Changing Conceptions Of Psychological Life:

Changing Conceptions of Psychological Life Cynthia Lightfoot, Michael Chandler, Chris Lalonde, 2004-09-10 Changing Conceptions of Psychological Life is an interdisciplinary look at personal constructions of self This book is a product of the 30th Annual Meeting of the Jean Piaget Society which convened in Montreal Canada in June 2000 Changing Conceptions of Psychological Life Cynthia Lightfoot, Michael Chandler, Chris Lalonde, 2004-09-10 Changing Conceptions of Psychological Life is an interdisciplinary look at personal constructions of self This book is a product of the 30th Annual Meeting of the Jean Piaget Society The contributing authors constitute the original cast invited to speak on the theme of how individuals come to construe psychological lives their own and others Their concerns are how our sense of ourselves emerges developmentally culturally and historically and the implications such constructions have for personal social and political change Together the authors compose an international and interdisciplinary group of scholars well regarded for their work on topics as diverse as adolescence language aging romance and morality Creating a level of discourse about selves and mind and how they have been and should be studied the volume is broken down into four parts Part I includes work that is principally concerned with elevating the position of our experience of ourselves in constructing who we are The next section focuses on the corrections presumed to exist between the conceptions of self and the conceptions of mental life Each chapter offers additional information on the dynamics of temperament attachment personality and regulation Part III is concerned with cultural contexts that frame developing conceptions of self and mental life Finally the last section situates conceptions of mental life directly and dramatically in the social contexts of their making Readers will find in these pages a programmatic effort variously attuned to selves and minds as dynamic and structured present and represented felt and known non language and storied and embodied and theorized The volume is suitable for certain upper level undergraduate and graduate seminars dealing with clinical cognitive cultural and developmental matters and sought out by active researchers and practitioners in the field Changing Conceptions of Psychological Life Cynthia Lightfoot, Christopher A. LaLonde, Michael J. Chandler, 2004 This volume is an interdisciplinary look at personal constructions of self This volume will be suitable for certain upper level undergraduate for graduate seminars dealing with clinical cognitive cultural and developmental matters and would be sought out by active researchers and practitioners in the field Symbolic Transformation Brady Wagoner, 2009-12-04 Brings together scholars in the social sciences from around the world to address the question of how mind and culture are related through symbols Handbook of Moral Motivation Karin Heinrichs, Fritz Oser, Terence Lovat, 2013-06-12 The Handbook of Moral Motivation offers a contemporary and comprehensive appraisal of the age old question about motivation to do the good and to prevent the bad From a research point of view this question remains open even though we present here a rich collection of new ideas and data Two sources helped the editors to frame the chapters first they looked at an overwhelmingly fruitful research tradition on motivation in general attribution theory performance theory self determination theory etc in relationship to morality The second source refers to the tension between moral judgment feelings beliefs and the real moral act in a twofold manner a as a necessary duty and b as a social but not necessary bond In addition the handbook utilizes the latest research from a wide range of disciplinary perspectives wishing to suggest by this that the answer to the posed question will likely not come from one discipline alone Furthermore our hope is that the implicit criticism that the narrowly constructed research approach of the recent past has contributed to closing off rather than opening up interdisciplinary lines of research becomes in this volume a strong counter discourse The editors and authors of the handbook commend the research contained within in the hope that it will contribute to better understanding of humanity as an inherently moral species

Changing Conceptions Changing Practices demonstrates that it is possible for groups of faculty members to change teaching and learning in radical ways across their programs despite the current emphasis on efficiency and accountability Relating the experiences of faculty from disciplines as diverse as art history economics psychology and philosophy this book offers a theory and research based heuristic for helping faculty transform their courses and programs as well as practical examples of the heuristic in action The authors draw on the threshold concepts framework research in writing studies and theories of learning leadership and change to deftly explore why faculty are often stymied in their efforts to design meaningful curricula for deep learning and how carefully scaffolded professional development for faculty teams can help make such change possible This book is a powerful demonstration of how faculty members can be empowered when professional development leaders draw on a range of scholarship that is not typically connected In today's climate courses programs and institutions are often assessed by and rewarded for proxy metrics that have little to do with learning with grave consequences for students The stakes have never been higher particularly for public higher education Faculty members need opportunities to work together using their own expertise and to enact meaningful learning opportunities for students Professional developers have an important role to play in such change efforts WAC scholars and practitioners leaders of professional development and centers for teaching excellence program administrators and curriculum committees from all disciplines and faculty innovators from many fields will find not only hope but also a blueprint for action in Changing Conceptions Changing Practices
