

Puberty: Your Changing Body

"Puberty starts when your brain sends signals to certain parts of the body to start growing and changing. These signals are called hormones. Hormones are chemicals that control body functions." - ACOG FAQ's for Teens.

When does it start?

Puberty typically starts anywhere from ages 8-16. Every person is different, and there is no right or wrong time for your body to start going through these changes.

Acne.

You may notice that your skin develops more acne and pimples. This is due to the increased hormones.

Hair.

You will start to grow hair in places that you are not used to. Under your arms, around your pubic area, and increased thickness on your legs.

Developed breasts.

What starts with a little swelling under the nipples, your breasts will begin to develop and grow. This can cause slight tenderness and soreness.

Wider hips.

As your body develops, many females experience some weight gain, and noticeably wider hips.

Sweat and odor.

Due to the elevated hormones in your body, some females find themselves sweating more often after they start puberty.

Starting your menstrual period.

Each month, your body will prepare for a possible pregnancy by starting your menstruation cycle. Periods can last anywhere from 2-7 days. It often takes many months for your cycle to become regular and consistent.
