed Drawing on extensive archival research Robbins finds that Hollywood genre conventions and archetypes significantly influenced and reshaped Faulkner's craft after his involvement in the studio system His work in the film industry also produced a deep exploration of the gendered dynamics of collaborative labor genre formulae and cultural hierarchies that materialized in both his Hollywood screenplays and his experimental fiction

Planetary Cinema Tiago Luca, 2025-10-01 The story is now familiar In the late 1960s humanity finally saw photographic evidence of the Earth in space for the first time According to this narrative the impact of such images in the consolidation of a planetary consciousness is yet to be matched This book tells a different story It argues that this narrative has failed to account for the vertiginous global imagination underpinning the media and film culture of the late nineteenth century and beyond Panoramas giant globes world exhibitions photography and stereography all promoted and hinged on the idea of a world made whole and newly visible When it emerged cinema did not simply contribute to this effervescent globalism so much as become its most significant and enduring manifestation Planetary Cinema proposes that an exploration of that media culture can help us understand contemporary planetary imaginaries in times of environmental collapse Engaging with a variety of media genres and texts the book sits at the intersection of film media history and theory philosophy and it claims that we need this combined approach and expansive textual focus in order to understand the way we see the world Rites of Realism Ivone Margulies,2003-03-27 A collection of essays rethinking and reviving realism as a focus for film theory particularly emphasizing the relation of the genre to issues of the body Spectacle in Classical Cinemas Tom Brown,2015-08-11 Spectacle is not often considered to be a significant part of the style of classical cinema Indeed some of the most influential accounts of cinematic classicism define it virtually by the supposed absence of spectacle Spectacle in Classical Cinemas Musicality and Historicity in the 1930s brings a fresh perspective on the role of the spectacular in classical sound cinema by focusing on one decade of cinema the 1930s in two modes of filmmaking musical and historical films and in two national cinemas the US and France This not only brings to light the special rhetorical and affective possibilities offered by spectacular images but refines our understanding of what classical cinema is and was studies to address the question of why interactions in this area matter and how they might be developed further

Marvelous Bodies Vetri Nathan, 2017-08-15 Historically a source of emigrants to Northern Europe and the New World Italy has rapidly become a preferred destination for immigrants from the global South Life in the land of la dolce vita has not seemed so sweet recently as Italy struggles with the cultural challenges caused by this surge in immigration Marvelous Bodies by Vetri Nathan explores thirteen key full length Italian films released between 1990 and 2010 that treat this remarkable moment of cultural role reversal through a plurality of styles In it Nathan argues that Italy sees itself as the quintessential internal Other of Western Europe and that this subalternity directly influences its cinematic response to immigrants Europe's external Others In framing his case to understand Italy's cinematic response to immigrants Nathan first explores some basic questions Who exactly is the Other in Italy Does Italy's own past partial alterity affect its present response to its newest subalterns Drawing on Homi Bhabha's writings and Italian cinematic history Nathan then posits the existence of marvelous bodies that are momentarily neither completely Italian nor completely immigrant This ambivalence of forms extends to the films themselves which tend to be generic hybrids The persistent curious presence of marvelous bodies and a pervasive generic hybridity enact Italy's own chronic ambivalence that results from its presence at the cultural crossroads of the Mediterranean

Crowds, Power, and Transformation in Cinema Lesley Brill, 2006 A noted critic brings crowd theory to Film Studies offering a bold new analysis of the pervasive cinematic themes of transformation and power From Intolerance to The Silence of the Lambs motion pictures show crowds and power in complex usually antagonistic relationships Key to understanding this opposition is an intrinsic capability of the cinema transformation Making unprecedented use of Elias Canetti's Crowds and Power Lesley Brill explores crowds power and transformation throughout film history The formation of crowds together with crowd symbols and representations of power create complex unifying structures in two early masterpieces The Battleship Potemkin and Intolerance In Throne of Blood power seekers become increasingly isolated while the crowd of the dead seduces and overwhelms the living The conflict between crowds and power in Citizen Kane takes place both within the protagonist and between him and the people he tries to master North by Northwest Killer of Sheep and The Silence of the Lambs are rich in hunting and predation and show the crowd as a pack transformation true false and failed is the key to both attack and escape Brill's study provides original insights into canonical movies and shows anew the central importance of transformation in film Film theorists critics and historians will value this fresh and intriguing approach to film classics which also has much to say about cinema itself and its unique relationship to mass audiences

The Solaris Effect Steven Dillon, 2006-11-01 What do contemporary American movies and directors have to say about the relationship between nature and art How do science-fiction films like Steven Spielberg's A.I. and Darren Aronofsky's represent the apparent oppositions between nature and culture wild and tame Steven Dillon's intriguing new volume surveys American cinema from 1990 to 2002 with substantial descriptions of sixty films emphasizing small-budget independent American film Directors studied include Steven Soderbergh Darren Aronofsky Todd Haynes Harmony Korine and Gus Van Sant as well as more canonical figures like Martin Scorsese Robert Altman David Lynch and Steven Spielberg The book takes its title and inspiration from Andrei Tarkovsky's 1972 film Solaris a science-fiction ghost story that relentlessly explores the relationship between the powers of nature and art The author argues that American film has the best chance of aesthetic success when it acknowledges that a film is actually a film The best American movies tell an endless ghost story as they perform the agonizing nearness and distance of the cinematic image This groundbreaking commentary examines the rarely seen bridge between select American film directors and their typically more adventurous European counterparts Filmmakers such as Lynch and Soderbergh are cross-cut together with Tarkovsky and the great French director Jean-Luc Godard in order to test the limits and possibilities of American film Both enthusiastically cinephilic and fiercely critical this book puts a decade of U.S. film in its global place as part of an ongoing conversation on nature and art

The Virtual Window Anne Friedberg, 2009-02-13 From the Renaissance idea of the painting as an open window to the nested windows and multiple images on today's cinema television and computer screens a cultural history of the metaphoric literal and virtual window As we spend more and more of our time staring at the screens of movies televisions computers and handheld devices windows full of moving images texts and icons how the world is framed has become as important as what is in the frame In The Virtual Window Anne Friedberg examines the window as metaphor as architectural component and as an opening to the dematerialized reality we see on the screen In De pictura 1435 Leon Battista Alberti famously instructed painters to consider the frame of the painting as an open window Taking Alberti's metaphor as her starting point Friedberg tracks shifts in the perspectival paradigm as she gives us histories of the architectural window developments in glass and transparency and the emerging apparatuses of photography cinema television and digital imaging Single point perspective Alberti's metaphorical window has long been challenged by modern painting modern architecture and moving image technologies And yet notes Friedberg for most of the twentieth century the dominant form of the moving image was a single image in a single frame The fractured modernism exemplified by cubist painting for example remained largely confined to experimental avant garde work On the computer screen however where multiple windows coexist and overlap perspective may have met its end In this wide ranging book Friedberg considers such topics as the framed view of the camera obscura Le Corbusier's mandates for the architectural window Eisenstein's opinions on the shape of the movie screen and the multiple images and nested windows commonly displayed on screens today The Virtual Window proposes a new logic of visibility framed and virtual an architecture not only of space but of time
